CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS SAME DATE

H. S. McFarlane and W. M. Burns Observe 73rd Birthdays Tomorrow

Both Active Men
Prominent Citizens Born January 21, 1863; Both Writers

Two well known citizens will celebrate their 73rd birthday tomorrow. H. S. McFarlane will spend his birthday at his home on York street with members of his family. Mr. McFarlane was born on the 21st of January 1863, at Nashwaaksis where he resided for many years before coming to this city. During his younger days Mr. McFarlane was for more than half a century a member of the 71st Battalion and annually went to camp with that military unit. He was holding a commission at the time of his retirement and a few years ago received a long service decoration. He has been a lifelong member of St. Paul's church, and served in several important capacities in that body. This month he observes the forty eighth anniversary as a member of the Kirk Session. Mr. McFarlane has been identified with the wagon-making business and also has been engaged in farming pursuits and of late years has lived in retirement, enjoying a well earned holiday. He has numerous friends, both in Fredericton and throughout the county who will join with The Daily Mail in wishing him many more happy returns of his birthday.

Another well known citizen who celebrates his birthday tomorrow is William M. Burns, former principal of the Model School, who is at present ill at his home on Charlotte street. Mr. Burns was born at Murray Corner in Westmorland county on the 21st of January, 1863. For forty years he taught in the schools of New Brunswick. For thirteen years he was principal of the Hillsboro High School and was for some time on the Milltown high school. On July 1, 1912, he was appointed principal of the Model School and continued to fill that post for seventeen years, retiring in 1929.

In the nineties, along with other teachers, Mr. Burns had considerable to do with the organization of Teachers' associations, which finally lapsed through want of support. Later on a new organization was formed.

Mr. Burns has taken a prominent part in St. Paul's church being an elder and Sunday school superintendent for a number of years. He also has taken an interest in the Silver Fox industry of this county and is interested in fox farms in other parts of the province. Both Mr. Burns and Mr. McFarlane are writers of more than ordinary ability. Mr. Burns more than a year ago wrote a history of the Parish of Botsford in Westmorland county and Mr. McFarlane is a frequent contributor to The United Churchman, the Sackville Tribune, The Daily Mail and various other publications. These two young men, "Sam" McFarlane and "Bill" Burns are friendly and are mixed up together in various activities. We hope that they will each have many more years of activity.

BIGGEST SNOW STORM OF YEAR BLOCKS ROADS

Three Inches Fell Saturday, Six Inches Sunday in Worst Storm

Blizzard Last Night

Train Schedules Delayed, Buses Have Difficulty Today

This part of New Brunswick experienced its worst storm of the current winter over the week-end, and today nine inches of light snow filled the city streets, the yards of the citizens, the highways and byways. The storm, which commenced with a light snowfall on Saturday evening, reached its climax last evening with wind and snow of blizzard proportions.

The chief damage was to the highways and crossroads in and near the city, which were made practically impassible. Incoming trains were held up and way behind schedule. The Boston and Montreal trains were several hours late and the Boston train is not expected to reach here until late this afternoon. The local bus which operates between this city and Lincoln could go no farther than the C.N.R. crossing where it was forced to turn. The city streets were pretty bad, too, until the city employees got busy with snowplows.

The snowfall on Saturday evening amounted to three inches, while six inches of snow fell in last night's blizzard. Although the wind last night was a heavy one, no serious damage is reported to wire service in this vicinity. In the country districts there was some damage to telephone lines. Most of the damage, however, was concentrated in the increasing depth of snow, and there was considerable drifting in of the country roads. Cross roads were veritably plugged with snow.

A few toll lines were out of commission today it was reported by the New
