the torn-up or lost mutual tickets purchased by a customer who desparingly threw away a winning ticket, disgustingly believing it was on a loser.

Trade Dollar Recalled

As the years roll on, some of the old securities are presented for redemption, and usually, after examination, are redeemed. In some instances they have not borne interest for many years.

One of the interesting sidelights is the old trade dollar. Briefly the history was this—the trade dollar of 420 grains troy was authorized by the act of February 12, 1873. It was intended for circulation in Oriental countries as a substitute for the Mexican dollar, which it slightly exceeded in weight; but by the terms of the authorizing act it was made legal tender in the United States in sums not exceeding $5.

This legal tender function was withdrawn by the joint resolution approved July 22, 1876, and the coinage was limited to such amount as the Secretary of the Treasury should consider sufficient to meet the export demand. The act of February 18, 1887, provided for the retirement of trade dollars and their recoinage into standard silver dollars or subsidiary silver. For six months after the passage of the act they could be exchanged at the Treasury or Sub-Treasury, dollar for dollar, for standard silver dollars or subsidiary coin.

The total number of trade dollars coined was 35,965,324. The number redeemed under the act of 1887 was 7,689,036 and from the bullion resulting from the melting of these dollars there were coined in subsidiary silver $2,668,674.30 and into standard silver dollars $5,078,472. Since the expiration of the period of redemption above mentioned trade dollars have been purchased as bullion when presented at the mints.

"How many seasons are there, Bobbie?" asked the school inspector.

"Two sir," replied the bright boy of the class. "Football and cricket."

porters to give to everyone what he calls his cultural heritage," declared Mr. Mavor.

"The idea behind Social Credit is not so much political as Christian." Very many of the minority who oppose Premier Aberhart and his government are beginning to realize that he may, and perhaps will, succeed and some of his most strenuous opponents are now either actively or passively supporting him. "There is not only a possibility but a probability that within a few years Social Credit principles will prevail in all western provinces from Manitoba to the Pacific Coast," was the former Fredericton man's opinion.

Rich in Resources

Few Canadians realize that Alberta is one of the richest provinces in the Dominion of Canada from the standpoint of undeveloped natural resources. These will be exploited exclusively for the benefit of Alberta's citizens.

Alberta's debt-ridden people are already experiencing relief from their burdens through legislation recently passed in their behalf. The money lenders demanding and collecting as they have in the past, rates of interest ranging anywhere from eight per cent to double that amount have been told they can collect no more than five per cent and the principle of debts incurred previous to 1932 have been reduced by the amount of interest paid up to that time.

"The medicine which Premier Aberhart and his government are giving us may be a bit distasteful but not only our own citizens in Alberta but those who do business there are beginning to take it with a smile," was Mr. Mavor's opinion.

"There is no doubt whatever in my own mind that the policies of our Alberta government, strange as they may seem, will prove to be of great benefit to the province as a whole, and I would not be surprised, if, in the next few years most of them were adopted in whole or in part by every province in Canada," was Mr. Mavor's emphatic statement.

"Of course we can't prove that we are on the right road and a straight road but I think we can do it and whatever inconvenience may result will be only temporary and lead to a cure for the ills which now beset us."

"We will be relieved of debt and taught that it is a disease to be avoided. Mr. Aberhart will undoubtedly balance the budget. He is not attempting to borrow any more money and if taxation is increased for a time it will be for the purpose of clearing up the provincial financial mess which the present government inherited and within a few years will result in a reduction of taxation to a point perhaps lower than that imposed on the people of any other section of the country.

"All Premier Aberhart requests is the co-operation and confidence of his fellow citizens. He is getting that today to a remarkable extent and it

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Wedding in Guelph of Wide Interest

A wedding of interest throughout Canada took place at three o'clock recently at St. George's Anglican Church, Guelph, Ont., when Miss Flouenza D'Arneiro Johnson, daughter of Mr. Edward Johnson, of Guelph, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Association of New York, and Beatrice, late Viscountess D'Arneiro, of Lisbon, was married to Lieut.-Colonel George A. Drew, of Toronto, author, politician and soldier, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Drew, of Guelph. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, white gladioli adorning the altar while tall standards with sprays of the same flowers were placed in the chancel gleaming white against a background of massed palms and ferns. The Venerable Archdeacon G. F. Scovill, rector of the church, officiated. Dr. Harvey Robb, of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, presided at the organ.

Mr. Johnson gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by Mrs. Carl Davidson Freshwater, of New York, as matron of honor, and by four bridesmaids, namely, Miss Glenys Katharine Hamilton, of New York and Guelph; Miss Amy Grace Howitt, of Guelph; Miss Janet Eddy Johnson of Bay City, Mich.; and Miss Margaret Eaton, of Toronto. Air-Marshal, Colonel W. A. Bishop, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., D.S.C., attended Colonel Drew as best man, and the ushers will be Colonel A. G. Poupore, D.S.O., Major Clifford Sifton, D.S.O., Major W. J. Baxter, M.C. and Mr. Donald Guthrie, all of Toronto; Brigadier-General J. C. Stewart, D.S.O., of London, and Major A. C. Dunbar, of Guelph.

The bride wore a white chiffon velvet wedding gown, its medieval character carried out in the high draped neckline and long, flowing sleeves. Draped in front at the waist the skirt touches the floor in front and sweeps back into a graceful self-fabric train, a twisted girdle of white velvet falling in a chain of loops from the front of the waist to the floor. Her long tulle veil covering her face was held in place by a couronne of white braided satin ribbon. High-cut moyerage sandals completed the costume. She carried a white ivory prayer book with sprigs of lilies-of-the-valley. The bridal attendants wore graceful gowns of blue violet crepe georgette, long of sleeve and built high at the neck. Turquoise accents, provided by the front godet in the skirt and the lining of the narrow sash, carried out in tiny halo caps of narrow grosgrain ribbon finely braided. Their toe-less sandals were of silk to match their gowns and their flowers, white roses and purple blue delphiniums, for the bridesmaids and Easter lilies for the matron of honor, were fashioned in arm bouquets to carry out the medieval effect. They wore single strands of pearls. Mrs. Frederick Johnson, of Bay City, Michigan, aunt of the bride, wore a wine colored satin-back crepe made on Grecian lines, the girdle knotted in front, and a wine colored turban of cut velvet designed by Maria Guy; her shoes to match her gown and her flowers being white orchids. Mrs. Allen M. German, of Toronto, sister of the bridegroom, wore a blue velvet gown made on long, graceful lines, a small velvet hat of the same shade, matching shoes and shoulder knot of white orchids.

A reception followed the ceremony in the garden of the home of the bride's father, 5 Elora Road. Later Colonel and Mrs. Drew left by motor on their wedding trip to Quebec and eastern Canada, the bride travelling in a tain poule wool ensemble, the dress made with a high neck and long sleeves, the coat of a seven-eights length, made in Empire coat, with won't be long before those who come to scoff will remain to pray."

Drought Conditions

Speaking of the drought conditions in that province, Mr. Mavor said: "You will realize, of course, that we depend largely economically upon our production of livestock and wheat. During the past growing season we suffered from the severe drought conditions in Southern Alberta. The crops have been very poor. The feed situation presented the rancher with a serious problem, but he has faced that on and off for several years past and with assistance of government will find a way out.

"My information," said Mr. Mavor, "is that crops in the northern part of the province have been better than the average so that on the whole we will not be on the breadline for at least another year. I think business conditions generally have greatly improved in the past year or two and once the policies of our government are understood by those doing business with us we will regain the prosperity that has favored us for so many of the years recently passed.

"We have great faith in, and hope for the continued development of our oil resources. We have proved conclusively that crude oil can be obtained in large quantities and perhaps it will not be long before Alberta will be one of the most important oil producing areas in the world," stated Mr. Mavor. One little well is now flowing around 800 barrels per day.

squared, boxed shoulders and buttoned down the front from throat to hem, and her small hat was of small black felt with nose veil, her accessories in black. She also wore a double fox throw, the gift of the bridegroom. On their return they will reside at 71 Castle Frank Crescent, Toronto.

Among the guests, numbering nearly five hundred, were Senora Josephine Casali, of Florence, Italy; Mrs. Bertram C. Hinman, of London, England; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lewis, Miss Marjorie and Miss Helen Lewis, Mr. Glen Hall, Mr. Murton Powell, Mr. Ralph Allen, Mr. Schuyler Smith, Dr. Wendell Mitchell, Miss Edith Piper, Miss Magdalene Hannesfahr, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Freshwater, all of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, Miss Janet Johnson, Ted Brennan, Mike Brennan and Fred Johnson, jr., of Bay City; Mr. and Mrs. H. Napier Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timothy Eaton, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. MacLean, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. R. Y. Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. John David Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. E. Burden, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Middlebro, of Owen Sound; Mr. Arthur Higinbotham of Montreal; Mrs. Kerley and Mrs. Henry Hutchinson jr., of Chicago.

Gerald Eardley, B.A., B.Sc., of the teaching staff of Mt. Allison Academy returned to Sackville yesterday to resume his duties.

Charles Allen, Editor of The Hartland Observer, was a recent visitor in the city. Mr. Allen spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Allen and was accompanied to the city by his young son Charles Robert Jr., who resumed his studies at Smythe Street school after having spent his summer holidays with his father at Hartland.

Miss Rita McCarthy has returned from Saint John, where she enjoyed a few days holidays.

Mrs. George Parke of Montreal and Mrs. H. A. Richardson of Toronto, are guests of Mrs. A. J. Gregory at Acadia Grove.

Friend in the province will be interested to hear of the arrival of a baby boy at the home of Mrs. Eugene Powers at Miami, Florida.

Mrs. Fannie Gallagher and daughters Mary and Patricia have recently returned from a visit to Medford, Mass.

Mrs. Leslie Mavor is entertaining at dinner this evening in honor of J. Stewart Mavor and his daughter, Miss Geraldine Mavor of Calgary.

Speaking of Calgary, Mr. Mavor said that two former U.N.B. graduates are occupying prominent positions on the Supreme Court bench. One is Hon. Charles Mitchell, former attorney general of Alberta and a nephew of the late Hon. Peter Mitchell of Newcastle, and the other is Hon. Mr. Justice Harry W. Lunney, who was well known here, especially in football and hockey circles during his U.N.B. career. Mr. Justice Lunney is considered one of the most eminent Supreme Court judges in the west.

Mr. Mavor who when he was appointed K.C. was the youngest King's Counsel in the British Empire, studied law after graduating from the university, with the present Mr. Justice O. S. Crockett. He went west in 1910 and immediately took a foremost place in the Alberta Bar. In 1915 he was a candidate in the Bow Valley Alberta, for the Federal House of Commons. He ran against the late George Lane, the famous rancher, but owing to a deal made in connection with the Union Government both Mr. Mavor and Mr. Lane dropped out of the fight in favor of a Union government candidate.

Class 3, a mile for boys above 125 pounds and under 18 years of age, was won by Paul Tait in 2:50, one second more than the record set last year. Maurice Morgan, Geo. Fletcher and Gordon Mazerall finished in that order.

Last evening's programme was marked by a complete presentation of the openair attractions at the race track in front of the grandstand, and topped off by a colorful display of fireworks. The usual dancing was held in the main exhibition building during the evening. The exhibits in all lines of work were closely studied by the exhibition goers.

Judging in cooking and flowers was begun yesterday and today judging was in full swing. The outstanding attraction today is the commencement of the three-day racing card, and the city hotels last night received many guests from all parts of the Maritimes and the State of Maine. Many of them were harness racing enthusiasts, owners and drivers.

Open Air Attractions

The vaudeville acts, or the "free attractions" as they are locally referred to, were presented both afternoon and evening in front of the main grandstand to a large and enthusiastic audience. The afternoon's crowd was largely made up of children who thoroughly enjoyed the antics of the comedy teams and the fine animal acts.

After the opening band concert, Jo Hughes introduced himself as master of ceremonies and then proceeded with the bill. The first was the Pallenberg Doberman Pinchers, a group of highly trained German dogs who performed all sorts of acrobatic tricks on a centre ring on the stage. These animals held the centre ring in the Ringling Barnum and Bailey Circus for three successive years and were the hit attraction at the New York Coney Show last winter. With two kennel dogs they went through their paces with perfect timing and co-ordination.

The Three Flying Acts performed a flying trapeze act with routine somersaults and the swinging catch in mid air. The feature of their act was the blind-fold number when two of the troupe did a flying somersault and changed trapezes in the air.

Pichiani's Lodi Troupe are essentially teeter board artists but here they presented a comedy routine that had the crowd in fits at their clever and well-timed antics. The triple somersault was the climax of the act and followed a long series of slapstick comedy with somersaults and shoulder stand catches.

Feature Animal Act

The next was a feature animal act. Pallenberg's Trained Bears. These are Siberian Bears and they performed all manner of balancing feats. One rode an 8 foot bicycle as a feature. Both teamed up to thrill the crowd with bicycle riding, roller skating and playing catches with a ball.

George Ventre's Stetson provided the incidental music for all the acts and at this time treated the audience to a trumpet and xylophone solos.

The final number was the Balabano Five, a family of singing, dancing and acrobatic artists. They all performed on the accordians and treated the patrons to popular songs. At the end of their act they lead the grandstand in community singing and everybody teamed up to render several old favorites. The youngest member of the female section of the troupe did some effective contortion and tumbling numbers. The other members of the company formed a background for this charming star.

Although the weather was extremely cold in the evening, many rushed to a vantage point to view the wonderful display of fireworks. The set pieces and rockets were exceptionally good last evening and added a real finishing touch to Children's Day.
