CANADIANS RECEIVE A GREAT OVATION AS THEY SALUTE THE GERMAN CHANCELLOR

Three Provinces Gather at Old Beausejour Site

Salute Fired From Old French Cannon in Opening Ceremony

Mrs. A. A. Dysart Cuts Ribbons At Door of Museum Building

Two Races in the Dominion of Canada Living Happily Together

The three provinces by the sea figured prominently at the opening of the new museum here on Saturday afternoon.

Premier Dysart extended New Brunswick's official welcome and was followed by Hon. W. J. Comeau, representing the Nova Scotia government. Mr. Comeau said the ceremony brought to him memories of the recent unveiling of the Canadian memorial at Vimy. He paid tribute to Dr. Webster for his untiring efforts in the erection of a memorial to the pioneers of the province. Mr. Comeau also addressed the gathering briefly in French.

Hon. Thane A. Campbell, premier of Prince Edward Island, said "I join with Hon. Mr. Comeau in expressing my appreciation of the warm and cordial welcome extended by Hon. Mr. Dysart. I believe that the greatest credit is due to Dr. Webster for this fine park and museum. It is a significant fact today, that here are hundreds of French and English persons, gathered on the scene of conflicts between the two races in years gone by. Today we are living happily together, welding a national spirit of races in this great Canada of ours."

More than one hundred and fifty years after their ancestors and predecessors struggled for dominion on this continent, men of two great races united here Saturday afternoon in a ceremony to preserve the spirit of old Acadia, as the beautiful new stone museum housing hundreds of relics of those days of conflict was formally opened.

Public men from various sections of Canada were present at the scene of a mighty struggle more than a century ago, between the French and English, and at which time Fort Beausejour passed forever into British hands.

Upwards of 5,000 persons, including Hon. W. E. Foster, speaker of the Senate and official representative of the Dominion Government; Right Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservative party in Canada; Hon. A. A. Dysart, premier of New Brunswick; Hon. Thane A. Campbell, premier of Prince Edward Island; Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, chief justice of New Brunswick; Sir Joseph Chisholm, chief justice of Nova Scotia; Hon. J. W. Comeau, Digby, N. S.,

Canadian Pension Board Meets In City Today

The Canada Pensions Board met this morning at the County Court House. The board will continue meeting until Thursday when they expect to have completed examination of about thirty cases. Col. C. D. Crowe, M.C., of Guelph, is chairman. Others on the board are Dr. S. G. Mackenzie of Halifax, and Col. Gamblin, M.C., of Saint John, pension advocate.

The board has been in the province since July 1st and arrived in this city from Woodstock. On Thursday they will go to Newcastle. Of the thirty cases four are death claims and one is an assessment claim, it was stated.

official representative of the Nova Scotia government; Senator T. J. Bourque, Richibucto; Rev. Dr. L. La Palme, president of St. Joseph's University; Hugh Watson, consul-general of the United States in the Maritimes, and many others were present.

Speaks Again

Fort Beausejour was the centre of one of the most vivid chapters in Canadian history. Countless people, whose forefathers stood on one side or the other of the conflict of 1755, have contributed in the museum project. Yesterday an old French cannon, part of the defensive equipment of the French garrison, donated by Senator F. B. Black of Sackville, was used in firing the salute officially opening the new museum building.

Senator Foster, representing the Dominion, escorted Mrs. A. A. Dysart, wife of Premier Dysart, from the specially arranged speakers' platform, through a guard of honor from the Cumberland County Highlanders to the door of the new stone building. As she cut the red, white and blue silk ribbon across the doors, Mrs. M. J. Kaufman, wife of Mayor Kaufman of Amherst, fired the salute from the old French cannon.

Presiding at the ceremony was Dr. J. Clarence Webster, C.M.G., of Shediac, a member of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada. (Continued on Page Four)

Practical Education - Cooperation

Educational authorities and others who have recently returned from Nova Scotia after making a survey of co-operative conditions there, are loud in their praise of the benefit which the co-operative credit unions have accomplished and are accomplishing in that province, both from an economic standpoint and otherwise. Community centres have prospered and the people, both individually and as a whole, have benefited by the establishment of these unions.

It is interesting to note that the Provincial Government of New Brunswick have for some months been making a completed study of the co-operative unions and the advantage which they would be to the people of New Brunswick. In this connection the Provincial Government at the last session introduced a bill through the Legislature providing for the establishment of co-operative credit unions. This is in line with the cooperative effort being carried on in Nova Scotia at the present time. Adult Education is a means to the co-operative credit unions, and this is strongly favored by the Dysart Provincial Government. The different members of the Provincial Cabinet are giving complete study and favorable consideration at the present time to the whole question. The government recognizes the benefits which have resulted in Denmark, England and Scotland and in other countries as a result of co-operative credit unions. But one has to go no farther than Nova Scotia to see the wonderful benefits which have resulted from co-operative credit unions. Rev. John Copp, field secretary of the Students' Christian Movement, and John McKnight, head of the Students' Christian Movement at the University of New Brunswick, have, during the past couple of months, made a personal study of the co-operative system as it is working out in Nova Scotia and are amazed with the benefits to the different communities which they visited. It is, amongst other things, given a distinct setback to Communism in the centres in which it has been adopted.

Co-operative unions need to be explained fully in order to be appreciated. This will be done in the very near future. The present generation, whilst it may adopt co-operative unions, may not realize the dream of a co-operative commonwealth, which is bound to come later. But in order that our children and our children's children may not be born into a land of blasted opportunity let us plant and nourish the seed of knowledge of co-operative unions in every New Brunswick home.

In order to impart this knowledge and to bring practical and beneficial results to the farmer and the breadwinner such as they are enjoying elsewhere the Dysart Government, in line with its progressive policy, will very shortly go into the whole matter. It is probable that Adult Education will be a feature that will start to function before very many months. In other places modern universities have fallen in line with this feature of educational advancement. It is probable that the Provincial Government, which is largely responsible for the financial machinery which keeps the University of New Brunswick running, will suggest Adult Education and extension courses in connection with University work. In doing this the Dysart Government will not only be giving another evidence of its progressive spirit but will be helping to build up better economic conditions in the province for one and all. That the present government is giving this matter of adult education and co-operative credit unions favorable and practical consideration, is encouraging to those who have made a study of the benefits elsewhere.

FELL TO HER DEATH

Miss Mitzi Reimut Saxenhammer, of West Englewood, N. J., who appeared in a vaudeville act at the Fredericton Exhibition in 1934 with the Acton Troupe of high wire artists, met her death in Boston, Mass., last Friday, July 31, when she plunged sixty feet to a concrete square at Salisbury Beach, Mass., during a thrill act. The particular act which she was doing was trapeze work on the end of a bar suspended from a motorcycle driving around a platform sixty feet high. The head strap which the young artist had for support broke and she dropped headfirst to the concrete below. She died three hours later in the hospital. Since her appearance in Fredericton she has been a member of the Four Albanian troupe and at one time was a member of Ringling Brothers circus, when she played in an act with the Reimut Family, similar to the act booked in Fredericton.

ON HIS VACATION

Postmaster, Donald F. Cameron, has returned from an automobile trip to various parts of the province. He is at present on vacation.

DAUGHTER KILLS MOTHER AFTER AN ARGUMENT

Former Bathurst Woman Killed by Her Own Child

BAYONNE, N. J., Aug. 3—Sail of her native New Brunswick will receive the body of Mrs. Edgar McKnight, slain on Friday, allegedly by her daughter.

McKnight, cable company official whose daughter calmly confessed to police yesterday she had hacked her mother to death while her sweetheart cried "Hit her again," said today interment would be at West Bathurst, N. B., but declined to announce the date. McKnight and his wife came to Bayonne from Canada many years ago.

The distraught fathers of Gladys McKnight, 17, and the sweetheart, Donald Wightman, 18, religious hour singer, made plans to defend their children.

McKnight said his attitude in the case would be "the same as that of any father toward his daughter."

Wightman's father, Joseph, steward at the Robbins Reef Yacht Club, said he would visit his son in jail tomorrow. His wife, Alice, 40, has been in hospital since June 30. Officials have given orders that newspapers and accounts of the tragedy be kept from her.

McKnight, meanwhile, went ahead with plans for a private funeral here for his wife, Helen, 47, before the body is shipped to West Bathurst.

"Under the circumstances," he said, "we will have a private funeral. We realize the number of friends Mrs. McKnight had and the sympathetic friends I have. We wish we could have them all at the funeral. We must, however, avoid curiosity seekers."

Prominent York County Resident Has Passed Away

Frank J. Gunter, reputedly one of the wealthiest men in York county, and also one of its best known citizens, passed away at his home in Devon on Sunday. He was the son of the late Samuel and Elizabeth (Crouse) Gunter of Bear Island, and had resided in this county for many years. He was taken ill on Friday of last week. He was 74 years of age.

When a young man deceased had gone to the Canadian west where he met with considerable success. He had engaged in lumbering and farming in this county for many years, and held large investments in farm properties in the river counties. Before moving to Devon recently the late Mr. Gunter had resided at Kingsclear and also at Prince William. It was while living at Prince William that Mr. Gunter clashed with the school trustees there with respect to taxes, and as he claimed excessive taxation, he took the case to the Supreme Court of the province, losing the case however. During his lifetime he accumulated much farm property, having large investments in farm mortgages.

Although living a retired life the deceased made many friends who will learn of his death with sincere regret. Surviving are several nephews and nieces, Mrs. C. C. Camp of this city, Mrs. Chipman McCloskey, of Toronto; Dr. J. H. Gunter of Philadelphia; Andrew Gunter, Miss Lydia Gunter and Mrs. Edward Uzzell of Atlantic City; Ernest Gunter of Rimouski, Quebec, and Mrs. Edward Bent.

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Berlin, Aug. 3—The eleventh Olympiad—biggest international sport festival in history—was opened by Fuehrer Adolf Hitler.

One hundred ten thousand spectators stood silently in this huge sunken concrete bowl as Hitler, from his spacious balcony facing almost 5,000 athletes from 52 nations assembled on the broad field, spoke these words which inaugurated the games:

"I proclaim open the Olympic Games of Berlin, celebrating the eleventh Olympiad of the modern era."

As his words echoed across the stadium a mighty roar went up from the crowd. A cannon roared! a squadron of trumpeters sounded a salute; a flock of pigeons were released and slowly up the standard at one end of the stadium went the white Olympic flag with its five interlocking circles.

Carnival Spirit

When the flag reached the top, it marked the transition of the games from German supervision to that of the International Olympic Committee, which will rule all of the 22 sporting events which begin tomorrow and continue until August 16.

A colorful ceremony preceded Hitler's formal inauguration. From early morning, Berlin was in carnival spirit and there were countless receptions, fetes and demonstrations leading up to the climax in this stadium.

The formal ceremony began outside the stadium—centre of the 323-acre Reichsport field where Olympic competition will be held—where Hitler, after greeting honored guests, marched down through the lanes of assembled athletes.

FRANCE URGES NON-INTERVENTION IN SPANISH REVOLUTION

PARIS, August 3—France on Saturday formally submitted to the governments of Great Britain and Italy her plans in an urgent appeal to those nations to agree to ban arms for Spain.

But to the French appeal there is a significant rider. After observing that the French government has prohibited the export of all arms to Spain, even those in execution of contracts passed before the present fighting, the note continues:

"The fact that insurgent troops are now receiving arms from abroad compels the French government to reserve its freedom of action in the application of the decision it has taken."

This, it is explained in authoritative French circles, does not mean that the Blum government is considering the possible supply of war material to the government of Spain. It means that the French government does not wish to tie its hands. If other governments do not observe strict neutrality, then the French government can do likewise.

France, it is understood, is anxious to bring both Germany and Russia within any agreement reached.

Preliminary British reaction to the French note is favorable.
