Most Amazing Ring Reversal in History as German Battles Sensational Colored Man,
Winning by K. O. in 12th.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 19—Bruised, battered, and bewildered for the first time in his professional career, 22-year-old Joe Louis crumpled tonight and was knocked out by the veteran who didn't have a chance, Max Schmeling of Germany.

There was dynamite and drama inside the roped arena under sombre black skies, while a crowd estimated at 65,000 looked on in alternate amazement and admiration.

But Louis furnished neither as he toppled to the floor, a badly-whipped young Negro, and was counted out in the 12th round of a 15-round match.

Fighting with cool confidence from start to finish, and firing a right-hand that seldom missed its target, Schmeling completely upset expectations the predictions of just about 100 per cent of the ringsiders and Louis.

The German veteran floored the Negro for a short count in the fourth round, battered him unmercifully from there on and finished to his spectacular victory near the end of the 12th.

Louis, his eyes blinking, his face swollen and his efforts futile, virtually collapsed in that final round after taking two terrific smashes to the head. Staggering along the ropes, he was caught by another long right, a punch that barely connected, and he crumpled to the floor. The Negro, shaking his head slowly, rolled to his side and heard the count of "ten" for the first time in his ring career.

The Brown Bomber who had swept all before him in a meteoric two-year rise to the top of the fist world, who had been compared to the prize ring's all-time greats and rated invincible among present-day fighters, was blasted to defeat in an upset that staggered the fight critics.

Schmeling, 30 year old veteran and one time heavyweight champion, was not supposed to have a chance. They said he was "washed up" and no match for the dynamic young Negro.

But the only explosion tonight was set off by the smashing power of the German's right hand as Schmeling gained a ristic triumph comparable to Jimmy Braddock's upset victory for the championship just a year ago over Max Baer.

Earns Bout With Champ
Thus, as a consequence of the ring's two most startling form reversals in heavyweight annals, Schmeling won the right to fight Braddock for the title and the chance to be the first man to regain the throne. The German and the Jersey Irishman probably will fight in the Yankee Stadium this September.

The collapse of Louis was as complete as it was shocking to those who had all but put him on the pedestal of invincibility. From start to finish the youthful Negro not only failed to display his accustomed punching power and boxing skill, but his chocolate chin was a target for Schmeling's vicious right hand thrusts.

The fight proved Louis can "take it" beyond the palest shadow of doubt, for the one-time "Bomber" absorbed terrific punishment for the better part of 12 rounds.

Baffled by the bobbing and weaving German veteran, balked in most of his attempts to penetrate Max's crouching defence, Louis was equally unsuccessful in trying to block or duck the right hands that led to his downfall.

The Negro never recovered from the right hand smash, full on the side of the head, that sent him to the floor for the first time in the fourth round.

He had been making no particular progress during the first three rounds but neither Louis nor the crowd was prepared for the ferocity of that telling blow.

While the crowd roared and leaped to its collective feet, Louis half spun from the force of the blow and sank to the floor. On his brown face was a look of complete bewilderment.

Hurt and Dazed

They had told him this couldn't happen but it did, and he didn't know what to do about it. He was hurt and dazed but instead of taking the count that greater experience would have dictated, Joe leaped back to his feet and waded right back into more trouble.

There was no official count for this fourth round knockdown, but that was the beginning of the end. They said afterward that the Bomber had sprained the thumb of both hands, in the same round, but the fact was that the Negro boy was so badly shocked he could not again completely regain either his poise or stride.

JOE CRONIN

NEW YORK, June 20—Joe Cronin, who reputedly is on the spot this season, broke into the Red Sox line-up yesterday—a most propitious time, since the Sox had won only three of their last nine games—and stayed long enough to see the team safely harbored with an eight-run lead against the Indians before retiring in the fifth inning.

The Sox boy manager was at third base, a position he may cover as long as he is active, and Bill Werber, who has played the far corner heretofore, was shifted to left field in place of Heinie Manush, who is out with a leg injury. Cronin would like to keep Werber in the outfield, to give the team a right-handed hitting fly catcher.

Cronin is still hampered by the right thumb he broke in the second game of the season and goes to bat gripping a sponge to alleviate the pain when the bat strikes the ball. Nevertheless, it was an auspicious recovery that Cronin and the Sox made yesterday. Joe got two hits in three times up, driving in two runs and scoring two others. The Sox flashed their first display of batting power in some time as fourteen runs clattered over the plate.

Fandom in the Hub is as fickle as it is anywhere else. When the Sox were leading the league several weeks ago, there were worrisome effects that the team was stronger with Cronin directing the play from the sidelines. Then the team fell into a slump and the fans began to view the situation with a "wait 'til Cronin gets back" attitude.

Joe Can Drive in Runs

Well, Cronin is back and, if he is counted on to deliver an added punch, he isn't likely to disappoint. He can drive in runs, and with Jimmy Foss drawing so many intentional passes the Sox need some one to send Jimmy around the bags. Cronin may have had a bad year

Baseball Chatter

Says Jimmy Dykes—Cochrane can't get his pitching organized. Well, a little early to say that, and Greenberg will be out too long. Connie Mack tried Al Niemiec, the former Holy Cross star, and was pleased with his work. Not that the veteran did not like the work of Newsome but that he wanted to see how Holy Cross man would shape up and he was satisfied with his work.

Lou Smith, a native of Cincinnati, who has been writing golf for the Enquirer of that city for several years, succeed Jack Ryder as the baseball man of that paper. Heywood Brown has applied for a card in the Baseball Writers Association. He held a card before the war. Fred W. Tuerk, sports editor of the Peoria Star, has completed 25 years with that sheet. But Parmelee attributes his success with the Cards to the fact that he eschewed coffee and tobacco.

It will cost "Dizzy" $500 if he misses a train this season. Result—"Dizzy" is going good. The Cards will be here today for two games and one Thursday and with good weather there should be some good turnouts especially on the holiday. Joe Jackson, one of the sluggers of all time, at the age of 46, still keeps to the bat in the North Carolina textile mill district. Lou Warneke—the crack Cubs pitcher, knows how to knif. They tell us Art Shires is not what he was as a player, but his lip is as good as ever.

in 1935, but he still managed to drive in more runs than his mates.

His experience at third base is limited to only a few games he played for Kansas City, but it should not belong before he can adapt himself to the spot. It isn't nearly so hard to shift from the short field to third base as it is the other way round. He will be able to set himself for the throws to first, and he won't be required to cover much ground.

This is not a permanent change, and Werber may become a third baseman again. However, it is felt that both Cronin and Werber will stay put, and, if Manush is to replace any of the regulars, it will be Roger Cramer.
