Madrid Gov't Calls For Help Against Oncoming Fascists

Capture of Toledo Yesterday by Fascists

Defenders of Alcazar Are Rescued by Forces of Rebel Army

(Special to The Daily Mail)
MADRID, Sept. 28—The capture of Toledo by the insurgent troops places Madrid in a perilous position. A call has been issued to all women to take the place of the men in the Capital, in a supreme effort to save the capital from Fascist victory. The Spanish Foreign Minister has sent a note to Geneva in which he names Portugal, Italy and Germany assisting the Rebels. The note has not yet been made public.

MADRID, Sept. 28—The fall of Toledo is today admitted by the Government of Madrid.

TOLEDO, Spain, Sept. 28—After holding off the siege of Alcazar the rebel defenders of the military fortress were yesterday relieved by the insurgent forces who captured this city yesterday, and routed the government forces after they inflicted heavy losses.

The Alcazar's occupants, who successfully resisted government attempts to oust them from the old military fortress-school for nearly 10 weeks, charged out of the fort and battled their way to join their deliverers, helping in the Fascist victory. The insurgents entered the city at 1.30 p.m.

The Leftist government, is a back-to-the-wall plea, called last night on the entire republic to rally to the defence of this capital.

"The government wishes to hide nothing from the public," the statement said. "That is why we feel it our duty to inform the people that the enemy, profiting from the superiority which he enjoys by virtue of arms furnished by foreign powers—arms which signify anticipated payment with several slices of our territory—is now making a supreme effort to draw near this republican capital, which remains the heart of the fight against Fascism."

The communists declared all other efforts must now be subordinated to defending the capital.

"The defence of Madrid must be organized to take care of all events."

Handling Transient Travellers

A couple of weeks ago an agent for an Ontario concern, which handles stationery and office supplies, came into Fredericton and picked up several hundred dollars worth of stationery and job printing. He also sold a large quantity of office supplies. One of our public institutions in this city gave this Ontario man a good sized order. He slipped into town and slipped out again with the business, without paying any license fee, notwithstanding the fact that two men who handle the printing and two men who deal in office supplies knew that he was here selling his wares.

The system of collecting licenses from these transient people is so top heavy that a man can come here and do business and get out again without being forced to pay a license. When a local dealer in office supplies finds that a transient traveller is canvassing business houses in this city, he is to notify the city clerk. The city clerk in turn has to notify the city marshal. The city marshal may be away in some portion of the city where the city clerk cannot get in touch with him for several hours. Then if the traveller puts up a kick it will be necessary for the city marshal to go to the police magistrate and get out a summons. If it is after four o'clock the police magistrate will have gone home to his supper, and cannot be reached until the next morning at about 11 o'clock. In the meantime, the stranger has had plenty of time to gather in a lot of orders and get out without paying a license.

If there was an Administration of Justice committee of the City Council any member of that committee should be able to see that a summons was taken out immediately and to have such a man brought into court if he refused to pay a license. In the city of Moncton or in the towns of Woodstock, Newcastle or Chatham a transient salesman is not in town an hour before he is checked up and made to pay a license or to stop selling his goods. The city of Moncton, which is more than twice as large as Fredericton, would have had this stranger checked up in an hour after he arrived in town. These facts only emphasize our contention that the present cumbersome way of handling things under the police commission is working to the detriment of our citizens who do business here.

In regard to the public institution and to the other citizens who gave this man orders for stationery and office supplies, very little more can be said than has already been said in The Daily Mail repeatedly. That is, that they show a mighty poor community spirit and sense of loyalty to their own city. It would be a long time before travellers from this section would be able to get business from Ontario and other province centres, and any business house or public institution which sends its printing and office supplies to Upper Province concerns does not deserve much consideration from the citizens of Fredericton.

QUEBEC, Sept. 28—The Quebec Government plans to float a loan soon to "repair some of the damage done by the past Administration," Premier Maurice Duplessis announced on Saturday.

The Premier said he was not prepared to announce the amount of the loan or the exact date it would be launched, but added that he had been interviewed by a "prominent English financier" recently.

He said he told his interviewer that "Quebec Province constitutes one of the safest investments English capital can find, and the Province is anxious to encourage capitalists to invest their money in Quebec."

Mr. Duplessis refused to reveal the name of the financier or the syndicate he represented. He did say, however, that he had also interviewed prominent Canadian financiers and assured them that the Government was anxious to co-operate with Quebec business.

"The Government will co-operate, with honest business," said the Premier, "but rights of these gentlemen will be limited to their obligations. We are anxious to establish honesty and stability in business and finance and we intend to work continuously toward this goal."

Honesty and stability are necessary to the progress of the Province, and it is the duty of all business men to co-operate and offer constructive suggestions, but finance must learn to be satisfied with reasonable profits.

Toronto Doctors Advise People to Dress Sensibly and "Keep Home Fires Burning" in Cold Weather.

TORONTO, Sept. 28—"Better get out the winter underwear," was the advice of several medical authorities when questioned last night regarding the best method of combating humanity's arch-enemy—the common cold.

Don't Change Back
Yesterday's sudden drop in temperature of 40 degrees from a high of 87 on Wednesday to a low of 39 last night, was a signal for relentless hordes of germs to start their yearly attack on the frail defenses of human vitality.

And once the winter clothing is donned, both the Weatherman and the medical profession advise against changing back to summer wear.

"No, the winter's not here yet," the Weatherman announced. "We'll probably have another day of this, and it will begin to warm up over the weekend."

Dr. Julian Loudon was terse and to the point in his comment. "Dress

TORTURE BOYS IN INITIATION, COURT IS TOLD

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 28—Juveniles with a thirst for initiating new members into their clubs were given warning by Magistrate Burbridge recently that mild hazing might be all right, but that rough-house tactics would never do. Several youngsters living in the centre of the city were brought before his Worship and let go with a warning after the court had heard unfolded a bizarre tale of torture worthy of the Inquisition.

Incensed mothers told of their hope fuls being subjected to rough treatment under the guise of "fun" in an empty garage rigged up to represent a mediaeval chamber of horrors. The youngsters, they said indignantly, had been ushered into the place, blind folded and strapped to a chair, with an iron bar placed so that they were made to sit erect.

At this stage the ringleader made his appearance and, wielding a scrubbing brush almost devoid of bristles,
