

N. B. GOLF TOURNEY IN ITS THIRD DAY

AND INDIANS HAVE GIVEN UP SCALPING

ST. THOMAS, Ont., July 15—This tourist was almost as bad as the one who came to Canada with snowshoes on the back of his car. On Saturday a United States visitor stopped at a local garage with the temperature registering more than 100 degrees, and asked to borrow a pair of pliers. "I want to remove the defroster from the windshield of my car," he said. "I'm from the Middle West and my friends told me I should be prepared for snow and ice on my first trip here."

SQUIRREL ANGRY

LONDON, Ont., July 15—Running amok after having been shut in St. George's Anglican Church for nearly a week, a black squirrel did more than $50 damage and attacked the janitor, Joseph Crapps, when he opened up the doors yesterday. Crapps, warding off repeated onslaughts of the hunger crazed animal found the frame of every window had been gnawed to pieces in futile effort at escape.

HUGE STADIUM FOR OLYMPICS IN GERMANY, CLASSIC IN ART

BERLIN, July 14—A torch to be carried from Olympia, in Greece, to Berlin by a relay of nearly 3,000 runners will be employed on the afternoon of August 1 to light a flame at the Marathon Gate of the impressive new stadium which the Nazi authorities have constructed on the western outskirts of the German capital. The appearance of this flame will be the signal for the opening of the Olympic games of 1936, the preparations for which have been carried out on a scale surpassing anything previously attempted for an Olympic meeting.

As the official organ of the German Olympic organization committee puts it, "ou Fuehrer and Reich Chancellor, Adolph Hitler, ordered that Olympic structures in keeping with the dignity of the German ideals and with the honor of the German people should be erected outside the gates of the capital city." In line with this order, the Fuehrer's aides have turned a 323-acre tract of land—twenty minutes by automobile to the westward from the centre of Berlin—into a sport centre unequalled in Europe.

Build For Future

The principal stadium is only one of a cluster of stadia of various types and sizes which have been constructed. Together they provide almost unparalleled facilities for the holding of a large-scale international sport competition in the presence of large crowds of spectators.

The Nazis have built for the future as well as for the month of August, 1936. In fact, the 323-acre tract, with its imposing new structures, has already been named the Reich sport field and after the conclusion of the forthcoming games it is to serve as a national centre, not only for sports, but for mass demonstrations of a political character.

Pains have been taken to assure that during the period of the games the stadia, which have been erected in so much haste, should not appear as so many brand new piles of masonry in barren surroundings. Horticulturists and landscape architects were mobilized and they have succeeded in creating a well groomed park which gives the illusion of having been carefully nurtured over a period of years.

The soil was relatively barren, so to begin with, the whole area was given a new coat of rich earth. The trees and wild shrubbery of the tract were well preserved wherever possible but the normal growth has been considered inadequate. The modern art of the horticulturist was brought into play as nearly 1,000 large trees—among them trees which were eighty years old—were hauled in from various points in the Berlin region and replanted on the grounds of the sport centre. Vines, forest plants and shrubbery in large quantities were added and meanwhile care was taken to provide the open spaces with well-cropped turf. Grass is now well underway even on those areas close to the stadia where construction work was in progress until a few weeks ago.

Art Linked to Sport

Art has been linked to sport in more than one sense with the construction of an open-air theatre along Greek lines in a secluded ravine at the edge of the sport centre. An abruptly rising slope, covered with stately pine trees, provides a suitable back-drop for the classic stage. During the period of the games classic dances, dramas and symphony concerts will be presented in the theatre.

Trees, sword and Greek theatre are among the accessories of the sport centre. Principal interest must centre in the stadia in which the games are to be held. Dominating the various structures of the centre is the central stadium which will be the scene of the principal track and field events, as well as the finals of the soccer matches. Curiously enough this stadium, in one sense, is an outgrowth of a smaller "Olympic stadium" erected on the site in 1913.

At the Stockholm Olympic meeting of 1912 the capital of what was then the Kaisers Empire was chosen as the seat of the games scheduled for 1916, the games which were never held because the war came, extinguishing the Olympic spirit for a time. Yet in the years just before the war the Germans had gone forward with their preparations to play host to the athletes of the world. They had erected a stadium adequate to accommodate 35,000 persons.

It is a testimonial of the growth of the Olympic idea—as well as to the initiative and energy of the Nazi regime—that the stadium of twenty years after seats nearly 100,000 spectators and provides standing room for 20,000 more.

GO BACK TO WORK

PORTSMOUTH, O., July 15—Three hundred workers, the first of 5,500, trudged back to their jobs at the Wheeling Steel Corporation plant yesterday, ending a strike that resulted in violence and one slaying and left that industrial community counting its material loss at some $2,000,000. Additional men will return during the next few days after the big plant is put in condition for full operations. The strike was called May 22.

ONLY 3 TROTTERS ENTER 2:05 LIST AT CLEVELAND

Grace Hanover is 500th to Attain Mark Since Nancy Hanks in 1892.

(By Gurney C. Gue)

Cleveland's curtailed Grand Circuit meeting this year added only three trotters to the select 2:05 list, which the American Trotting-Register Association now recognizes as embracing all records representing extreme speed. No horse had reached this mark until bicycle wheels attached to her sulky in 1892 enabled Nancy Hanks to lower the world's record from 2:08 to 2:04. Up to the close of last season 493 others had joined her in the fast list, and when Grace Hanover snatched a heat from the winning three year old Spencer Gale in 2:05 in the last race of the Cleveland meeting she made the whole number 500.

No less than 297 of these have equalled Nancy's best effort, while more than 200 have equalled the record of The Abbot, 2:03½, fastest trotter of the nineteenth century. One hundred of these have equalled the record of Cresceus, 2:02½, and twenty have earned records ranging from 1:56½ to 2:00.

Grace Hanover is a seven year old bay mare that Preston Campbell of Canton, Ohio, bought for $225 when her breeders, Sheppard and Myers, of Hanover Shoe Farm, sold her at auction as a yearling in New York. She is a daughter of Dillon Axworthy, 2:10½, and Great Medium, 1:16, by Peter the Great, 2:07½, whose grand-sire, Happy Medium, 2:32, was the sire of Nancy Hanks. Grace made her first appearance on the turf last year, earning a record of 2:12 on a half mile track.

Lee Hanover, 2:03½, the fastest of the Cleveland trio, is a Canadian-bred five year old that trotted in 2:13½ at three, and last year, lowered his record to 2:07½. His sire, Lee Harvester, 2:16½, is a son of the champion trotting stallion Lee Axworthy, 1:58½, and his dam, Baroness Hanover, 2:07½, is by Manrico, 2:07½, winner of the fastest six-heat race in the history of the Kentucky Futurity. Dr. H. M. Parshall drove both Lee Hanover and Craftsman, 2:04½, the sensational three year old trotter of the Cleveland meeting, to their new records.

TRACK RAMBLES

NEW YORK, July 14—Old folks will remember the name Maud S. She was a trotting mare of half a century back.

One day in late July at Cleveland, O., she knocked off a mile in 2:08½. Maud S. got into the language of the day as a synonym for extreme speed. After her, breaking the record, came Sunol, but Maud S. remained a figure of speech until displaced by the mighty mare, Nancy Hanks, with Budd Doble clucking her along to a mark of 2:04.

That was in the gay '90s. Then came a bay mare called Alix, then The Abbot, and Cresceus, and Lou Dillon, and the mile mark kept going down. Nancy Hanks was the first to trot a champion mile to a bicycle, sulky.

Well, they kept improving the sulky and improving the tracks, and maybe they improved the breed of horses a little. The peak of the improvement was reached 14 years ago, apparently, when a gelding called Peter Manning trotted a mile, 1:56½.

The mark stands to this day. Maybe it's the absolute ultimate in trotting horse speed, though it seems that Mr. Sep Palin doesn't think so. Mr. Palin drives a gray gelding called Greyhound, winner of the Hambletonian in 1935, and this year he is going to drive Greyhound against Peter Manning's mark.

Greyhound is expected to make the attempt at the grand circuit meeting at Goshen Aug. 10-15.

Maine Trot Meet Opens On July 27

OLD ORCHARD, Maine, July 14—The final dress rehearsal to the $40,000 Hambletonian Stake will be held at the thoroughly renovated kite-shaped mile track here July 27 to August 1, during the first Grand Circuit meeting ever held in the state of Maine.

ECHOES OF THAT ALL-STAR GAME

NEW YORK, July 14—Echoes of the All-Star baseball game last Tuesday are still being heard both by way of conversation and by letters. The second guessers as usual are most active and no regret is felt in saying that space is lacking to recount their views.

One baseball game amounts to little or nothing in assessing values but I agree with a number of letter writers who point out that victory this year by the National League was timely as putting an end, for the moment, to the growing sentiment that the American League was the stronger of the two simply because its team had won three of these All-Star games in a row.

To maintain that one league is stronger than the other is simply enlarging on a prejudice or capitalizing a loyalty. There is no yardstick, beyond one of sentiment, to measure the difference if any between the two.

The All-Star game is needed for the good it does in raising money for the cause of helping take care of indigent players quite apart from the competitive interest aroused. It was surprising that Boston, usually a good baseball city, fell away so badly in its support, but the game served its purpose and at least brought much comfort to National League rooters.

Farren Is Hope of the Maritimes

MONTREAL, July 15—Dancing Freddy Farren of Saint John carried Maritime Canada's lone standard through the second round of the Canadian Olympic boxing trials tonight. Farren appeared a good bet for the Berlin team.

Farren scored a technical knockout over Art Crowe of Ottawa and gave one of the most impressive performances in doing so. He displayed ringcraft, a heavy right hand and brilliant footwork.

BOYS AND COW TAILS DISPERSE 'OPPERS

WICHITA, Kansas, July 15—When grasshoppers invaded Jesse Cozart's big truck garden, threatening to strip all plants of foliage, he hurried to the stockyards, got half a dozen cow tails and hired boys to swing them. His problem was soon solved.

"A red headed boy with a cow tail can whip any army of grasshoppers any day," said Cozart, an old-time cowpuncher.

YOUTH, 18, 8 FT. 5 IN., WEIGHS 425 POUNDS

ALTON, ILL., July 15—Robt. Wadlow, a shy, bespectacled youth, now 18 years old, last night became—according to available records—the tallest man in scientifically recorded history.

From a staunch base of size 35 shoes he now soars upward to a towering eight feet five inches, a gain of one inch in six months, and despite the intense heat he has put on an additional 35 pounds, bringing his weight to 425.

Eric D. Thomson and Rev. J. Walter Holland Deadlocked in Second Day's Play—F'ton Golf-ers on Executive.

ST. ANDREWS, N. B., July 15—The second day's play of the third annual of the New Brunswick Golf Association ended in another dead-lock between Eric D. Thomson of the Riverside Golf and Country Club, and Rev. J. Walter Holland, Saint John, playing for the Algonquin Golf Club who both added a gross 73 to their yesterday's 78 for a total of 156 for the 36-hole mark.

The leaders were one stroke ahead of the leading pros, Varnon Bacon of the Riverside Golf and Country Club and J. R. Skinner of the Algonquin Golf Club, who finished the second day's play all square with 157 for the 36 holes.

Thus Thomson and Father Holland were not only ahead in the New Brunswick amateur but also in the New Brunswick open.

[Re-Elected Head]

ST. ANDREWS, N. B., July 14—J. Royden Thomson of the Riverside Golf and Country Club and president of the New Brunswick Golf Association, was again re-elected head of the N. B. Association at the annual meeting in the Algonquin Hotel tonight.

Officers elected were: Honorary-president, Percy W. Thompson, Riverside; president, J. Royden Thomson, Riverside; vice-president, Charles J. Jones, Woodstock; secretary-treasurer, Frank N. Robertson, Riverside and Westfield; captain, Professor E. O. Turner, Fredericton; vice-captain, Percival Streeter, Riverside; directors, C. W. Rand, Moncton; B. A. MacKay, Fredericton, L. A. Nix, Bathurst; Earl T. Coughy, St. Andrews; George J. Smith, Riverside.

President Thomson presided at the annual banquet, which was largely attended.

The N. B. Golf Association was welcomed to St. Andrews by His Worship Mayor Worrell. President Norman Wilson of the Algonquin Club also extended a welcome to the visitors.

During the business meeting following the banquet a resolution of sympathy was passed and ordered sent to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

J. A. Fraser of the Algonquin Golf Club managed to keep in front of the third division players with an 87 and a total of 175 for the two days.

In the fourth division, J. E. Osborne of the Algonquin Club leads with 97 for today and a total of 186 for the 36-hole mark.

Players had to go over the second 18 holes today in a variety of weather including thick fog, thunderstorms and bright sunshine.

Tomorrow the final 18 will be played starting at 8.15 a.m.
