OCTOBER NOON

Last night the hills were draped in grey.

But in the sun of noon this day A million flaming angels stood Where yesterday had been a wood. In robes of scarlet, crimson, gold, With blowing banners manifold, With lifted trumpet, flashing sword, They hailed the glory of the Lord.

I hid my two eyes suddenly, Lest too much beauty madden me. —Theodosia Garrison.

John Linton, in the chair. Matters pertaining to the association were gone into, reports given and arrangements made for the general meeting. Cathedral Men's Club Favors Idea Museum and Library

The Cathedral Men's Club held their regular weekly meeting last evening in the Memorial Hall, Church street, with a large attendance. The opening prayers in unison were as usual led by Very Rev. Dean W. H. Moorhead. Being the first meeting of the month, or business meeting, there was a short discussion as to ways and means of the club activities.

Dr. A. A. Rowan spoke of the suggested Public Library and Museum for the city, speaking of the necessity and the great advantages of such a project to the community. The idea was very favourably commented on by R. P. Gorham, Very Rev. Dean Moorhead and others, and a motion by Dr. Rowan seconded by Harry Ryan, "That the Cathedral Men's Club do wholeheartedly endorse the suggestion of a Public Library and Museum for the City of Fredericton and pledge themselves to the support of such a project," was enthusiastically and unanimously carried.

R. P. Gorham then, in response to a request of the President, gave one of his ex tempore talks on the early history of Fredericton, choosing as his subject the activities of Capt. Freeman, one of the founders and planners of the City during the period of his residence in this vicinity, and a short resume of his after life with its steadily increasing sphere of responsibility. As usual, Mr. Gorham's thorough knowledge of this subject, and his inimitable narrative form of delivery held his audience deeply interested throughout his address, when the thanks of the meeting had been extended to Mr. Gorham. Play was resumed in the cumulative card tournaments, with the high score of the evening falling to Oscar Harris in the forty-five division, and Wayne Bebbington among the contractors. The usual light refreshments, followed by the National Anthem ended still another instructive and enjoyable evening for the Cathedral Men's Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Boulter of Currieburg have taken up residence at Hamtown Corner. Mr. Boulter has been appointed Manager of Ralph Neil's new farm on Royal Road.

W. J. Scott expects to leave next week for Los Angeles, Calif., where he will spend the winter.

Miss Mary Ann Bohan of Bath, N. B. is the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. Lynch.

"NORTHERN MESSENGER" TO OPERATE NOV. 7

OTTAWA, October 7.—Broadcasting of personal messages to friends and relatives of hundreds of residents in Canada's far north and Arctic regions will be a special activity of the Canadian Radio Commission each Saturday night during the fall and winter months starting November 7, at 11.00 p.m., EST, when the Commission puts into operation for the fourth consecutive season its famous "Northern Messenger" service.

These broadcasts, which are intended primarily to serve district agents, medical officers, nurses and other government officials stationed in northern Canada; R.C.M.P. detachments in the Canadian mainland and Arctic Archipelago; traders, trappers, settlers, miners, missionaries and all others throughout the Arctic and sub-Arctic regions, will originate in Ottawa and will be carried over the Commission's national network as well as by short-wave stations at Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg.

The Commission has announced that persons desiring to have messages transmitted to the north should address their letters to any Commission station or to the 'Northern Messenger' headquarters at Ottawa. All messages received will be transmitted as far as possible, during the first programme period following their receipt and must be of a purely personal nature, written in either English or French. Code messages will not be transmitted under any circumstances. It is likewise important that all letters should be as brief as possible. In order to serve the greatest number of northern listeners, the Commission will limit the number of messages for any one person, in any one broadcast, to a maximum of three whenever the traffic is sufficiently heavy to warrant this course, and it also reserves the right to strike out unnecessary words or phrases.

In order to give the same service to all listeners, messages will be arranged alphabetically and on November 7 the announcer will begin at the first of the alphabet and on November 14 at the end of the alphabet, alternating in this way, throughout the schedule which ends in May 1937.

The Commission plans to include in the broadcasts a short summary of the week's news, especially prepared by the Canadian Press. The opening of the series on November 7 will be in the nature of a special programme containing items of particular interest to Canadians and others living in the northern part of the Dominion.

STONES TO MARK GRAVE OF LAWRENCE

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A headstone and curb will be placed on the grave of Lawrence of Arabia in the country cemetery at Moreton, Dorsetshire, and work on the memorial has been begun by Eric Kennigston, artist and sculptor.

The grave is now unmarked except for a plain wooden notice-board but Lawrence's family will erect the memorial. An open book in stone is to stand at the foot of the grave. This open book was sculptured at Oxford by Mr. Kennigston and bears the inscription, "Dominus illuminatio mea" ("God is my light.")

The headstone is being inscribed "To the dear memory of T. E. Lawrence, Fellow of All Souls College, Oxford. Born 16th August, 1883; died 19th May, 1935. 'The hour is coming and now is when the dead all hear the voice of the Son of God.'"

OCTOBER

Comes now October, sky blue with golden scroll,
And puts aside the woodland's beautiful veil,
The violet springs anew, and the mole,

Upheaving earth, blocks far the leaf-strewn trail.

Peering 'tween trunks of autumn leafless trees
I see, deep sleeping in the meadows bright,

The lily-padded lake, whereon, at ease,
Rests the blue-winged teal from its long, northern flight.

Slow sinks the sun this Indian summer day
The voice of man, whose image scarce descried
Across the studded globe, sounds 'twere short way,

And lonely calls the loon at evening's tide.

The day is gone. In pensive mood I stay,
Marking the muskrats' silvery wake
As o'er the waters his etchings fade away,
Whilst wild duck winging upward leave the lake.

—George Law Curry.

D. S. MacDougall, Saint John, is a guest of the Queen hotel today.

S. G. Smith, Halifax, and H. L. Muir, Toronto, are registered at the Queen hotel.
