HIGH-GRADING CHARGED TO PAIR NORTHERN ONT.

TIMMINS, Oct. 23—Mike and Karolina Klimkowich were committed by Magistrate S. Atkinson today to stand trial on charges of high-grading, following the reported seizure of about $17,000 worth of gold in their home Oct. 5. Bail of $40,000 was renewed.

Charles Kerr, appearing for Dean Kester, K.C., counsel for the accused, entered pleas of "not guilty" for the defendants and asked for trial before a higher court.

Charles F. Hitch, chief of the Hollinger police force, said he led a party of five constables to the home of the accused but failed to gain entry. He said he ran around to a window and found Mrs. Klimkowich apparently attempting to throw out a bundle.

"I tried to grab her by the arm, but failed," he said. "In missing my grasp for her arms I caught the right side of the bundle."

The bundle fell, he said, and "buttons" spilled on the ground at his feet. Thomas Lainsbury of Timmins, an assayer, said he analyzed the "buttons" and found them to be gold, valued at about $17,000.

Witness also claims "employees of the department" made out false receipts and "pocketed the money meant for the department."

MINISTER TO PROBE CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS

SAINT JOHN, Oct. 23—Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, provincial minister of health and labor, declared last night that he personally would probe the charge of drunkenness and refusal to work levelled against 17 of Saint John's young unemployed. At a meeting of the Municipal Council Wednesday afternoon, the minister, who broached the subject, expressed the opinion that "the whole thing had better be looked into further."

"The whole matter rests in the report of the provincial fair wage officer," Dr. Roberts stated. "Because of the dual opinion on the affair, I am holding my own investigation in a day or two," he added.

While the minister said H. R. Pettigrove, the fair wage officer, had investigated the matter, reporting the job foreman said they were drunk on arrival and refused to work, R. R. Cummings, municipal "contact" man on relief, investigated for the county secretary and said the men declined to remain on the scene because of the condition of the living quarters.

SUMMER'S END

Alive with flame, the marsh-grass leaped
Beneath our feet, over the swamp
Lay heaped the crimson harvest, damp
Where Summer's silver scythes had reaped . . .

Soon would the fierce song of the marsh be tame,
This burning moment trickle out like sand;
But now our hearts, like marsh-grass steeped in flame,
Leapt—still unquenched by chill of Autumn's hand.

—Sir Michael Gevins.

HE SELLS HOME

LONDON, Oct. 23—A furniture van pulled up outside a little old-world cottage in the village of Longford, Middlesex, for a sad removal. For 30 years the cottage had been the home of 65-year-old F. George and his 66-year-old wife. A separation order was granted four months ago after 44 years of marriage.

Mr. George has waited, hoping "mother" would return.

"Our separation has nearly driven me mad," said Mr. George with tears in his eyes. "Without 'mother' the place haunts me."

EDMONTON, Oct. 23—If a 78-year-old halfbreed woman residing in Hines Creek district doesn't get her Social Credit basic dividend, it won't be her fault.

When Premier Aberhart announced that those who didn't sign a covenant to support the Social Credit Government wouldn't get a dividend, the aged woman, in a single day hiked in to Fairview and back to register—a total walk of 35 miles, frequently over rough trails.

This paper was read before the York and Sunbury Historical Society some time ago, and before the Cathedral Men's Club on Tuesday last. Mr. Brannen is a first cousin of Sir Charles G. D. ## The Insurgents Bomb Madrid By Daylight Today

(Special to The Daily Mail)

MADRID, Oct. 23—The first daylight air raid on Madrid took place today. Two attacks, one at 8.30 and the other at 10.30 took place. Planes flew high and dropped no bombs on the city itself, limiting itself to bombing the suburbs. The insurgent attack was met with heavy fire from the anti-aircraft, but the planes were too high to reap any effect from the guns. It is said that these two daylight raids were for the purpose of shaking the spirit of the natives. The insurgents are trying to bring their lines closer to Madrid, the farthest of which is eighty miles from the Capital. The insurgents claim that 7,000 prisoners from their ranks are now held in Madrid.

The Government forces have been successful in counter attacks on the northwest and northeast.
