Huge Deficit Now Faces the Federal Government at Ottawa

Difficult to Balance Bud- AGRICULTURAL get Without Increasing Taxation, Says Dunning.

OFFAWA, Ont., April 3-Hon Charles Dunning is now wrestling with the difficult problem of producing a Federal Budget that will balance without any increase in taxation, as it appears obvious to the most serious-minded Canadian that business already is bearing all the taxation it can stand.

PRISON FARMS

Prince Edward Island is asking the Dominion Government for financial assistance in establishing a central prison farm. Premier Campbell told the provincial Legislature yesterday.

The request was made known during discussion of a bill "to provide for the transfer of prisoners between the several jails in this province in certain circumstances."

Premier Campbell said establishment of "a central jail farm in the province" was desirable because the existing penal system was not conductive to respect for the law nor to the welfare of the prisoners.

This matter has been considered by members of both sides of our Legislature for years but nothing has yet been done in regard to it.

Conditions as were found to exist last fall in York County jail were a disgrace to the County and to the Province. although an attempt was made in certain quarters to cover them up. Owing to the kick put up by The Daily Mail these conditions were somewhat improved but are still bad notwithstanding statements of those who would wish to cover up. In speaking of these horrible conditions several clergymen and others have advocated a prison farm for New Brunswick. With this The Daily Mail is in hearty accord. One man who has made a study of social conditions and who has visited our jail says that it is liable to be a breeder of "T.B." A regular inspection of health conditions and an examination of prisoners personally is suggested to the Health Department of our Province. While we may not be able just now to have prison farms, there is no reason why we should not have healthy jails. If prisoners suffering from "T.B." are allowed to sleep and to eat in the room with healthy prisoners and to use the same dishes, what is the use of our public health regulations. The same thing applies to other diseases which we could mention.

A prison farm would not only remedy these conditions. but it would be better for the prisoner physically, morally and mentally.

For The Members

OTTAWA, April 3-Senators and members of the House of Commons, squeezed from the parliamentary restaurant by an alleged influx of outsiders have overflowed the House cafeteria, forcing some members of the hired help to eat in their offices, it was disclosed.

When Senator A. D. McRae of Vancouver told the upper House last night cused and had been at Bannister's of being forced to wait one hour and fifteen minutes for his lunch, he had seen only one side of the problem, it was said. House members and Senators anxious to get a quick lunch have been crowding stenographers, messengers and he hoped to state what action would by Damei and Arthur Bannister and be taken in respect to a closed season said he had seen it in the Bannister

> "I'm bringing my lunch now," a shy stenographer remarked. "It is so crowded in the cafeteria and I feel a little shy at going in when Senators and members are sitting at the same tables."

Prices in the subsidized restaurant, with its expert service, fine linen and napery, and those of the marble-top-tabled cafeteria, or "doggery", as Moncton Complain it is known, are almost the same. A flat table d'hote lunch in the restaur ant costs 50 cents and is complete from soup to cheese. At the cafeteria, soup,
