Judge Carleton Dead

Many friends throughout New Brunswick will learn with regret of the death of Hon. J. L. Carleton, formerly County Court judge for Charlotte, Carleton, Victoria and Madawaska counties, who passed away at his home in Woodstock last night.

Judge Carleton in addition to being in his prime a leading member of the legal profession at Saint John, was a play writer of more than local reputation. He was also a lecturer of merit and was in demand as a lecturer. Before going to the bench Judge Carleton was prominent in politics in the Liberal party and was at one election a candidate for the Legislature.

He was a prominent member of the Knights of Columbus and was active in affairs connected with the Catholic Church.

Judge Carleton was of a kindly, generous disposition, with a good touch of Irish humor. He was a recognized authority on Irish affairs.

A good kindly man has passed away in the person of Hon. Judge Carleton.

More Trouble for Austria

Austria pursues her troubled way. On Wednesday Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg ousted Vice-Chancellor Prince von Starhemberg and brought a temporary end to the weak and unstable oligarchy that has existed for almost two years. What has been described as a "bloodless coup" was in reality nothing more than a transfer of power back to the Chancellor by the removal of von Starhemberg, who has managed to maintain a petty dictatorship through his Heimwehr forces. Nevertheless, in that move are the makings of some real trouble.

The quarrel between Schuschnigg and Starhemberg centres around foreign affairs. Starhemberg has Fascist ambitions and fancies himself as the Austrian Mussolini. His Fascist leanings have embarrassed Austria in her Central European relations and at the same time threatened the overthrow of the Government. The Schuschnigg policy is the middle course. He seeks friendship with Germany without sacrificing the aid of Italy should the Germans mistake his intentions and attempt another Nazi coup.

At present his support comes from such politically divided camps as the Catholic Monarchists and the several peasant organizations, all of which have their own standing armies. The virtue of this combination is that both elements favor closer relations with Great Britain. Both are opposed to the Fascists and neither has any particular friendliness for the Nazis, although the Monarchists would not hesitate to solicit their support should the peasant groups grow too socialistic in their views.

While the Chancellor may succeed in his plans to suppress Starhemberg, it is questionable that he can control its new "coalition for very long. To lose power would be to turn Heimwehrs, the Nazis and the Socialists loose in a mad scramble such as that which carried Engelbert Dollfuss into office in 1932. Austria cannot have many more political revolts and hold to her independence.

It is that fact which makes her Government a great anxiety for the European Powers. For them the danger is any collapse that would permit the Nazis to capture the Government and accomplish the German-Austrian union. At the same time, they have obvious reasons for not wishing to see the Italian influence reasserted. The whole advantage is to keep the beggar-State as the barrier between two dictatorships.

No "Heroes" in Crime

There was significance to Mr. Justice Henderson's reported comment yesterday in the Court of Appeal at Osgoode Hall: "You must know this morning that there will be no more heroes among criminals in Canada for some time." In young and imaginative minds there may be a queer admiration for the bold criminal who engineers a successful hold-up and is clever in getting away. Generally this admiration is created by the reading of literature in which adventures in crime are exploited in glowing language.

The shocking tragedy in Sarnia during the week-end should impress upon all youthful readers of such trash that there isn't any glamour about crime, even in its more spectacular form. There are no "heroes" in the underworld. They are a poor lot, preying upon defenseless people, and with absolutely no scruples about killing their victims if resistance be shown.

The bandit takes along his guns for only one purpose; the prompt slaying of those who stand in his way. He gives no thought to the probability that he is murdering the father of a young family or putting an end to the career of men leading honest and useful lives. This is cowardice, not heroism. These "heroes" may have a period of success, but inevitably the end is the same—the penitentiary, the gallows, or sudden death from a bullet when caught in action.

RAILWAY FARES REDUCED, BERTH ACCOMMODATIONS

MONTREAL, May 28—Vacation by rail will be the slogan of thousands of Canadians this season as a result of the reduced railway passenger fares which become effective June first.

Inquiries reaching the passenger departments of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways indicate the popularity with which the new reduced fares for coach travel have been received by the travelling public.

On and after June 1st fares for day coach travel on Canadian railroads will be reduced approximately thirteen per cent, day coach tickets. The new rate will also be good for passage in tourist sleeping cars of regular berth rates for this class of accommodation.

Another important feature is the extension of the time limit for return on round trip tickets. Instead of the present return time limit of 30 days, round trip tickets which will, of course, be reduced in proportion with the new one way coach fares, will be good for return at any time within six months.

Week-enders will find the new reduced fares a boon. They will buy round trip tickets, for travelling to their summer homes or for short outings, at one and one quarter times the one way coach fare, or less than two cents per mile for the distance travelled. The present week-end fares, good in parlor and sleeping cars will continue in effect. Substantial reduction in berth rates will be advantageous to passengers who use standard sleeping cars in their journeys between points in Canada, as the railways are on June 1st bringing the charges for this accommodation down to pre-war levels.

Unpopular Move

(Continued from Page One) running on too close a margin to stand much more strain from the postal authorities who should find other means of revenue or else cut down their overhead. Any increase will be unpopular with the press and the public.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, May 29—President Eamon de Valera today introduced into the Dail Eireann (House of Representatives) a motion which will formally abolish the Senate. At the same time, he told the members he hopes for an elaborate new Free State constitution by next fall.

MONTREAL, May 29—Isaac W. C. Solloway, formerly of Solloway Mills & Co., one-time stockbrokers, was arrested here on instructions received from the Toronto police. He was taken to Toronto in charge of Inspector Boyle, of the Ontario Provincial Police. The arrest was made by Detective Goldthorpe, and Captain Braden. It was reported that Solloway was charged with the theft of $500,000 in the Toronto warrant.

Coronation Date Set

Wrong Date Given Previously (It was erroneously reported earlier this week that the coronation would take place on May 27th of next year) King Edward succeeded to the throne automatically upon the death of his father, King George V, January 20 last.

The coronation ceremony customarily takes place in the year following the accession to the throne.

Major Murray

(Continued from Page One) to repeal the Radio Broadcasting Act of 1932 which set up a Commission of three, and to enact a new act which will place all Canadian broadcasting in the hands of a corporation with an honorary board of nine governors, representing each Province of the Dominion. The "big shot" however, will be general manager, who will have an assistant.

The present Commissioners, Hector Charlesworth, Chairman; Lieut.-Col. W. A. Steel and Colonel Charles A. Chauveau, will be asked to resign. Mr. Charlesworth was formerly editor of the Toronto Saturday Night, while Colonel Steel was formerly a wireless technician in the Department of National Defense.

The new Canadian Radio Corporation is to be given substantially the powers now enjoyed by the British Broadcasting Commission, and radio in Canada is to become completely nationalized over a period of years.

Several new stations will be constructed to provide, for complete coverage of the Dominion. Political broadcast casting is to be severely restricted.

Complaints against the present Commission included serious abuse of broadcasting for political purposes, too much jazz; too much classical music; too much French broadcasting in English-speaking provinces.

Besides the present funds and the film contract, which will bring the assets to about $750,000 in two and a half years, the babies have an annual income from other sources of about $80,000, of which approximately $15,000 is spent maintaining them. So, by the end of 1938 they should be worth $880,000.

The contract signed today means that the babies will be paid $10,000 an hour of actual time before the camera.

Will Supervise

All scenes in the three pictures will be made in the nursery at Callander, supervised by Dr. Allan Roy Dafee, the country doctor who has been responsible for the health of the children since birth and who is one of their guardians.

Health of the quints will remain the principal consideration in any business negotiations carried out by the guardians, said Mr. Corll.

A check for $1,000 was taken across the road and presented to Oliva and Elzire Dionne, parents of the babies. Nurses and others employed to care for the quints and their home were also given checks today.

New Leader

Carleton, received 47 votes; Arthur Ellis, Ottawa South, had 10; Leopold Macaulay, York South, obtained 99; and Wilfrid Heighington, Toronto St. David, received 70.

Earlier, Mr. Rowe told the convention in his pre-election address: "If you give me that leadership today and God spares me health in the days that are ahead, I shall give you victory."

Hon. J. L. Carleton

Plays of great literary merit came from his facile pen and he was also a versatile actor. Among his published works were the plays, "More Sinned Against Than Sinning," "Coom-na-Goppel," "The Crimson Wing," which won first prize in a Canadian play competition in 1918, "A Medieval Hun," and several others, which though they had not been published had been successfully staged for Saint John audiences. As a lecturer and after dinner speaker he was always in good demand.

A generous and kindly man, he furthered every cause for social welfare and was an active member of the Catholic Mutual Benevolent Association when that organization flourished. He was also a prominent member in the Knights of Columbus Order.

Judge Carleton was twice married. His first wife, formerly Miss Teresa Gertrude Sharkey died many years ago, and his second wife, Miss Josephine McKeen, daughter of Joseph McKeen, he married in 1911. He also leaves two daughters, children of his first wife, Miss Blanka Carleton, at home, and Mrs. William Bibney, of New York, who has been with him in Woodstock for some time. One brother, Very Rev. C. P. J. Carleton rector of St. Stephen's church at Milltown, and one sister, Mrs. John Connor of Saint John, also survive.

EDINBURGH, May 29—Lord Anderson, former holder of the record for granting divorces in Scotland, died today. He was 73.
