Anniversary of Wedding Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Burt

A number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Burt last evening and gave them a surprise in honor of the thirty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. About forty guests were present, games and cards being enjoyed.

An amusing part of the evening was the performing of a mock wedding ceremony and "reuniting" of the bride and groom of thirty-five years ago with Rev. G. W. Guioy officiating. The bride was "given away" by her son-in-law, W. T. Walker and the groom was "supported" by his brother-in-law, Ald. Willard Kitchen.

On behalf of those present Rev. Mr. Guioy presented Mr. and Mrs. Burt with a beautiful floor lamp, the guests of honor thanking their friends in well chosen words.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt were married in the city thirty-five years ago in the home now occupied by Ald. Willard Kitchen at the corner of Charlotte and Westmorland Streets with Rev. J. D. Freeman performing the ceremony. Mrs. Burt was before her marriage Miss Mabel Coburn, daughter of Doctor and Mrs. Benjamin Coburn of Keswick, another daughter being Mrs. Willard Kitchen, who thirty-five years ago was flower girl at her sister's wedding.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Burt include Mrs. William Walker, Miss Josephine Burt and Miss Mollie Burt of this city.

Pensions Board Moves Into New Quarters

(Continued from page one) now will number nearly thirty and will only be appointed temporarily. Mr. Jones pointed out. However, after the first rush is over and the board has only to deal with applications from those anticipating pensions, a small permanent staff of inspectors will be appointed, Mr. Jones added. These will probably be taken from the temporary staff.

Contrary to expectations a few days ago, it will not be necessary for Mr. Jones to go to Ottawa on business in connection with his department, as any further arrangements to be made will be completed by mail. Mr. Jones was informed by W. C. Clark, deputy minister of finance.

Miss Margaret T. Tilley And Captain F. R. L. Mears Are Wed in Stone Church

St. John's (Stone), historic garrison church in Saint John, was the scene of a brilliant military wedding Wednesday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, when Miss Margaret Tremaine Tilley, youngest daughter of Mr. Justice and Mrs. L. P. D. Tilley and granddaughter of the late Sir Leonard and Lady Tilley of Saint John, became the bride of Captain Francis Ronald Lambert Mears, of the King's Own Royal Regiment, Aldershot, England, son of the late Captain and Mrs. Peel Mears of Regents Park, London, England.

The colorful scarlet tunic of the full dress uniform of the groom's regiment, and the green tunic of the 63rd Regiment, Halifax Rifles, worn by the groom, Lieutenant Marshall Rogers, Halifax, combined with the various uniforms of the other officers present to form a striking contrast to the beautiful gowns of the bride and her attendants.

The elaborate decorations of the church were the same as those used for the Christmas festival and were of evergreens which were festooned around the gallery and caught at intervals with wreaths. The chancel was also adorned with greenery, and at either side of the entrance were placed tall three-branch candelabra with scarlet candles. The pews reserved for the large number of guests were marked with knots of cedar and poinsettias, and the altar vases contained Bermuda lilies.

His Grace the Archbishop of Fredericton, Rt. Rev. John A. Richardson, performed the ceremony and was assisted by Rev. T. H. Stewart, rector of the church. Immediately before the ceremony, the vested choir under the direction of Eric Rollinson, F.R.C.O., the organist, and led by the boy choristers in their scarlet cassocks, entered the main door of the church, and while proceeding to their places in the choir loft sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden."

At the conclusion of the hymn, the bride entered the church with her father, Mr. Justice Tilley, who gave her in marriage. The processional was the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin and the recessional Mendelssohn's Wedding March. While the register was being signed, the choir sang "O Perfect Love," with the solo parts taken by the choristers. During the ceremony and while the guests were assembling, Mr. Rollinson rendered appropriate nuptial music. The service was fully choral.

The bride was attended by Mrs. James V. Russell as matron of honor and by Miss Margaret Boucher, London, Ontario, her cousin, Miss Ann Bruce, Miss Betty Mortimer and Miss Nancy Daniel as bridesmaids. The flower girls were little Judy MacKeen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. MacKeen, Halifax, niece of the bride, and little Jean White. The groomsmen were Lieutenant Marshall Rogers of Halifax, and the ushers were S. Leonard Tilley, Toronto, brother of the bride; James V. Russell, E. B. Harley, James M. Crosby, Walter W. V. Foster and Bevis Turnbull, Montreal.

The bride's gown was of ivory moire made in Empire style, the fullness of the skirt extending into a train. The bodice was embroidered in floral design with crystal beads and rhinestones, which also formed the trimming of the long, tight sleeves and encircled the hem of the skirt. With the gown was worn a court train of rose point lace, a family heirloom, which was caught with knots of orange blossoms. Her simply arranged veil of ivory tulle fell from a halo coronet of orange blossoms beyond her train, in the back. Her slippers were of ivory moire and she carried a shower bouquet of Bermuda lilies and lilies-of-the-valley. Her only ornament was a string of matched pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

The matron of honor and the bridesmaids were gowned alike in picturesque frocks of gold lace over matching taffeta with high necklines and full sleeves gathered into cuffs at the wrists. The skirts were softly draped into slight trains and had sashes of scarlet velvet tied in bows in the back, with ends extending to the slipper heels. They wore Juliet caps of gold net with coronets of twisted gold lame and slippers of cloth of gold and carried velvet muffs. The flower girls wore Kate Greenaway frocks of gold net with scarlet velvet sashes and bandeaux of gold leaves in their hair. They also carried tiny scarlet velvet muffs.

On leaving the church, the bride and bridegroom passed under an arch of words formed by a guard of honor which was composed of Lieutenant-Colonel John R. Gale, V.D., Lieutenant-Colonel H. G. Wood, M.C., Lieutenant-Colonel A. S. W. White, Lieutenant-Colonel Henry F. Morrissey, Major A. H. W. Landon, O.B.E., M.C., Major Reginald L. H. Goodday, V.D., Major J. G. Hart and Captain Charles Chauveau.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held at "Carleton House," Germain Street, home of the bride's parents. There the decorations were carried out with greenery intermingled with roses and chrysanthemums. The guests were received by Mr. Justice and Mrs. Tilley, the bride and bridegroom and the wedding party. A string ensemble under the direction of Morris Watson played throughout the reception. The bride's table was arranged in the dining-room in the spacious bow window and was centred with a wedding cake ornamented in white and silver. The cake was flanked by antique silver candleabra containing ivory candles and pale pink roses in silver vases. The health of the bride was proposed by His Grace the Archbishop and the bridegroom happily responded and proposed the health of the bridesmaids. Lieutenant Rogers responded. The health of the bride's parents was proposed by Mr. Justice W. H. Harrison and Mr. Justice Tilley responded. Later Captain and Mrs. Mears left on a short wedding trip and will return to sail on Friday from Saint John on the Duchess of Bedford for England where they will make their home at Aldershot. For travelling, the bride wore a brown tailored dress and a small brown hat with a matching veil which formed the trim. With her dress she wore a coat of mink, brown suede shoes and accessories.

Mrs. Tilley, mother of the bride, wore a gown of moss green satinback crepe made en traine. The skirt had a knee length flounce of matching green fringe and the cape of the bodice was also trimmed with fringe. Her hat of green velour was turned up in the back and had a brown wing trim at the side. She wore brown suede shoes and gloves and a corsage of roses.

Mrs. Henry P. McKeen, Halifax, sister of the bride, was wearing a black taffeta dress made on long lines. The bodice had a V neckline finished with green flowers and she wore a small French hat of matching taffeta.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. MacKeen, little Judy MacKeen and David MacKeen, Halifax; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fraser, Halifax; Lieutenant and Mrs. Marshall Rogers, Halifax; Alfred O'Leary, Halifax; S. Leonard Tilley, Toronto; Mrs. J. W. Young Smith and Dr. J. Clarence Webster, C.M.G., Shediac; Chief Justice and Mrs. C. D. Richards and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Thompson, all of Fredericton; Miss Margaret Boucher, London, Ont., and Bevis Turnbull, Montreal.

The bride is one of the Maritimes' most popular and charming daughters and the good wishes of a host of friends will follow her to her new home in England.

The annual Gyro New Year's Ball was held on Tuesday evening at Castle Hall being even more successful than usual. Between two hundred and two hundred and fifty attended. Twenty-five dances were carried out and the hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion, var-colored streamers and a sign bearing the letters "Happy New Year" being the general motif. The music was supplied by a local orchestra, its members all being attired in white jackets. During the intermission a delicious luncheon was served, including ice cream, sandwiches, coffee, cake, etc., with the Gyros and their wives doing the serving. The favors at the ball were exceptionally good, being highly original. At midnight the Gyros and their guests ushered in the new year with a shower of balloons and the tooting of horns and the throng of dancers joined in singing several songs, numbering among them "Auld Lang Syne" and other popular ballads. Geo. Johnston, local baritone, sang two numbers. The choruses were Rt. Hon. the Countess of Ashburnham, Brig. General F. W. Hill and Mrs. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Osborne. The entertainment committee consisted of Karl Walker, chairman, James T. Major and James Badcock.

Miss Marcelle Gorham and Paul Gorham were charming host and hostess at a combined toboggan and ski-party last evening in honor of their guest Miss Charlotte Howland. After a period of fun on the hill, the guests repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Gorham where dancing and cards were played and refreshments served. Those present were Misses Charlotte Howland, Marcelle Gorham, Beatrice Bate, Anne Howie, Edith Simms and Agnes Duplissea, Paul Gorham, Leslie Simms, Reginald Bailey and Frederick Delong.

Mrs. George E. Howie entertained charmingly on Tuesday at a not-out tea-dansant at her home in Waterloo Row, in honor of her daughter Anne. The house was bright with Yuletide flowers and decorations. Miss Christine Howie poured at the tea-hour and those present were the Misses Anne Howie, Mary Barker, Mary Holmes, Christine Howie, Mary Neville, Barbara Douglass, Margaret Rainsford and Florence Tozer; Harold Hughes, Pat Holden, Mark Neville, Clifford Vail, Leslie Simms, Rupert Brabin-Smith and Paul Gorham.

Miss Catherine C. Jones entertained last evening at a charmingly arranged four-table Bridge at the home of her parents, President and Mrs. C. C. Jones at the University. The prizes were won by Miss Louise Sterling, Mr. Droppo and Professor Malcolm MacPherson. Miss Jones, who is on the staff of Ottawa Ladies' College is spending the holiday season at her home.

Mr. MacPherson is a graduate of the University of New Brunswick and of Newton Theological College. The bride attended the University of New Brunswick and is a graduate nurse of the Montreal General Hospital. She has been a member of the nursing staff of that hospital.

The bride's mother was gowned in brown velvet with a brown hat and mink fur, and the groom's mother wore royal purple transparent velvet with silver trimmings.
