H. L. G.

Because baseball's in the air and because McLemore writes about it in an interesting way, we give you McLemore once again as a pinch hitter. Listen to more of Terry and his Giants, prior to that first series game:

"Frankie Frisch picked the Giants to win the first one before it started.

"The tough boss of the tough Cards, a chunk of cut plug the size of your fist in his jaw, his feet draped over the railing, gave off his opinion during the Giants' infield practice.

"They won't miss today," he said as Bartell dove to his left and came up with a hot one. "They've got it. I know those punks, and when they warm up like that, you ain't gonna beat 'em."

"Someone challenged Frisch's ability to call the turn on a team by the way it acted in practice.

"Okay. Have it your way. But I've been in a few of these series, and give me the nervous, jerky guys. You play better ball when you're scared and your belly's turning over. I don't know why, but you do. Those Giants are in today."

"It turned out that Frisch was right, but a right guy never came closer to being wrong. He missed by just one inch, for one inch more to the right and that curving line drive of Joe DiMaggio's in the eighth inning would have gone zinging on to right field, Frankie Crosetti would have scored the tying run, Red Rolfe would have been on second, DiMaggio on first, none would have been down, and 'biscuit pants' Lou Gehrig would have bunt up.

That the Frisco Kid's hit didn't go one more inch to the right, allowing Burgess Whitehead to stab it out of the mud and make it a double play, is due to that most fickle of all gods, Sister Luck.

She doesn't like DiMaggio — not this year, anyway. It was Sis Luck, you will remember, who pulled the strings in the all-star game earlier in the year, and placed the horns of the goat, instead of the halo of the hero, on the Frisco fisherman's head. In that game, he caught one square on the nose and Leo Durocher got it. A few inches either way and the bases would have been cleared.

"But it wasn't a 'few inches either way,' so he was a sucker. The same yesterday. He left the field a chump; Carlos Hubbell left it a hero. The positions might well have been reversed. Even the most frantic Giant fan wouldn't go so far as to say Hubbell called the turn on that one.

"But he won it, and there's no denying that the long-legged screwballer from Oklahoma deserved it. It wasn't his kind of a day, because it was cold, and a thin curtain of rain bathed him most of the way. Hubbell has reached an age where his arm needs the hot sun to be at its best. But up and down went the home squad. Lou Gehrig didn't hit the ball out of the infield. Neither did Bill Dickey. And Tony Lazzeri didn't get a scratch.

"He would have had a shutout but for the fact that a curve slipped off his fingers and gave George (Twinkletoes) Selkirk the kind he can powder—a straight one, chest high.

"That was Hubbell's only mistake. Yes, his only one, for that error they called on him when he handled Red Rolfe's bunt in the eighth was an error for the scorers, not for Carl. It was a base hit, and should have been recorded as such.

"Today it will be Hal Schumacher and Lefty Gomez. Schumacher will win it, putting the Giants two up. The Yanks will take the third one, but Hubbell will come back on Saturday to make it 3 to 1. After that your guess is as good as mine, but I'm still glad I called the Giants in six. The only thing I'm afraid of is that they'll win it in five and mar my reputation as a picker."

ANDY TOMMY, FORMER WOODSTOCK ATHLETE, AGAIN TO THE FORE

Rough Riders Are a Youthful, Brilliant Lot -- Tommy Only Seasoned Player

OTTAWA, Oct. 2—Much sooner than coach Bill Hughes expected, Ottawa's Roughrider Football team has become a young thing. It hasn't experience, reputation or any of those things—merely speed, youth, desire to get in there and fight from the drop of the hat.

It's that kind of outfit Toronto Argonauts will tangle with here today in the big four opening and nobody knows what will happen because Lew Hayman's Argos are almost as young and inexperienced as Roughriders.

Loss of Tony Rosso and Stan O'Neill, backfield stars, by the Big Four's decision to eliminate United States players from the circuit leaves Roughriders with a set of promising running and kicking halfbacks. They promise to accomplish big things—but they haven't accomplished them yet.

Little Andy Tommy, the speedster and Quarterback Arnie Morrison will contribute balance to the rear-division whose other members may be Jack Leore, Tom Daley, Rocky Rocanno, Blair Gilmour and Orville Burke. Tommy has been better than ever in practice and Morrison is regarded hereabouts as one of the best quarters in the Union.

Leore, Daley, Burke and Rocanno impressed Ottawa fans by their showing last Saturday when Roughriders defeated Queen's University 14-3 in

TRAINING IN HOME URGED BY BURTON

HALIFAX, Oct. 3—"Neglect, broken homes, lack of early self-discipline and lack of direction in home and school training," were listed today by C. L. Burton of Toronto, as causes for juvenile waywardness.

Chairman of the Ontario Industrial Schools Advisory Board and President of the "Big Brothers" Movement in Toronto, Mr. Burton said in an address to a service club here, "We still require a wider vision in the discovery and training of all our boys."

"More money spent, more time spent in junior years will save money for correction, for re-establishment, in adolescent years," he held, advocated a system of "prevention" rather than "punishment" to cure juvenile delinquency.

POLICE SMASH FLOORS AND SEIZE HUGE STILL

MONTREAL, Oct. 3—Royal Canadian Mounted Police today took ten men into custody for questioning in connection with a large still seized in northeast Montreal. The police party used picks and sledge-hammers to smash their way through the cement floor of a small factory to locate the still, estimated to have a capacity of 500 gallons. Four thousand gallons of mash were seized.

an exhibition game. Burke's brilliant forward passing was one of the highlights of this affair. Leore kicked well and Rocanno was a powerful secondary defence performer.

Burke coached the St. Patrick's College team here last season. Leore is two years out of junior company and Rocanno is making his senior debut. Roughrider supporters have high hopes for the young backfield, without Abe Eliowitz as leader for the first time since 1932. Big Abe is in Montreal's lineup.

Curly Moynihan, who was playing great football towards the end of last season, will hold down snap with Peanuts Saunders, a veteran, as his substitute. There is tremendous weight and strength—and not a little attacking force—on both sides of the wingline.

CANADIANS VISIT HISTORIC PLACES IN MARTINIQUE

(Special to The Daily Mail)

MONTREAL, Oct. 2—The departure of the 'Vagabond Cruise' ship 'Comedy' Canadian National Steamships, from the local port tonight will take another group of passengers on a 38 day voyage via Halifax to Puerto Rico, the French West Indies, Barbados, Trinidad, and British Guiana on the Coast of South America. One of the interesting incidents of this trip will be special calls south bound at the ports of Pointe au Pitre, Gadeloupe, and at Port De France, Martinique, French possessions known to all Caribbean travellers for their charm and loveliness. On the island of Martinique is a statue of Empress Josephine, the lovely consort of Napoleon in her coronation robes. On Martinique also stands Montpelier, which on the fateful May 8th, 1902, after many premonitory symptoms which she ignored by the majority of the people, commenced an eruption during which a huge mass of fiery vapor enveloped the town. Not a building escaped and it is computed that fully 40,000 persons instantaneously lost their lives through asphyxiation or burning. Following this departure of the 'Comedy' there will be two more sailings of these passenger carrying freighters before the St. Lawrence navigation closes, these taking place on October 29th and November 12th from Montreal over a similar route, after which departures will be made from Halifax on December 12th and December 26th before commencing the 1937 schedule of sailings.

On the present departure of the 'Comedy' tonight will be the following: Mrs. J. T. Aikman, Miss B. Bernier, Mrs. R. B. Foster, Miss M. Thorburn and Miss P. Thornton, all of Montreal. Those from other points will include J. A. Boucher, J. T. Poulin and Mrs. J. Valentine, Quebec City; Mrs. G. Slater, W. I. Hearst, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Little, Toronto; Miss Julian Jonick of New York City; Mrs. K. A. Laurie of Barbados; Mrs. F. L. Marquez of Trinidad.

Aberdeens Play Moncton Today in Softball Series

MONCTON, Oct. 2—The Moncton Britons, champions of this district, will meet Fredericton Aberdeens here tomorrow in the second and, if necessary, the third game of the series leading the provincial softball title. The local team, minus four regular players, was given a 16 to 2 lacing in Fredericton yesterday, but with a full lineup on hand tomorrow, is expected to offer the Fredericton collection a much better argument. Should Moncton win the first tilt tomorrow, the third and final game will be played in the afternoon.

TOURISTS BECOME COMMERCIAL AS WELL AS THRIFTY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 — Commerce department officials today sized up the American traveller abroad and decided that he isn't what he used to be.

At one time, remarked Charles E. Lyon, chief of the department's European information section, Americans abroad were "innocents" who "left a trail of gold dollars."

But now: "That day is past, and they are as sophisticated as any European traveller; they even expect to get their money's worth."

Lions, who spent several years in Europe as one of the department's foreign representatives, said that "most American travellers are no longer or tourists in the old sense," but are "largely business people on a fairly definite errand, some of them going abroad three or four times a year."

Although Americans are going abroad in large numbers this year, the total still is below the boom years of the twenties when, Lyons said, pleasure seekers stopped at the best hotels or rented villas, patronized the best shops and restaurants "and rarely asked the price."

"The situation has now been very generally altered," he continued.

"The Americans, travelling more generally in cabin steamers, are more commonly members of touring parties on an all-in cost basis; they patronize the less expensive hotels and shops."

SAYS GAS LEAST DEADLY FORM OF ATTACK FROM AIR

LONDON, Oct. 3—Gas, when used against a trained population, is the least dangerous form of air attack, declared Major S. Blackmore, Home Office expert, in addressing the Medical Practitioners Union tonight. It's greatest effect, he added, would be on the national morale.

Major Blackmore said there were three types of gas masks; namely, the service type, which would be used by the army; the civil duty type, which would be used by rescue parties and others in anti-gas work; and a mask for general use, which would last for five or six hours.

He said the Government had acquired a factory to manufacture the masks for general use. These will be kept in stores all over the country in readiness for use. It was not proposed to distribute them to the public in peacetime, he said, because they were delicately constructed and if distributed now might be found useless when the time to use them came.

Major Blackmore said it had been found that a child below the age of 4 or 5 could not wear the gas mask, and efforts were being made to solve that problem.

American League Club Won Second Series Game by Shelling Five Giant Hurlers -- Lazzeri Got Homer With Bases Loaded--Gomez Effective

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—World series skies cleared today in New York's baseball war, but there was another deluge just the same at the Polo Grounds.

Instead of the rainfall of the two previous days, the American League champion Yankees turned on a downpour of basehits that swamped the Giants by the record-smashing score of 18-4.

President Roosevelt was among the 43,543 who saw the Yankees emerge with a resounding roar from their hitting slump, batter five opposing pitchers, and coast to victory behind the erratic flinging of Vernon (Lefty) Gomez.

Clubbing their way back to even terms at one-all in the subway scramble for baseball's biggest money honors, the Yankees knocked Hal Schumacher from the box in the midst of a seven-run outburst in the third inning and continued an attack that was climaxed in the ninth by a six-run drive off Harry Gumbert.

This concluding blast in a game that dragged through two hours and 49 minutes, the longest in series history, crowned one of the greatest record-breaking sprees ever witnessed in championship competition. With an attack reminiscent of the palmiest days of 'Babe' Ruth and Company, the 1936 Yankees broke or tied at least nine world series marks.

Anthony Michael Lazzeri, the veteran second sacker who was supposed to be near the end of the playing trail, contributed the biggest wallop to the record books by belting a home run with the bases full in the third inning, off the relief flinging of right handed Dick Coffman.

Besides duplicating an achievement recorded only once before in series annals—by Elmer Smith of Cleveland against Brooklyn in 1920—Lazzeri drove home a fifth run with a long fly in the seventh inning, thereby wiping out a mark for runs—batted—in that he had shared himself with 'Babe' Ruth and six other world series batsmen.

Not even this record stood alone for long, however. Catcher Bill Dickey came through with a ninth-inning homer, with two men on, that tied him with Lazzeri for the new mark of five-runs-batted-in during a single series game.

The Yankees themselves shared the previous record single-game total of 13 runs, registered first by the Athletics against the Giants in 1911, equalled by the Giants against the Yankees in 1921, and tied by Ruth, Gehrig and Company against the Cubs four years ago.

The current National League champions, by tallying four times with the aid of Gomez's wildness, helped set a new total of 22 runs for a single series game.

The warring clans move across the Harlem River to the Yankee Stadium tomorrow, on even terms, with Freddy Fitzsimmons, the fat knuckle-ball pitcher of the Giants, slated to oppose friving (Bump) Hadley, who signalized his shift from Washington to New York this year by reeling off eleven consecutive victories.

It was a big break for Gomez that his teammates were in one of their warmest hitting moods this afternoon. The slender Castilian southpaw rarely has been more erratic.

ONT. HOCKEY CENTRE TO JOIN THE MAROONS

GANANOQUE, Ont., Oct. 3—Johnny Wing, of Queen's University football and hockey fame today announced that he intended to sign a professional hockey contract with the Montreal Maroons.

Wing, a Gananoque boy, will report in Montreal, Oct. 22. He considered offers from Detroit Red Wings and New York Americans before accepting the Maroon contract.

The college football and hockey star is a centre player and was the leading scorer on Queen's senior "B" Ontario Hockey Association team last winter. He was captain of the 1935 senior intercollegiate football champions and is also a noted paddler.

MAX SCHMELING MAY NOT GET CRACK AT LOUIS

BOSTON, Oct. 3—From information that came yesterday out of New York, it looks as if Max Schmeling will not get the chance with Jimmy Braddock that he expects. Informers say that Joe Louis and Braddock will engage in a battle in February and Atlantic City will be the scene of the bout.

Braddock will be rewarded for meeting Louis with a guarantee of $300,000 and, besides, he will have an option of 45 per cent of the gross receipts.

Herman (Muggsy) Taylor will promote with Mike Jacobs, and there is a possibility they will tell Schmeling they will match him with the winner. Undoubtedly, Convention Hall will be the place where Braddock and Louis will meet. The seating capacity of the place is 45,000, and at that time of the New Year should jam it with customers.

And from what they say, the prices to see the fracas will range from $5 to $100.

It was Charlie Harvey who arranged for John Henry Lewis to go abroad to fight Lon Harvey of England on November 3 at the Wembley Stadium, London. John Henry will receive $20,000 and all expenses for the trip and the combat.

Besides the guarantee, John Henry will have an option on the gate of 33 1-3 per cent of the take.

His party of five will be provided for in the expenses, and the money will be posted in New York. The moments the bell rings that money will belong to John Henry. He has agreed to stay in the vicinity of London three weeks and train for the combat.

"Melodic Strings" Features Music of Mozart

Alexander Chuhaldin will present his string orchestra to the National network listeners again on Monday, October 5, at 9.00 p.m., from the studios of the Canadian Radio Commission at Toronto.

"Melodic Strings" will first offer the "Overture" to "The Magic Flute," the last opera of Mozart's to be produced. It is of peculiar interest to music lovers, for it is one of the most extraordinary musical works ever given to the world. Set to a libretto which is absolutely ludicrous, the beauty of the music has caused this opera to be regarded as one of Mozart's finest achievements.

"Egyptian Ballet," suite in four parts, by Luigini, will add color and romance to this fine presentation by the internationally known orchestra and Chuhaldin's own arrangement of the Schubert-Wilhelmj "Ave Maria" will conclude the broadcast which marks the second in the fourth series for this great Canadian string organization.
