U. N. B. Basketeers Lose to Touring Team

Score 37-18 in Game at College Gym—Red and Black Trail Through-out.

With only a week's training behind them, an inexperienced U. N. B. quintet bowed to the Bar Harbor Acadia Boys last night at the College gym to the score of 37 to 18. The local collegians held the Maine aggregation fairly well under control during the first period, but in the second the visitors ran away piling up 19 points to U. N. B.'s 6. Bar Harbor gave a great exhibition of co-ordination in passing. The local boys also gave a good account of themselves, considering their inexperience as a unit. The basket shooting of both teams was not as good as might have been expected, although some beautiful spectacular shots were made by Captain "Scotty" Donaldson of U. N. B. and Bouchard and Hamlin for the visitors.

Bouchard was high scorer for the evening, tallying 14 points for the American squad, followed by his team mate Ingalls with 13 markers to his credit. "Les" Inch, with 10 points, captured the honors for the Red and Black five. The contest was fast and clean all the way through, referee "Bob" Davis seldom finding it necessary to use the whistle. In the sinking of penalty shots both teams were off form, the lone foul shot of the game being sunk by Smith of Bar Harbor in the second stanza.

First blood was drawn by Inch, U. N. B. center, on a pass from Donaldson, within a few seconds after the tipoff. Bar Harbor immediately retaliated when Bouchard scored from a difficult angle. From then on during the first period, although the visitors always definitely had the edge on the locals, play was even. The veteran U. N. B. forward line of Inch, Donaldson, and McKinnon worked together, in spite of the latter's shooting being not up to standard. The combination of Donaldson to Inch to basket counted for many of the college five's hard-earned points. Bouchard continually popped the ball in the basket from his favorite position in the corner, but the visiting team had difficulty in sinking any of what are considered the easier shots.

In the second period the Bar Harbor quintet turned on the heat and piled up a safe lead. Bouchard continued his spectacular shooting and Captain Webber and Hamlin put on as pretty an exhibition of passing as has been seen on the U. N. B. floor in some time. A one arm shot by Hamlin, tossed with utter nonchalance, dropped within the hoop to put the finishing touches to his stellar evening's performance. The time-keeper's gong found the Red and Black squad trailing by 19 points.

Following is the summary:

U. N. B.
Inch, c.	10 0
Donaldson, f. (capt.)	6 0
McKinnon, f.	0 0
Freeze, g.	0 0
Steeves, g.	0 0

GOMEZ AT LAST HEEDS COUNSEL ABOUT TRAINING

Yankees' Star Southpaw Going to Florida Soon For Early Start

A note from Rodeo, Calif., signed "Lefty and June," brings the tidings that now the holiday season is over they soon will be starting for St. Petersburg, Fla., training site of the Yankees. "Lefty" is Lefty Gomez, and "June" is the missus, and their decision to get an early jump on the training season is an indication that the Yankee southpaw has heeded the advice which was given to him by several trainers in the major leagues last year.

That was that El Goofy ought to be in better shape than he was last year, and that he was in need of more strenuous conditioning.

"What!" was Lefty's first surprised and somewhat indignant reaction to the suggestions "Me train harder! Why, they've been trying to fatten me up for years and if I take any more weight off myself they'll have to look twice to see me once."

Those trainers who watched Gomez last season saw in his lack of good condition the reason for his failure to live up to his record of the previous campaign. Getting weight off the lean left-hander was not their idea, but having legs and wind in better shape was.

Lefty Should Shag Flies
The way to improve a pitcher's wind and legs, which are essential to pitching condition, is by constant running. This is provided for by the fly shagging sessions before each game. Lefty didn't think much of the idea last year, and did not do any too much of it.

The result was that while he packed no excess avoirdupois, since there is no such fantastic thing as excess avoirdupois on the skinny senior, he grew short winded and tired in the underpinning as the innings wore on. That fine edge of control he had in 1934, when he was the biggest winner in the American League, was lacking, and there was a pretty general opinion that he was not as fast as he had been the year before.

Lefty grew a little pettish last season when lack of condition was advanced as the cause of his numerous defeats. He was genuine in believing that he was in good shape and that the occasional loping he did after fungoes in the outfield were enough to keep him in pitching trim. Now, preparing for a cross-country dash by automobile which will land him in Florida some two or three weeks ahead of his teammates, he seems to have changed his mind.

There is more at stake for Gomez this coming season than just the distinction of remounting his throne as king of the American League left-handers. What offers a greater incentive to his early start, no doubt, is that his two-year contract, calling for $20,000 a year, expires at the end of this season. He will have to do a lot of pitching in 1936, and a lot of winning pitching, to have it renewed on the same basis.

Lefty Has Had Long Rest
What should prove of additional advantage to Gomez this season is that he has done no pitching since the close of the last campaign. Unquestionably the flipping he did in the Orient last fall and winter took something out of him. He is not built to pitch as much as he did through the 1934 season—he tossed 282 innings, to lead the league in the greatest number of innings worked — and then go on to pitch through a month of barnstorming and bounce right back for another pennant campaign.

Gomez stoutly maintained that the Oriental junket had nothing to do with his ineffectiveness last year, just as he grew mildly indignant at the suggestion that he was not in shape. Now that he has come around to thinking that a little extra training wouldn't hurt, maybe he will admit when he is pinned down in the training camp that it was a good idea to stay home this winter, too.

BABE DAHLGREN TO SYRACUSE

BOSTON, Jan. 21—They put up Ellsworth T. "Babe" Dahlgren's number for talking out of turn when Eddie Collins started making out the bulk of the Red Sox contracts.

And as a result it is only a matter of hours before that young man, known as the Coast League's "greatest first baseman since Hal Chase", before the Red Sox paid the Missions $15,000 for his services, finds himself consigned to Syracuse.

Dahlgren was not among those who cheered when Jimmy Foss was included in the deal that made the Red Sox a 1936 pennant contender. It would be too much to expect him to be enthusiastic over the loss of his job, but

Tendency Toward International College Sport

TORONTO, Jan. 21 — With Warren Stevens in the position of director of athletics at University of Toronto there will continue to be a strong tendency to take Canadian college teams into international competition. In the past hockey and basketball teams from leading universities of the Dominion have made annual exhibition tours across the line, while the boxing and wrestling teams from time to time have made trips to the United States for competitive purposes.

The hockey and basketball tours, though, have been of an exhibition nature, and Stevens' idea is to form international leagues. Hockey is his principle objective, and, as recounted in this column not long ago, there is a chance that the Blue and White will drop out of the O.H.A. in favor of an international intercollegiate league.

Varied Versions of Same Story Re Tennis Star

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—Two versions of the same story:

1. As Bill O'Brien, the pro tennis promoter's publicity department saw it:

"Lester Stoefer, the California tennis pro, received the official okay on his ring aspirations yesterday. The blond giant went through his paces for Jack Dempsey at the latter's gymnasium. The old Manassa Mauler gave his official opinion that under the proper conditioning procedure, Stoefer could put the necessary additional poundage on his frame. The former heavyweight king was impressed by the 6-foot 4-inch Stoefer's speed of hand and foot, and said that if the young giant were serious and willing to go through the hard grind of getting into shape, he should at least have a chance to succeed in the prize ring."

2. As a New York reporter, who was there, saw it:

"Lester Rollo Stoefer is still a white hope though it's beginning to wane. Yesterday he told Jack Dempsey he would like to enter the Mauler's white hope tournament. He admitted to 150 pounds and said he was going to the North Woods and get ready for Joe Louis. Dempsey saw the adonis and almost threw his out of the doorway at once. Said he refused to be responsible for murder, and it was understood he didn't mean the murder of Louis. To please photos, Jack blocked one of Rollo's shots, and Rollo immediately sat down."

Hit Ball 2,001 Times—So What.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21—Helen Willis Moody, whose great tennis comeback last year won her the Wimbledon crown and world acclaim, raced over a court for an hour and 18 minutes recently to help establish what is believed to be a freak record for the net game.

Mrs. Moody and Howard Kinsey, former Davis Cup player and now a local professional, volleyed the ball continually over the net 2,001 times.

What started off as a practice session to prepare for a trial Friday morning, developed into a marathon that ended when Kinsey had to give a lesson.

The pat ball endurance contest was refereed and officially tabulated by Henry Roberts, San Francisco sports follower under the rules of the contest, the ball was hit either in the air or on the first bounce.

Smilingly, Mrs. Moody said she was "not a bit tired" after the long rally.

Both participants said they were affected with eye weariness at around 1,100 shots but this gradually wore off.

"It was really lots of fun," said Mrs. Moody.

his baseball bosses did expect him to be diplomatic about it.

Dahlgren claimed he was forced to change his batting style against his will, with the result that he ended up with a .263 average, and explained that his fielding figures—the lowest turned in by any of the American League's regular first basemen last season—were due to the erratic throws of Manager Joe Cronin and other infielders.

Dahlgren might spend the 1936 season increasing in baseball wisdom of the Red Sox bench, but when it became known he was dissatisfied, Collins lost no time finding a spot for him with the International League club.

COLLEGE BOXERS TO MEET HERE THIS MARCH

The Maritime Intercollegiate Boxing Tournament never before held in this city, will be staged in Fredericton next March. It was decided at a meeting of the Students' Representative Council of the University of New Brunswick held last night. Manager G. H. Waring of the Boxing Team was given full authority to hold the meet with the $325 the boxing team was allotted. No money was granted to track manager "Ted" Nason with which to bring the Maritime Intercollegiate Track Meet here next May, but he was given authority to use the gate receipts of the boxing meet for that purpose.

Last year U.N.B. sent a four man team to the intercollegiate slug fest at St. Francis Xavier University. All the members of the team reached the finals, and one, Lloyd Bartlett, won the lightweight championship, the first intercollegiate boxing title ever to come to U.N.B. This year, with a much stronger team, chances look good for the Red and Black pugs to cop the Maritime title.

Probable entries for the meet are the 1935 champs, St. Francis Xavier, Dalhousie, Nova Scotia Technical College, and perhaps Mount Allison. St. F. X. will probably prove to be the greatest stumbling block for the pugilistically inclined local collegians. Mount A. is the dark horse, this being the first year that boxing as a sport has ever been seriously taken up at that institution.

MAY POSTPONE BONSPIEL TO LATER DATE

CAMPBELLTON, N.B., Jan. 21—Although it was not learned definitely here this morning the death of His Majesty King George V. may cause postponement of the New Brunswick curling bonspiel to a later date.

This year's bonspiel is the first to be staged in Campbellton. Play was scheduled to open this morning at 9 o'clock and to continue Wednesday and Thursday. The local club has made elaborate plans to entertain the visitors.

: SPORT SPOTS :

The sporting world today mourns the passing of a great sportsman, His Majesty King George V. Throughout his entire life the King was a lover of clean sport and his love was exemplified in his own behaviour as a sailor and horseman. Those interested in sport throughout the whole world feel, we are sure, that they have lost not only a beloved Monarch but also a sportsman of the first order.

More than forty students at the University of New Brunswick turned out to take part in the first of the Inter Class Hockey games over the week-end. The Juniors, who look like the best in the league this year, turned back the Seniors 7-5 in a fast game in which there was plenty of action, and Sophomores came out on the long end of 6-2 score against the rather slow-moving Freshmen.

Some pretty fair hockey was displayed by the Inter Class League players, with Doug Gemeroy turning in about the best performance of the series. Bill Jackson, Hec King, Lloyd Bartlett and Bob Keswick of the Juniors also looked good.

According to reports from the Hill, basketball prospects for the Red and Black look pretty good this year—as a matter of fact, Manager Ted DuChene thinks they will have this year one of the best teams they have had for a long time. Earl Steeves, sophomore, who hails from Moncton, seems to be one of the finds of the season. He has been turning in some fine work at the practices in the position of guard.

Ralph Freeze, former Fredericton High School hoopster, also looks good at the position of guard, and Capt. Scotty Donaldson, Les Inch and Hec McKinnon are "going like wildfire" on the forward line. Manager DuChene announces. So, if we can judge by the enthusiasm of the "Collich People," it looks as though the U. N. B. basketeers will go places this season.

Those entered in the singles include St. Andrew's, Carleton and Thistles clubs, all of Saint John, Fredericton, Moncton, St. Stephen, Newcastle, Bathurst, Dalhousie and Campbellton. Those in doubles include Newcastle, Bathurst, Dalhousie, Campbellton, Fredericton and Moncton.

The new doubles schedule with St. Andrew's out is as follows:

1. Campbellton vs. Fredericton.
2. Bathurst vs. Dalhousie.
3. Moncton vs. Newcastle.
4. Winner 1 vs. winner 3.
5. Loser 1 vs. loser 3.
6. Winner 4 vs. loser 2.
7. Winner 2 vs. winner 5.
8. Loser 4 vs. loser 7.
9. Loser 5 vs. loser 6.
10. Blair Cup final winner 6 vs. winner 7.
11. Consolation final, winner 8 vs. winner 9.

One change was announced also in the singles competition. From 8 to 10.30 p.m. tomorrow Fredericton is scheduled to play Dalhousie instead of St. Andrew's vs. Moncton from 10.45 p.m. 1.15 p.m., and St. Andrew's plays Moncton instead of Fredericton against Dalhousie as originally scheduled.
