The Danger of Cough Among the Children

In young children a cold or cough is not a thing to be disregarded, as it is often a grave matter, and unless attended to immediately it may eventually cause serious trouble.

On the first sign of a cold or cough the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup just the remedy required.

Its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm is such that the trouble may be checked before anything of a serious nature sets in.

Children like it; take it without any fuss.

HEARING DEVICES BRING HAPPINESS TO DEAF PERSONS

(By Dr. James W. Barton)

For a great many years it has been possible for those with poor eyesight to have glasses fitted by an oculist or optometrist that give them practically perfect vision. In addition, properly fitted glasses relieve headache and take away that tenseness and strain which often seriously affect the whole nervous system.

Until very recently those who were deaf had to be satisfied to carry around with them a "horn" which they put up to their ear when trying to carry on a conversation.

When a specialist makes a thorough examination of the ears and of the hearing and finds that there is nothing that he can do to restore or improve the hearing, he quite honestly says so. Unfortunately many patients when they are told this, naturally look around for someone or some thing that will help their hearing because to be deaf or hard of hearing creates a depression of spirits not found with those of poor eyesight or who are actually blind. This has led many of those who are hard of hearing to use all sorts of "medicines" and of course without success.

However, there are on the market a number of hearing devices or hearing aids that are so helpful that life has again been brightened for those who were in despair of ever hearing again —enjoying the church and theatre, and being able to join in the conversation about them.

There are two kinds of hearing aids electrical and non-electrical. The non-electrical are horns or speaking tubes and the "auricles" fit over the ear; these collect the sound waves, increase their volume, and bring the sound closer to the ear.

The electrical aid consists of a microphone, an amplifying or 'enlarging' circuit, and a receiver. Some of the best of these are a little large and cannot be hidden, whereas one hard of hearing naturally wants to hide his deafness or partial deafness.

In many cities at the present time there are branches of the American Society for the Hard of Hearing, the headquarters are at 1537 35th St., N.
W., Washington, D.C. One of the objects of this organization is to help the hard of hearing to obtain the proper hearing aids.

However, it would not be necessary for this excellent organization to help those who are hard of hearing to obtain the best possible hearing aids for their particular type or degrees of deafness if there were a properly equipped hearing aid department connected with each hospital ear clinic.

ADOLESCENT CHILD NEEDS GUIDANCE IN HEALTH RULES

(By Angelo Patri)

"But why don't you eat your meals, child? You can see you are losing weight and you know that girls of your age cannot afford that. I don't want to frighten you, but at your age we have to guard against loss of weight because it is likely to end in serious illnesses. Why don't you drink the milk I prescribed for you?"

"O, Dr. Willie, I don't want to drink it."

"I know, but what I don't know is the reason for your not wanting to when you must know that you need it. Can't you tell me what makes you dislike it?"

"I'm head and shoulders above any girl in my class, any girl in school even. If I keep on growing like that I'll be a regular freak."

"O-o. So that is it. If you eat your food and drink your milk you will grow faster, and you are afraid to grow into a giant? You are not going to be a giant, my dear. You will grow to be about six feet, a little under, like your grandmother."

"You make this growth during the next two years or so, and then you stop growing up and down, and grow round and round. But if you don't eat the food you need you will stop living, much less growing."

"Will you give me your word that I will stop growing before I am over six feet?"

"Certainly. You can't grow more than six feet, your family being what it is."

Children have queer notions at times. They try to find answers to their questions in their own limited experiences and often pick the wrong one. They do not know that they are wrong. They worry along, afraid to ask a question and get deeper and deeper into trouble.

The adolescent child is peculiarly affected by his own ignorance and his inexperience. When he shows some unusual lack of adjustment it is time to search for the mistaken thought that is nourishing it.

The children who are growing fast need instruction in sex, in health conservatism, in social adjustments. A few words fitly spoken are truly apples of gold for these distressed children.

FISH CHOWDER JUST THE DISH FOR SUPPER

Fish chowder is the very dish for the evening meal, and for at least three reasons: It's nourishing but not heavy, it's tasty, and it can be made without much effort at a time when most women are nearly ready for the relaxation they've earned by the day's household work. There are different recipes for fish chowders, of course, but here is one suggested by a fish cookery specialist on the staff of the Dominion Department of Fisheries, and how easy to use it!

Fry two-thirds of a cup of minced onion in three tablespoons of butter; then add two cups of flaked or diced raw fish—any kind of Canada's good fish—two cups of diced raw potatoes, and, if desired, a cup of chopped celery.
Cook the ingredients together for a few minutes, add four cups of cold water, and season with salt and pepper to suit the taste, and then let the mixture boil until the potatoes are tender; after that, add four cups of cold milk and heat the chowder again to the boiling point, and serve it when still very hot.

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 17.—The Fort William plant of the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, Ltd., will go into operation shortly for the manufacture of airplanes, it was learned here today on good authority.
Details of the plan could not be given out as yet, this source said, but it is understood the planes are intended for the British Government.

CORONATION PROGRAM TO BE SOUVENIR BOOK

32 Pages of Printing Art Will Give Full Details of Historic Pageant and Order of Ceremonies—Roy Scouts to Aid
Its Sale.

Preparations for the King's Coronation at Westminster Abbey next May include a beautiful Souvenir Programme. This programme as planned is to be a thirty-two page book, and a notable specimen of the printer's art, worthy of keeping as a permanent souvenir of an outstanding historic event. The cover will bear the Royal Coat of Arms in colors, and the leaf will carry a photograph of His Majesty, the King, facing a message to the Empire from the King himself, a photograph of Mary, the Queen Mother, faces pictures of her four other children—H.R.H. The Duke of York, H.R.H. The Duke of Gloucester, H.R.H. The Duke of Kent and H.R.H. The Princess Royal.

A poem by John Massfield, the Poet Laureate, follows and then an article entitled "The King's Majesty" by John Drinkwater, and one by Rector Bolito entitled, "King Edward the Eighth."

Five pages are given to the detailed order of the Coronation procession in London, including a map of the route. His Grace, the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury contributes an inroduction to the Order of Service, which latter is given eight pages of full detail, so as to supplement the radio broadcast, to which millions will be listening in throughout the British Empire, the United States and many other countries. By help of the programme the service may be followed with fuller appreciation of its historic tradition.

Then comes four pages devoted to the actual Coronation Ceremony followed by a genealogical table of the Royal Family from Queen Victoria down to the present King and the children of his sister, Mary Princess Royal, his brother the Duke of Kent, and the descendants of Princess Beatrice, youngest daughter of Queen Victoria.

By the King's expressed desire the proceeds of the sale of the Coronation programme are to be devoted to the King George V Jubilee Trust Fund, founded at the time of the 25th Anniversary of the accession of his late Majesty and Queen Mary to the throne. The purpose of this fund is to provide opportunities for physical culture and other advantages for underprivileged youth, a cause which the young King has long held close to heart.

Sale of the Coronation Programme will be in the hands of the stationery trade, and, during a period of some days immediately previous to the date of the Coronation, in those of the Canadian Boy Scouts, of whom His Excellency, the Governor-General will act as honorary chief of staff. No copies will be released for sale prior to April 23.

WHAT! NO NOTABLES?

For centuries, civic and military notables have been honored by a sort of standard sculpture. The generals and such were given monuments showing the hero with upraised sabre as-tride a prancing steed. Statesmen were portrayed in mortician coat, wrinkled trousers and with two fingers stuck in between their vest buttons.

You will be enchanted to know why the trousers in statues are always wrinkled. Fact is, if sculpture sculpted a man wearing what really looked like trousers, the result would look like a torso standing on a couple of cannon. For art's sake the trousers were wrinkled in cast iron.

Now come new and perplexing problems for the sculptors. It was bad enough that generals rode about in automobiles, but now comes Gen. Chiang Kai-shek of China who has just received his new military plane. It is twin-engines transport with richly upholstered sofas, convertible into beds, chairs, writing desks, conference room and all sorts of conveniences.

What is to be done to fix the birthplace of some future big-wig born in an automobile trailer? Maybe the thing will solve itself; maybe we aren't going to have any more notables.
