Saint John Beavers Win 11-4 From Senators

GAME PLAYED BEFORE 2500 FANS WHO TURNED OUT FOR OLYMPIC FUND FOR TOMMY WHITE - GAME GOOD IN SPOTS.

The Saint John Beavers, leaders in the Southern N. B. Hockey League, placed another decisive victory under their belts last night when they walked the last place St. Andrews Senators 11-4 in a listless game in the Forum before 2,500 spectators who had paid to support the combination hockey game and skating meet program to raise funds to send Tommy White, Saint John skater, to the Olympics.

The game marked the tenth straight loss for the Senators, but they went down fighting, and at times showed flashes of good hockey. The Beavers seemed to be pretty well bottled up in the first period but in the last two cantos they put on a burst of speed which broke down the bothersome defence tactics of the visitors and rammed in plenty rubber past the jumping jack, Bill O'Neill.

Three crucial games in the league are slated for the Forum next week. On Monday the York All-Stars play Rotheras Oaks here. On Wednesday Oaks and Beavers clash, and on Friday the Beavers will be at home to the York All-Stars.

In the first session of last night's game the Saints started a rush into Beaver territory and their efforts were rewarded when Graham took a passout and slapped one past Lynch into the corner of the cage. Saints then held their lead up to the 10 minute mark when Gulliver and Livingston combined with Bill, beating goalie O'Neill with a nice corner drive.

Walker notched the next one a short time later when he rushed up on a passing play with McCabe and Livingston to lift a drive in. O'Neill's vision of the shot was blocked by his own defence which was directly in front of him. Walker then went around the defence and slapped one at O'Neill which went in off the latter's skate for the third Beaver goal.

Chased for Starting Scrap

Livingston and John O'Neill were chased for starting a free-for-all scrap at the lower end of the rink.

St. Andrews started the second session scoring with a goal at the 7:20 mark by Snell with Johnson and T. McNichol in on the play. Beavers hammered in a pair before the period closed. Murphy getting the first on an assist from Patterson and Livingston the second with Bill Gulliver on the playmaking end.

Gulliver, McCabe and Johnson were all chased in the canto for infringements.

The third period was wide open and Beavers accepted every chance. Hard luck was with the Senators, but they went down fighting, carrying the puck up and firing several well placed shots at Lynch, all of which were brushed aside but two. Williamson started the Nats off with a goal shortly after the period opened, but then the scoring parade of the Beavers started.

Keoughan, with Patterson and Murphy assisting, caged one. Livingston came through with an unassisted ed marker. McCabe went through the Senator defence with Livingston and Gulliver to notch another. Murphy snagged one after a pushing bout with Giggey and Keoughan. Giggey and Keoughan combined and Bob rifled one in before Williamson got the final goal for St. Andrews, taking Graham's pass well in on goal. Livingston notched the final marker of the evening with McCabe and Walker on the play. Williamson was handed the only penalty in this session.

CANADIAN HOCKEYISTS NOT BARRED

LONDON, England, Jan. 18—Refusal of the French Government to naturalize three Canadian hockey stars so they could join France's Olympic team prompted British sports authorities yesterday to explain the status of their own players.

Much interest was aroused here when the Paris naturalization board ruled yesterday that the men, "Dolard Belhumeur, Francois Cadorette, and M. Gagnon—did not have the necessary documents and had not lived in France for a sufficient time.

Since England has nine Canadian hockey players, British authorities members of the squad, George Davey and Gordon Dalley, are qualified to play for England, because they have spent at least five years in the United Kingdom.

The other players are all English-born, but have lived for a long time in Canada and played for Canadian clubs.

PRAHA, Jan. 18—Sports authorities yesterday denied there are naturalized Canadians on the Czechoslovak Olympic hockey team.

A report to that effect was current in Paris yesterday after the French Government refused to grant the request of three Canadians seeking naturalization in order to play hockey for France.

The Czechoslovak hockey team, it was stated here, is composed entirely of Czechoslovak or German-Czech players. There are three of the latter.

Babe Settles Score, Beats Dizzy at Golf

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 18—Babe Ruth settled an old score Wednesday when he defeated Dizzy Dean, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, in 18 holes of golf. Playing in a sweltering heat that saw the Bambino strip to the waist before the match was half finished, the former sultan of swat turned in an 84, one under Dean's card. Paul Waner, Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder, clicked off an 81 to walk away with the major league base ball players' pool. Lloyd Brown, Cleveland pitcher, shot an 85.

Joe Louis Kayoes Retzlaff

Brown Bomber Floors Big Rancher After 1 Min. 25 Secs. of First Round - Easy Victory.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17—Charlie Retzlaff, raw-boned North Dakota rancher, finished lying on his side, his glassy eyes staring at the ring lights, exactly one minute and 25 seconds after he raised his hands for his scheduled 15 round fight with jolting Joe Louis in Chicago Stadium tonight.

Thus, Louis, most murderous puncher since the days of Jack Dempsey, scored his 23rd knockout in 27 fights to the accompaniment of screams and cheers from 14,000 spectators.

The knockout was complete. Retzlaff, paralyzed by the furious barrage of punches, tried to get up at the count of nine, but sank to his haunches and rolled over, to be counted out. He had to be helped to his corner, where handlers worked over him a few minutes.

Retzlaff walked fearlessly into Louis as the bell rang and threw the first punch, a light left that missed.

Louis struck a light left to the face and then the lanky North Dakotan landed the first hard punch, crashing Louis with a right to the head as he came tearing in.

The blow just missed the chin and caused a sneer to creep over Louis' otherwise "dead pan." The crowd was in the tremendous uproar at the courage displayed by Retzlaff.

Louis drove a right to the head that was high, and then Retzlaff drove three rights to the body. The bold Retzlaff continued the attack, driving two rights to the head, forcing Louis to the ropes.

Down for Seven Count

As Louis moved to the centre of the ring, he apparently had decided to take no chances. He drilled a smashing left hook to the chin that floored Retzlaff. The North Dakotan started to get up at the count of three and then fell back. He got to his feet at the count of seven, but his legs were rubbery and he was badly hurt.

Seeing his foe in distress, Louis tore after him with a terrific attack to the head and body. Retzlaff backed into the ropes, but could not escape the blazing punches of the relentless Louis.

The Brown Bomber, no longer needing to protect himself, cut loose with both hands to the head and body.

Retzlaff withered quickly under the merciless punishment. His head dropped to the top rope. He then attempted to support himself by hanging his elbow over the rope. Louis continued to hang away furiously with both hands.

Sinks to the Floor

Suddenly Retzlaff, his six foot-three inch frame virtually paralyzed by the punches absorbed, sank to the floor. Louis was waved to a neutral corner, as Retzlaff gamely attempted to struggle to his feet.

"Get up Charlie," screamed the ringside spectators.

Retzlaff was game but his legs would not support him. As the timekeeper tolled nine he futilely tried to draw his wobbly legs under him. On his haunches, he settled and then rolled over on his side.

And with the fatal count of ten, Retzlaff went the way of Carnera, Levinsky, Baer, Uzcudun and the others.

Retzlaff, dazed from the battering, did not know the fight was over after he had been counted out. Dragged to his corner and seated on his chair, he suddenly got up and started after Louis. His handlers grabbed but could not completely subdue him until he had smashed Louis on the back.

Attendance Disappointing

The attendance was somewhat disappointing possibly due to a snowstorm or blizzard proportions. Gross gate receipts reached $67,826.66. Louis will receive approximately 40 percent motion picture and broadcast, with Retzlaff receiving 17½ percent of the gate only.

Louis, not even mildly excited over his quickest conquest, said the fight went almost exactly as he and his trainer, gold-toothed Jack Blackburn, had planned.

Joe Louis, the brown bomber of Detroit, marched unhampered on his way to the heavyweight championship of the world when he kayoed big Charlie Retzlaff, Dakota farmer, last night in the Chicago Stadium. The knockout, one of the fastest in the history of the squared circle, came after only one minute and twenty-five seconds of the first period had elapsed. After slipping to the floor shortly after the fight started, Retzlaff arose to be greeted with a venomous shower of lefts and rights from the powerful negro. As it was, it took more to kayo the farmer than it has for any of Louis' previous opponents. And so, the Bomber marches on to his next practice bout with Max Schmeling of Germany, and then to the heavyweight championship when he meets James J. Braddock.

The local Curling Club scored a victory last night over the Hampton Club, winning by a margin of 20 points. Before the match the visitors were entertained at a dinner. We hope Fred MacKenzie did not put any lead in the Hampton curlers' soup.

The St. Andrews Senators took another trimming last night at the hands of the Saint John Beavers. The boys from the fish town should be getting used o beatings by now. They have been defeated in all their games so far, but that does not seem to dampen the hopes of the St. Andrews supporters. They still turn out for the games.
