REMEMBER

It pays to remember that the body is so constituted as to be able to protect itself in the presence of abnormal conditions, and that if we interfere with this protective mechanism, disaster may follow.

When the stomach finds that it is overloaded with food or drink, it may free itself from the irritation thus experienced by the use of a reverse action which empties the stomach. It would be a mistake to interfere with the exercise of such good judgment on the part of the stomach. Remember then to let the stomach empty itself when it is inclined to do so.

The onset of disease is usually marked by a loss of appetite due to a cessation of the digestive processes. To force food upon a person in this state does harm. Many persons, parents in particular, are unduly concerned when a child misses a meal or two. The healthy child when hungry, will eat his meals regularly, unless he is spoiled through poor training and the sick child is likely better off without food for a time. Remember not to force food upon those who have no desire to eat.

Acute inflammation of an abdominal organ may cause nausea and vomiting. The intestines cease their functioning as nature places the parts at rest in order to wall off the inflamed area. A laxative at this time given because there is abdominal pain or constipation or diarrhoea, interferes with this effort of nature, with serious, if not fatal results in a number of cases. Remember not to give or to take anything by mouth particularly a laxative, when there is abdominal pain.

Blood in the urine or in the stools does not occur among those who are in good health. Its presence means that something is wrong, and it means it just as truly whether there is pain or not, and regardless of how well the person may feel. Remember that failure to have your doctor find out why the blood was present may mean that you miss the chance for early treatment which, in some cases, is the only treatment which can save life.

SAYS ENGLAND BENEFITED FROM CONTROVERSY

LONDON, England, April 30—Sir Samuel Hoare, swept out of the British cabinet in the storm over the Hoare-Laval plan for peace in Ethiopia, is expected to stage an early comeback in political life.

Predicts Comeback

Just when, and in what role, he will emerge from the eclipse which followed secretaryship, are unanswered questions.

But the Marquis of Linlithgow, in one of his last speeches before leaving for India to become viceroy, predicted Sir Samuel "will soon be back in a part even greater than before".

The wiry, sharp-featured Sir Samuel is 56—but a young 56 to anyone who has seen him upon a tennis court, or clad in black sweater, tights and yellow gloves, on the ice rink. In his favorite pastime of figure-skating he can still execute complicated movements that would tax the suppleness of a youth.

Laughs At Troubles

Punished but still unremorseful for his part in the ill-fated proposals to bring peace to East Africa he has been resting and building up his health.

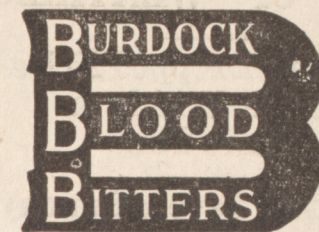

In his rare public appearances since he retired from the foreign office to nurse at the same time a broken nose sustained while skating in Switzerland he has been able to joke about his troubles.

The accident to his nose he describes as "politically embarrassing" but he has admitted he missed a great opportunity when the Swiss "expert in noses" who treated him asked him what kind of a nose he wanted.

"I answered: 'The same over again,'" Sir Samuel recently said.

All parts of the body may be attacked by a wide variety of different disorders. There is a tendency on the part of some people to feel self-conscious about reporting disorders of certain parts to their family doctor. Remember that while medical care is a very intimate personal service, it is provided in an impersonal manner. There is no good reason why anyone should suffer discomfort, if nothing worse, through fear of embarrassment on account of the nature or location of their complaint.

A Face Covered With Pimples Causes Much Embarrassment

There is little doubt but that impure and impoverished blood is the soil on which those red, white, pus filled pimples develop and thrive, and that nothing short of a vigorous, persistent blood purifying treatment will eradicate them from the system.

Burdock Blood Bitters banishes bad blood and with the bad blood banished the skin becomes free from pimples.

Try a few bottles and be convinced.

ISN'T IT TOO BAD!

Such a fine young couple! They were headed as straight for bliss as a bee for his hive—BUT...

After all it pays a woman to be careful of her appearance, doesn't it?

"Think what an opportunity I missed!

"Suppose I had asked him to make me a nose like that of William Pitt—challenging and interrogatory—or a nose like Mr. Gladstone's—massive in its Roman impressiveness?"

"Bad times have a scientific value; those are occasions a good learner would not miss", he quoted from Ralph Waldo Emerson in addressing his constituents in Chelsea.

Credentials

Only the rashest of mortals will risk the unknown A tumble over Niagara in a barrel, for instance, or a stratosphere flight. Few of us are willing to rush in where angels fear to tread. We seek precedent for our every move—in the food we eat, in the places we go.

The advertisements in this paper are the signal credentials of firms which seek your business. They are not only letters of introduction, but pledges of faith. You may accept them because they mean that a lot of people have bought before you—and have been satisfied.

Before you run downtown, run down the list of things offered every day in the advertisements. See what interests you... what meets your needs without burdening your budget. Check and choose before you get out the car or signal a bus.

Combing the advertising pages in advance is a labor-saving, leather-saving device. In short, the people who regularly read the advertisements are getting the most for their money. And that's good business, any way you look at it.
