Mrs. Charles Johnston, a local lady, recently captured first prize at target shooting in Penniac, which was sponsored by the New Brunswick Guides. Possessed of a steady hand and eye, Mrs. Johnston showed superiority over all her rivals. The prize, and who would say this isn't dear to a woman's heart, was a coffee percolator.

Mrs. D. Leo Dolan, formerly of this city, and winner of the Quebec ladies golf title this summer, was beaten by Miss McDougall of Portland, Oregon, in the Canadian ladies' golf play this week. Mrs. Dolan scored an amazing victory in the Quebec play and was one of the favorites for the Canadian title.

The big three of turfdom, Discovery, Cavalcade, and Time Supply, are housed in adjacent barns on Narvansett's back stretch, and race today in the $25,000 Narvansett Special.

'Jimmy' Powers, the well known harness racing authority, and columnist in the Halifax Herald, is here on his annual pilgrimage, searching for racing history in the making, and incidentally meeting many old friends. The Fredericton exhibition races have become accustomed to 'Jimmy' Powers and are always on the watch for his pen pictures of the races, which appears in the Herald each fall. He is hard to mistake at the race track—a tall, distinguished person, smacking of an old Kentucky colonel, score card in one hand like Connie Mack, and ambling here and there eagerly scanning the field of starters. You always associate the Fredericton exhibition races with Jimmy Powers, because if you don't see him, well then you've heard of him and his column anyway. Welcome to this year's races, Jimmy.

This mark of 2.05 came near to eclipsing the track record as it was. Mildred May did it in the first heat of the Junior Free-For-All. She was kept from the first prize money by Bud Wenger, who captured the next two heats. The 2.05 mark is only one-quarter second shy of the track record.

WORLD SERIES WILL BE BIG MONEY MAKER

Record "Gate" Expected
in All New York Series
—"Five-Cent Series."

BOSTON, Sept. 16—Put the 1936 World Series on a five-cent basis—and it'll be the biggest money maker of them all.

Baseball officials, representing the American and National Leagues, the New York Yankees, A. L. titlists, and the four possible N. L. representatives, the New York Giants, St. Louis Cardinals, Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates, have come to that conclusion after settling the series dates in conference with Commissioner Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

The present record, established by the Yankees and Cardinals in a seven game series in 1928, is $1,207,864. But with the seating capacity of the Yankee Stadium, now increased to accommodate 63,300, while the Polo Grounds, home of the Giants, has an official capacity of 47,000, 13,000 more than Sportsman's Park in St. Louis, that record is doomed—if the five cent plan is adopted.

Whatever National League, Giants, Cubs or Cardinals, wins the N. L. race will have the honor of opening the series on its own grounds. Contending club owners have agreed that the first two games of the series will be played in the National League Park on September 30 and October 1. The Yankee Stadium will be the site of third, fourth and fifth games, on October 2, 3, and 4 or (if a day is required for travelling between Chicago or St. Louis and New York) on October 3, 4 and 5. The sixth and seventh games will be played on the National League Park on succeeding days, October 5 and 6 (if it is, indeed, a subway series) or on October 7 and 8 (if either the Cardinals or Cubs are the N. L. representatives)—another extra day for travelling being required for travelling between New York and Chicago or St. Louis.

Exclusive broadcasting rights for the series have been "sold" to the Ford Motor Company for the third successive year for $100,444. Judge Landis has announced. This will be prorated among the contending players, clubs, leagues and commissioner's office on the customary percentage basis.

A five-cent series—Yankees vs. Giants—played before sellout crowds would need to last only four days to top the all-time money record—for the daily receipts at the Stadium would approximate $250,000 and at the Polo Grounds, $215,000.

The customary World Series prices—bleachers $1.10, unreserved grandstand $3.30, reserved grandstand $5.50 and boxes $6.60—will prevail. Reserved seats will be sold, as formerly, only in strips of three games.

HAGEN ON HUNTING TRIP
TALKS OF HIS PET HOBBY

TORONTO, Sept. 16—"What do I think of His Majesty's golf?"

As Walter Hagen, veteran international golfing star, repeated the question, he squinted over the sights of a new hunting rifle that he had purchased in Toronto. He laid the weapon on the Royal York Hotel bed with a look of satisfaction, as if he were addressing a "We shall see" to the moose he expects to meet this fall at his camp in Northern Michigan.

Daring Sportsman
"Now, at the start we might as well agree," he added, "that there are a lot of things about His Majesty's sportsmanship and that kind of thing that we can take for granted, just as the world takes it for granted. Good. First of all, he is daring. That is a natural quality for a sportsman, and the number of sports he has participated in shows that he has plenty of it."

"Second, he knows how to fall. Understand? In other words, any sport has its ups and downs, and ability at any one of them, among other things, means landing right side up when you fall. The one who can do this is a natural sportsman, and in this the Prince—er, I mean His Majesty—qualifies easily. That is saying a lot for a great man, because the falls are relatively heavier for him. "The King has a natural ability for any competitive activity. I should say," added the golfer. "What make him still more a top-notch is his unusual powers of observation, concentration and judgment."

"In what branch of golf does his Majesty excel?" the interviewer asked.

"He plays an all-round game. Naturally, he would, possessing those qualities," was the reply.

"How do his scores run?" Hagen picked up the gun and reflectively fondled its butt.

Hopes For Game
"No business man," the golfer replied, "can expect to go direct to the course from his office and shoot par golf. I say that with experience and feeling, in view of my performance this week. However, I didn't expect to make much of a showing"

"But His Majesty's score?" pursued the interviewer.

"He has great powers of concentration, as I said," continued Hagen, apparently ignoring the plea as he sighted an imaginary moose in the upper southwest corner of the room and squeezed the trigger. "But if he could really take up golf in earnest and so concentrate still more, I believe"

NEW LIGHT ON THE ALPHABET

(Philadelphia Inquirer)
Who invented the alphabet? No one, of course; like Topsy, it just "grewed." Scholars have devoted many years to the possible origins of the Greek, Hebrew, Egyptian, Aramaic, Phoenician, Arabic and Latin alphabets, and found curious resemblances and differences among them. These are only a few of the many. So far as we are concerned, the Hellenic is our orthographical ancestor. The rest belong to the tribes without the law.

But there are three inscriptions by the ancient Etruscans, who lived in what is now Etruria, which seem to show that the Romans got their alphabets directly from the Greeks. There are in the University Museum of Philadelphia and the Metropolitan Museum in New York; and Dr. Fiesel of Yale has devoted intensive study to them. This is going back to 800 B. C., or earlier, though, of course, there were alphabets before that. How many years, for example, has one existed in China? The point which Dr. Fiesel has cleared up is the pronunciation of the Etruscan X, which seems to have been the equivalent of "s" or "sh," suggesting that the Etruscans brought their alphabet to Italy from Asia.

This is merely a link in the chain of evidence. Is it possible that we owe a debt to the Semitic as well as the Hellenic languages? The connection is not clear. But neither are some other connections that have been noted.

Heve, judging from the many times I've played with him, that His Majesty would play in the 20's consistently."

"But his real score"
Hager rattled the breach. "He's got a nice style, and really knows the game. Hope I can play a couple of rounds with him when I go over this time. See if I can bring him up in the American style. He knows the British all right. Had a lot of tutoring in that from Compson and others."

"But his score"
The golfing star smiled. "Oh, anywhere from 73 to 84, but they say he's improved a lot since I played with him last."

MRS. DOLAN IS BEATEN IN GOLF
CONSOLATION

DIXIE, Que., Sept. 16—The defending champion Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, went out of the Canadian women's open golf championship today as the first tournament fireworks spluttered over oyal Montreal, leaving a line-up of four Canadians and four United States shots for the quarter-finals.

The great Toronto golfer was blasted from her sixth quest of the open title by Mrs. Thomas D. Rudel of New York 2 and 1. Other favorites, red-headed Margery Kirkham of Montreal and pretty Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., paraded through the second round.

Miss Miley shared the work of eliminating Western Canada's last hopefuls, defeating Barbara Northwood of Winnipeg, 4 and 3, while Mrs. A. B. Darling of Montreal trounced Vancouver's Mrs. W. M. Silcock 7 and 6.

Mrs. D. Leo Dolan of Ottawa, one-time resident of Saint John, also was knocked out of consolation championship play, losing 4 and 3 to Mrs. R. H. Holmes of Toronto.

GIANTS CLING
TO 4-GAME LEAD
OVER CARDS

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—The Giants drew a step nearer the National League flag today, although getting only an even break in a double-header, marking their season finale against Pittsburgh Pirates.

Three hits and a walk in the fourth inning accounted for all the Giants' runs as they pulled out a 2-1 decision in the opener. Old Waite Hoyt had too much stuff for them in the night-cap and the Pirates won another pitching duel, 4-3.

Since the second place Cardinals also split their two starts in Philadelphia the even break left the Giants 4 1-2 games in front with only 11 to play.

The Dodgers warming up for their stretch series with the league-leading Giants at Brooklyn belted Cincinnati Reds in both ends of a doubleheader, 7-4 and 10-2.

PICKLES AND PRESERVED VEGETABLES

Canada's imports of canned vegetables were valued at $20,471 in July as compared with $28,131 in July last year. The amount from the United States was worth $13,139, followed by France with $2,544. Imports of pickles and sauces were worth $36,116 as against $28,465, of which $20,398 came from the United Kingdom and $10,167 from United States. Among the domestic exports of pickles and canned vegetables were 627,644 lbs. of canned beans valued at $24,654, 3,075,964 lbs. of tomato paste, pulp and puree at $131,669, other canned tomatoes, 554,970 lbs. at $22,830, and other canned vegetables 363,817 at $27,322. In all cases the United Kingdom was the leading purchaser, and in the case of tomato paste the only buyer. Newfoundland was another leading purchaser.

SKET SHOOTING IS CATCHING ON IN A BIG WAY

300 Experts at Event in
St. Louis This Week

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 15—Skeet, one of the fastest growing sports in the United States, will draw 300 of the nation's outstanding marksmen here for its second national tournament, September 15-19.

Nine championship events are scheduled on six fields erected here for the shoot, which will be governed by the new revised plan of skeet that went into effect September 1.

This plan embodies the new angle rule, which simply means that targets are thrown at an angle across the front of the shooting range instead of straight across.

This new legislation is expected to make perfect scores less frequent, and is a safety measure designed to protect shooters from flying fragments of clay birds on direct shots.

Some idea of the growth of the sport can be gained from a report of Henry Ahlin, secretary of the Skeet Shooting Association. He informs that since its organization 10 years ago by William H. Foster, the game has spread to such extent that an average of six clubs a week is being organized all over the country.

BROCKTON FAIR
RACES LURE
MASS. FAIR FANS

BOSTON, Sept. 16—While interest soars in the various features that will be offered at the Brockton Fair this week, the trotters and pacers are certainly attracting their share of attention.

Some of the light harness horses will take the "Go" of the starter during the week.

And two of the local clubs, the Metropolitan D. C., and the Old Colony D. C., of Weymouth will send their best representatives for the attractive purses that have been offered.

Fred Green, who has been directing the racing publicity department and doing a fine job, by the way, broadcasts that there is more interest in the harness events this year than has been evident for several seasons.

The automobile races are attracting wide attention, also, and the dare-devils of the track promise genuine thrills for the multitude who will crush into the stands each day.

The Fair opened with various stunts under the lights and sport will be ushered in on the race track, the midway and other places.

In Cleveland was a distinct success. It proved conclusively that skeet rapidly is passing trap-shooting as a scatter-gun sport, and that its annual tournament is approaching trapdom's classic at Vandalia, O., in popularity.

Helen Doherty, pretty debutante, holds modern views, and she said at a luncheon in Washington:

"Some men growl about the disappearance of the womanly woman. What do they mean by the womanly woman?"

"A police court magistrate looked down at the prisoner in the dock, a big brutal-looking wretch."

"What," he said 'is the prisoner charged with?'

"'Beatin' up his wife, yer honor,' said a policeman, 'but the woman has just sent in this written statement to declare he didn't touch her.'"

"Humph. Why isn't the woman here to testify in person?"

"She's ashamed to show herself, yer honor, with a broken nose and two front teeth knocked out."
