

MARYSVILLE

MARYSVILLE, Oct. 14—A social evening was enjoyed at the Dawson Club recently when about one hundred guests were present and enjoyed bridge and auction forty-fives. The prize winners being ladies first, Mrs. Hugh Titus; Ladies second, Mrs. M. F. Reid. Gent's first, Robt. Estey, gent's second, Hugh Galley.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merritt have gone to Saint John where they were called owing to the tragic death of Mr. Merritt's sister, Mrs. Arthur Baker, who was killed near Calais in an automobile accident during the week-end. Many friends here will regret to learn of the fatality, as the late Mrs. Baker had visited here on different occasions and was a former Stanley young lady.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hayward Brown was the scene of a happy gathering on Friday evening when about forty friends of Fredericton, Devon and Margerville assembled and tendered a variety shower in honor of Miss Minnie Harding of Margerville, who is soon to be one of the principals in an event which takes place in the near future. The evening was spent in dancing and a good time enjoyed by all. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

activities of the Exchange, this is a very poor year for apples in New Brunswick, due, no doubt, to frost about the middle of May. It is doubtful if more than 4,000 barrels will be handled by the Exchange this year as against 10,000 to 12,000 barrels each in 1932 and 33, and 6,000 last year and in 1934. Mr. Turney has given the Exchange valuable service and his knowledge has been a wonderful help to the organization.

The farmer is paid according to the number of barrels of No. 1 and domestic grade apples he brings to the Exchange. The "culls," or small or marred apples, are sold, too, when possible, or returned to the grower.

A farmer, say, brings 100 barrels of apples to the Exchange. A card is filled out crediting him with this number. The apples are moved up to the sorting room on a ladder-like elevator that can be reversed for the return journey.

The dull-looking apples are emptied on a wide, endless belt that empties them on a revolving grating. Through the holes of the grating fall the small apples or culls. The remainder are carried to another belt and pass between two rows of girls. These girls pick out the blemished apples and place them on a return belt to go with the culls.

The remainder are divided, the best looking fruit being left alone, the remainder being placed on another belt. The apples turn a corner after passing the girls and start down the length of the room, whirling rapidly. At right angles to the belts, rollers are placed at varying heights. Thus a small apple will pass under the first roller, while a large one receives a gentle push that rolls it out on a tray. This happens all along the line so that the apples are easily packed in sizes and grades.

The barrels in which they are packed are lined with a heavy colored crepe paper. Into these the now shining fruit is dropped and when the barrels are nearly full two tiers of apples and carefully placed which insures against looseness and ensuing bruises when the barrels are being handled. Heads are then put in and stencilled with the kind of apple, date of packing, etc. and the fruit is ready for storage and subsequent shipment. The original card is then marked with the number of barrels of grade 1, domestic and culls and on this basis the farmer is paid when the total returns are in.

Some apples, notably Macintosh Reds, are packed in boxes, each apple being individually wrapped. These of course bring a higher price.

Each year some of the best fruit is selected to send to the Imperial Fruit Show in England. These apples are polished, wrapped, and packed in cotton-battling-lined boxes.

Until the present time, however, the Exchange has not used a foreign market, the bulk of the fruit going to Quebec, the remainder to the Maritimes.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Rev. and Mrs. F. E. Bishop of Deep Brook, N. S., are expected to arrive in the city tomorrow to visit their son K. C. Bishop and Mrs. Bishop.

The University Chess Club, which has been in process of organization for the past few days, is meeting this evening. Professor Perry will deliver a lecture on the rudiments of the game.

Hugh McElligott has returned from a week-end trip to Saint John.

St. Paul's W.M.S.

The autumn Thank Offering of the St. Paul's Women's Missionary Society was held in the Fraser Memorial Hall last evening. Mrs. Telford presided at this well attended meeting, the first part of which was a devotional period with Mrs. E. A. Logan and Mrs. Wishart assisting. Miss Kay Vaughan sang a much enjoyed solo. Mrs. Telford then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. A. H. Barker, B. A., missionary from Korea. In a very gracious and most interesting manner Mrs. Barker told of this small territory and the work of the United Church missionaries there. Korea is only three times the size of New Brunswick, yet its population is 21,250,000. Since its annexation by Japan in 1910 there have been, and still are, material improvements. But in this "buffer state" between China, Russia and Japan, Buddhism and Confucianism have obtained large followings. The Koreans who have become Christians are most ardent workers in the mission stations and Mrs. Barker made a very strong appeal to the church in Canada so that none of the work accomplished will be wrecked by lack of funds.

During this inspiring address Mrs. Barker spoke words of highest praise for the Women's Missionary Society, whose aid, both financial and spiritual, has been invaluable to the missionaries and their helpers.

A hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Barker was moved by Mrs. Ernest Bell and seconded by Miss Dorothy Tweeddale. The meeting closed with the benediction by Rev. Geo. Telford.

The British Constitution

The regular weekly meeting of the Cathedral Men's Club was held last evening in the Memorial Hall, Church street, with a large attendance, again including a number of new members. Very Rev. Dean W. H. Moorhead, as usual, led the opening prayer in unison. The speaker of the evening, W. J. West, took as his subject, "The British Constitution." Deeply interested since his student days in this phase of International Law, Mr. West, in a most interesting and graphic way, showed his audience how through gradual development by outstanding acts of legislation, coupled with established precedent, the British Constitution, though never an actual written code, has become the flexible, strong, democratic bond it now is. The speaker then very closely explained how, by the granting of further responsibilities and authority as they developed, the colonies of the Empire reached Dominion status and became integral, self governing and independent national units of the British Commonwealth of Nations. The deeply interested members enthusiastically endorsed the thanks of the club as extended to Mr. West, by the President. Play was then resumed in the cumulative card tournament. The scores of the evening's play showed the forty-five players to be led by John R. Smith, while J. W. Smith was high among the contractors. The usual light refreshments followed by the National Anthem ended still another instructive and enjoyable evening for the Cathedral Men's Club.

Mrs. W. A. Park, who spent the summer in Newcastle, has returned to the city and has taken up residence with her son, F. W. Park, in the Brunswick Apartments.

A quiet marriage was solemnized this afternoon at three o'clock, at the home of Mrs. A. D. Hanson, St. John street, when Rev. T. D. Bell united in marriage Mrs. John Lounsbury of this city and Herman Hawkins of Douglas. Many friends in the city and surrounding points will wish Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins much happiness.

Ella Thorne Circle Met

The Ella Thorne Circle of King's Daughters met last night at the home of Miss Ann Sypher, with the president Miss Marjorie Macredie in the chair. The devotional period was in charge of Miss Isabel Ferguson. Plans were completed for an illustrated lecture and entertainment which will be held in Fraser Memorial hall this evening at 8.30 o'clock. The members of the Circle expressed themselves as being in favor of supporting the movement towards establishing a Public Library in the city. The benediction of the Order brought the meeting to a close.

Professor R. B. Pugh, of the University, Chief of the Boy Scouts organization in this district, will entertain members of the executive of the Association at a dinner to be held tomorrow night.

Weekly Meeting St. Dunstan's Y.P.S.

The weekly meeting of St. Dunstan's Young People's Society was held last evening in their hall, practically the entire membership being present. The programme opened with a minstrel show, with Edward Carten as interlocutor and Thomas Thompson, Clair Kennedy, Robert Flanagan and John Lynch as end men. This part of the programme was well carried out and very amusing, reflecting great credit upon all those responsible for it. The songs and jokes were interspersed with other types of entertainment, a trio composed of Harold Lynch, Edward and Joseph Quinn singing several songs; Arthur Foster rendering tuba selections, Jos. Dobbeltsteyn singing a solo, and with his brother Matthew Dobbeltsteyn, a duet also. Harold Hughes rendered piano selections, Fred Boyle recited one of his own poems; and Clarence Johnston played several harmonica selections. Each of these efforts was enthusiastically received. The gathering then adjourned to the rooms downstairs, where dancing and games were indulged in. The games were under the supervision of Miss Cecil Gallagher, and prizes were awarded to the various winners. Refreshments were served by a committee convened by Miss Dorothy Hughes, and the gathering dispersed shortly before midnight, all declaring they had spent a very enjoyable evening.

The Anagwakade Chapter of the I. O. D. E. held its first fall meeting last evening at the home of the secretary, Mrs. J. D. MacKay. The first vice-regent Mrs. D. W. Griffiths was in the chair and a good attendance of members present. The Chapter decided to sponsor a Brownie pact. The meeting was pleased to receive a visit from Mrs. E. A. Skene, the Captain of the I. O. D. E. Girl Guides, who gave a very interesting talk on this work. Interesting reports on the schools visited on Empire Day were given by the visiting members. These schools, nine in all, were each presented with a framed picture of the late King's Jubilee Speech to the children. Other presentations included a Library, a set of Dent's History readers and two Encyclopaedias. A splendid report was also given by Miss Bertha Harvey of the convention lately held at Sackville. A donation was given to the Katherine E. Black Memorial Fund and two dollars was voted to the central committee. A new member was elected. The treasurer reported on a tea in connection with the Fashion Parade recently held in the city which was successful. At the close refreshments were served.

NOTED AUTHOR TO LECTURE IN FREDERICTON

Speech Institute Director With Fine Record Will Speak Under Patronage of the National Council of Education.

Miss Marjorie Gullan, Chairman and Director of Studies, the Speech Institute, London, England, and author of several books on speech training and choral speaking will give a lecture at the Provincial Normal School on Friday evening next at 8.15 o'clock. The National Council of Education circular, telling of Miss Gullan's work, says in part:

"Miss Gullan, daughter of a Presbyterian clergyman, was educated in Glasgow and there established a school for dramatic art. Her pioneer work in encouraging amongst her students the speaking of poetic literature was responsible for the addition of poetry speaking tests to the session of the Glasgow musical festival. Later, her influence in the speaking of poetry resulted in experimental work being done in the elementary schools, largely encouraged by the late John Clark, then director of education for Glasgow.

"In 1925, Miss Gullan came to London by invitation of Mrs. Beatrice Ennor of the New Education Fellowship to give a summer course to London teachers, and in 1926, Sir Percy Nunn invited her to undertake the speech training and voice production for the post-graduate students at the Institute of Education, of the University of London.

"For the six years from 1926 to 1932 Miss Gullan was head of the Speech Training Department of the London Polytechnic.

"During all these years up to the present time choral speaking was being developed in the schools and with groups of grown-up people, until in 1932, the Speech Institute was established in London and a community of people were drawn together under Miss Gullan's leadership. The joint founders of the Institute were Marjorie Gullan and Clarissa Graves.

"The poets have had a very great influence on the early work in choral speaking, the first suggestion of it having been made by John Massfield to Miss Gullan in 1922. Dr. Gordon Bottomley, soon afterwards, began to write his now famous choric verse dramas, "Culbin Sands" being dedicated to Miss Gullan.

"The London Verse-Speaking Choir which was founded in 1926 and has been the means of demonstrating the art of choral speaking, has attained a high level of artistry. A certain number of its Bible readings and lyrics have been recorded, and copies of these may be obtained through the Council offices. The value and usefulness of these records to teachers who want to do choral speaking with their classes and are not sure of how to set about it, cannot be over-estimated.

"Miss Marjorie Gullan and Miss Gertrude Kerby visited Canada in 1935-1936 in the interests of 'Good Speech,' but at that time only one of the centres in which the National Council of Education has local committees could be included. It has therefore been arranged, in response to several requests, that Miss Gullan shall again visit the Dominion of Canada under the Council's auspices, on this occasion travelling from Nova Scotia to British Columbia."

Miss Gullan's appointments, among others, were given as follows: Lecturer in speech training, University of London, Institute of Education, 1925-1934; head of the School of Speech Training and Dramatic Art, the Polytechnic, Regent Street, London, 1926-1932; lecturer at the summer session, 1933, at the University of California, and in 1935 at the Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York.
