Man on the Street

He closes the other one and there go three cucumbers and half a peck of apples. He takes a grip on himself and stays awake. Who the devil started this day before stuff, anyway? A malison on him.

Small Profit

As day breaks a fine sight is to be seen in Phoenix Square—the farmer rising from his own vegetables. He puts his wares out in attractive display and waits.

Presently they come—the corn ripers, the apple punchers, the cab-bags tearers. By noon a good quarter of his original stock has been mauled into unsaleability. When his good wife joins him in the afternoon and he turns his gleamings over to her, there is only enough to buy some tea, flour, sugar and kerosene and woefully little to put in the sock under the mattress of the four-poster.

Hildebrand-Banks

A pretty fall wedding was solemnized today at four o'clock p.m. at the Olivet United Baptist Church, when Phyllis Alberta, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Banks, was united in marriage to Gerald Otto Scott Hildebrand, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hildebrand of Nashwaaksis. To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Miss Avis Wister of South Devon, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, carrying an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill and American Beauty roses. She wore a white brocaded satin dress with wedding veil and orange blossoms, with shoes and stockings to match. She was attended by her sister, Alice May Banks, who wore blue chiffon organdy with white hat, shoes and stockings to match, and Miss Dorothy Madeline Hildebrand, sister of the groom, who wore a pink brocaded velvet with net and hat, shoes and stockings to match. Little Miss Shirley Banks, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl and wore green organdy and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Byron Hildebrand of Taymouth ably supported the groom. The church was tastefully decorated with potted plants, autumn leaves and hydrangea. The bridal party taking their place under an arch of autumn leaves with a large wedding bell. During the signing of the register "I Love You Truly" was sung by Miss Daisy Boyce. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the party left the church. They motored to the home of the bride where a buffet luncheon has served to about one hundred guests, the bride's table being decorated in pink and white. The three-tier wedding cake in the centre of which was a wedding bell. Cut flowers and pink candles in silver holders are also used.

Those who served were Misses Daisy Boyce, Clara Lyons, Avis Wister, Mrs. Glenna Estey and Miss Verna Estey. The happy couple left on a motor trip to Prince Edward Island. On their return they will reside at Nashwaaksis where the groom is engaged in farming.

Out of two guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Hildebrand, Nashwaaksis, Mr. and Mrs. John Burpee, Nashwaaksis, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Staples, North Devon, Miss Greta Hildebrand, Nashwaaksis, Arnold Hildebrand, Doaktown, Mr. and Mrs. George Clark, Saint John, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Steeves, Mincton, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gibbs, Wilton, Me., Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Banks, Springhill, Miss Margaret McLean, R.N., Plaster Rock, Miss Avis Wister of South Devon.

The groom's gift to the bride was a cheque; to bridesmaids, organist and soloist, silver compacts.

Going away the bride wore a knitted suit of cherry bloom with brown accessories. The bride is popular with a large circle of friends and is a graduate of Fredericton High School in 1930, and of Victoria Public Hospital in 1934. Many lovely gifts were received including cheques, furniture, silver, cut glass, electrical appliances, linen, etc., testifying to the popularity of the happy couple, who on their return will reside at Nashwaaksis.

There are many of those who believe in the old temperance act who would like to hold the same ground as Mr. Bridges, but they are aware that the old act, with all its pretensions, was never restrictive in these parts. Any man, woman or child who had the price could buy "booze" in Fredericton at any hour of the day or night, and could go into any hotel and stand with their foot on the railing and lap up booze openly.

Loyalty Roll

bring to the enterprise full measure of success." Six thousand, two hundred and seventy names are inscribed on the accompanying roll of Canadian National veterans.

T. Muirhead, president of the Canadian National Veterans Association, Toronto, District No. 1, who presided, read a letter of regret from S. J. Hungerford, president of the National System, who, owing to a recent family bereavement, was unable to be present. Mr. Hungerford wrote, in part:

"We have learned with a great deal of pleasure of the action which the veterans of the Canadian National System have taken to mark the inauguration 100 years ago of railway service in Canada and the form which the expression of good will is taking is a happy one. The railway will feel honored in accepting the loyalty roll."

The presentation to the railway was made by A. J. Shapter, of Montreal, who made the locomotive model decorating the chest. He drew attention to the engraved plates, one of which read "Greetings from 6,000 C. N. R. Veterans to their Railway," and another inscribed with "Canadian National enters second century of Service." He voiced the sentiments of all present when he declared that "My memory and that of many of us present goes back to the days of the small woodburning locomotive, and we are proud to have been actively associated with the work of supplying this system with what is undoubtedly the finest motive power to be found on any railroad in the world."

SPRUCE SAW FLY UNDER CONTROL IN NORTHERN N.B.

J. C. Veness of the staff of the Dominion Forest Service in this section has returned from the Gaspé peninsula where he was engaged in examining sections of land that have been damaged by the spruce saw-fly. The headquarters was Kelly's camp on the Cascapedia River, where the entomological branch have their experimental camps. This camp is situated in the center of the Gaspé peninsula and from it parties have been working throughout the peninsula studying this insect. Mr. Veness states that it is reported that fifty-five per cent of the spruce in the peninsula has been killed by this dreaded insect. At present the crews are working there distributing parasites that feed on the sawfly. It was two years ago when the trees were first noticed to be damaged and immediately parasites were started breeding which would kill the host.

When asked what effect the sawfly has had on New Brunswick's forests, Mr. Veness stated that in the northern part of the province there is some indication that the sawfly is at work, but he states that no extensive damage has been done and that it is hoped that it is under control.

Dr. C. C. Heimbürger, ecologist in the Dominion Forest Service returned to Fredericton with Mr. Veness, and is looking over spruce trees in this district. The sawfly is of European origin and for a time entomologists in this country did not know how to cope with it. However, as soon as the proper parasite was found it was distributed over the stricken areas and thus great districts of valuable timber have been saved.

Prof. B. W. Fleigher of the staff of the U. N. B., is still on the Kedgwick river making a study of cutover lands there. Two U. N. B. forestry graduates are with him.

MARYSVILLE

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 29 — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tapley and daughter Eleanor, who have been visiting Mr. Tapley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Tapley for the past two weeks, are returning home tomorrow morning to their home in Montreal.

Phyllis Tait is leaving for North Bay, Ontario, where she will visit relatives.

Miss Anna Grant, of Douglas, was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mossatt.

Rev. M. D. and Mrs. Oliver are spending their vacation in New York and other American cities.

Mrs. Hubert Dunham of Fredericton spent yesterday afternoon here.

Mrs. Henrietta Kelley has returned from Victoria Public Hospital where she has been a patient for six weeks following a major operation.

There is no change in the condition of Miss Agnes Ramsey, who suffered a stroke at her home here some time ago.

(Special to The Daily Mail)

OTTAWA, Aug. 29—Reorts from Ottawa show that although the wheat crop of the prairie provinces this year has not reached the total of last year it is good. This year's crop is estimated at 227,000,000 bushels, compared with 259,000,000 bushels last year.
