Week of Prayer

The second evening of the week of prayer was marked by a capacity attendance at the George St. Baptist church. The congregation literally crowded the auditorium of the church.

Rev. Dr. Ross delivered the address of the evening on the subject, The Church and Stewardship. The doctrine of stewardship has always been a difficult one for Christians to accept. Dr. Ross declared. Everything we use and accept as our own is really a sacred trust from God and belongs to Him. "We ourselves are His," Dr. Ross said. "Only when we give ourselves to Him we honor His trust." Life, health, time and money are sacred trusts to us and an account must be made to God Almighty for our use of them. The trouble with the world today lies not in economics but in spiritual wrong. Greed and selfishness are bringing sorrow upon the world. Today brings the Church's great opportunity, let her spirit be one of optimism. If the Church should fall in this crisis she deserves to go down to everlasting disgrace, Dr. Ross concluded.

The singing at last evening's service was led by the George Street Baptist choir with Mrs. R. B. VanDine at the organ. Rev. John Linton conducted the responsive reading of the 91st Psalm. The scripture lesson also read by Mr. Linton was from St. Matthew, the parable of the talents. The congregation was led in prayer by Rev. F. A. Watson and Major Kimmins.

Nasonworth Family Are In Sad Plight

With the other $7 he paid an installment on his $20 car.

Mrs. Duncan states that at one time the children "didn't have shirts to their backs". Dresses and bloomers for the little girls were made out of flour bags by Mrs. Duncan. In this way she managed to keep her children in clothes. As to the statement that the children were always well dressed, Mrs. Duncan said that no councillors had ever been in the house. "So how would they know if the children had clothes or not or where they came from".

The reason the Scotch family have been able to keep going at all is because of the enterprise of each member of the family in saving what they have and taking all manner of means to utilize the things at their disposal.

The only insurance which the Duncans carry is a penny policy which will net the family $50 at the mother's death.

This family have never been given any assistance from outside sources and they have never been on relief.

Settled here under the Farm Settlement Board plan several years ago the family were not able to make the farm pay even living expenses, and at one time for a short period they were without bed and board. The farm was sold at public auction.

This is the state of Mr. and Mrs. David Duncan, whose daughter Annie aged 13, is just now recovering from an operation for appendicitis at the hospital, after much delay in getting her there.

And Mrs. Duncan is in a highly nervous state because she hasn't the money to pay the bill herself, nor does she know who is going to pay it!

Councillor Doherty Supports Daily Mail Stand Re the Jail

out of seven councils approached by him, six gave grants and one city also granted money. He said that the Evangeline Home in Saint John was a heavy expense for the Army, costing $7,500 to operate last year. He pointed out that the Home was never without inmates and that the inmates were from nearly all counties in the province. He hoped that all municipalities would co-operate this year by donating grants.

Warden Cameron assured Major Godden that the matter of donating a grant would be carefully considered by the council.

Jail Question

Coun. William Stannix, McAdam, said that recently in the press the county jail had been severely criticized. He wondered why this criticism was made. He said that the jail was used for the same purpose as it was years ago and there were no complaints then. He wondered why the press had not gone after the city council as hard as they did after the county council. He said the city had part of the responsibility of looking after the jail.

He said that the jail was good enough for the prisoners years ago and that if the prisoners had behaved themselves they would not be there.

Warden Cameron thought the press had probably been misinformed regarding conditions there.

Coun. Harry Morrison, chairman of the building and finance committee, said he had recently visited the jail and found the conditions good. He said the press stated that the prisoners laid on a concrete floor. He had visited the jail yesterday and found they did not have to sleep on the floor but on a wooden platform covered with a straw mattress.

He said conditions were sanitary and gallons and gallons of creolin had been bought to disinfect the place. He said it was not crowded and there were only about fourteen prisoners in the jail now. He said the committee had built new steel cabinets for the storing of prisoners' food. He invited anyone to visit the jail and see for themselves.

Coun. Warren B. Ebbett said he would like to corroborate Coun. Morrison's remarks and said the criticism in the press had been unjust. He did, however, suggest that the prisoners be given a mug of tea a day in addition to their regular diet. He put the suggestion in the form of a motion which was seconded by Coun. Doherty and carried.

Coun. Frank Saunders, Prince William, agreed with the other speakers. He said that the papers must have been misinformed when they said the prisoners were fed on 35 cents a day. He said this was not on the records anywhere. He also declared that the information in the press stating that a prisoner who came to the jail in the middle of the week did not get the full week's ration, was incorrect also.

Coun. Stannix said he would like to retract some of his statements about the city council, leaving them out of the discussion. He said Sheriff Goodspeed had told him the best was being done for the prisoners that it was possible for them to do.

Coun. Doherty declared that everything in the press concerning the jail was correct. "Conditions were lousy," declared the councillor. He corroborated statements in the press that there were prisoners in the dungeon with only a straw mattress to lie on.

Coun. Ebbett reminded the council that conditions as described in the press were at a time when the jailer and sheriff were being changed.

"The jail was filthy and lousy," declared Coun. Doherty again, in defending the press' statements.

Coun. C. L. Grant, Southampton, thought the criticism should not be credited to the press generally, but to the source from which it came.

Coun. Rowley Manzer, Marysville, stated that in investigating conditions at the jail he had not found such conditions as described in the press. He declared that Dr. J. M. Cameron had told him that the York County jail compared favourably with any in the province and better than some.

Mayor Clark Eulogized For Civic Efforts

had welcomed many distinguished personages to the city, including Lord Allenby, Lord Willingdon, and the Earl of Bessborough, and many others. Closing His Worship urged that it was the "duty of every citizen to take part in public affairs and to do everything for the upbuilding and advancement of the city."

Ald. Forbes in a closing address spoke in appreciation of the co-operation which he has received from the city officials and regretted having to leave the council board. He announced that a social evening has been planned for the council in special honor of His Worship Mayor Clark for Friday, January 17 at eight o'clock at the Windsor Hotel. He extended an invitation from the council to Mayor Clark, which the latter accepted.

The other aldermen who spoke in turn were Moses Mitchell and G. Willard Kitchen, both of whom are candidates for the mayoralty; David McCaughy, Ivan McKnight, Warren Maxwell, H. Ralph Gunter, M.P.P., T. Earle Doohan, Dr. H. S. Wright and Fred S. Mundle.

Veteran Member

Ald. Mitchell, who next to Mayor Clark is the veteran member at the board, spoke at some length, reviewing conditions in the city when he first came to the council in 1905. He told of typhoid fever and of the introduction of a water filtering plant, mainly sponsored by himself at that time. In all he has served eighteen years at the council board, four of these years being as mayor. He especially made a plea that Fredericton

"Men who earn their living sometimes do not have such cots to sleep on," said Coun. Manzer in speaking of the jail cots. He said the taxpayers were paying for the prisoners.

The average number of prisoners in the jail for December were 22 per day, Coun. Morrison declared.

He did not think this was overcrowding.

Coun. Doherty again backed up his statement that the jail was "lousy and overcrowded." The jailer admitted the jail was lousy when we were there the last time," he said.

Rev. J. S. Gregg

Rev. J. S. Gregg, formerly of Keswick, but now of Fredericton, addressed the council. He had visited the jail last with the W.C.T.U. He noticed that many of the prisoners were young men. He said many of the young prisoners had sent letters of appreciation to the society. He said he had been trying to get help for the prisoners, but had found difficulty owing to certain items in the press. He guaranteed the council that he would co-operate to the utmost with the council in extending assistance to prisoners.

Coun. Hiram Manuel, Dumfries, thought the county and city were being oppressed through having to look after the prisoners. He thought the federal government should have a detention camp at the Relief project.

"They called the councillors a mean bunch," said Coun. Manuel in speaking of The Daily Mail.

"I for my part think The Daily Mail was entirely out of its place in publicizing the matter," said Coun. Manuel.

He said he would show the council the statements in a copy of The Daily Mail this afternoon.

The council then adjourned to this afternoon.

become "air-minded" and referred to the Europe to Canada air service already in the process of being inaugurated. He hoped that the capital city "would seize the opportunity" to have an airport and to establish itself on this route.

Ald. Kitchen congratulated the retiring mayor on his record. He referred to his own work in the Roads and Streets department and made reference to the accomplishments made in that department over the six years he had been a member of the council.

Aldermen McCaughy, McKnight and Gunter in congratulating His Worship mentioned the splendid financial condition which the city had enjoyed since Mayor Clark took over the duties of chief magistrate. Ald. Gunter also referred to "air-mindedness" hoping that Fredericton would keep up with the times and demand an airport. A trans-Canada air service is something that will be "here tomorrow" he said. He extended congratulations to Ald. Forbes also, regretting his departure from the council. Ald. Maxwell expressed his congratulations and paid special attention to the fact that this city was "financially" away ahead of other places. This was due in large measure, he said, to Mayor Clark's persuasiveness and ability as a mayor. The financial status of Fredericton, as reported by the Credit Research Bureau, is "something almost unheard of," said Ald. Maxwell. Ald. Doohan, Ald. Wright and Ald. Mundle added appropriate remarks, the latter making a plea for the introduction of new industries in the city.
