

CUPID ONCE MORE
DRAWS MEAN BOW

We have it on the authority of Robert Louis Stevenson that "Most people are just one couple more," and also, "That there are some people upon whom Cupid does not waste his golden arrows." Nevertheless, every youth each 14th of February has an itchy feeling about his heart and every male not yet a centenarian feels that perhaps after all he "really is as nifty as he was in 1850."

Yes, the little blind god is still a master archer—every arrow right to the mark, with due allowance for windage, and every arrow drawn right to the ear. The little archer still pulls as fine a bow as ever and each roving shaft sinks into the hapless quarry right to the feathers.

When all is said and done, Dan Cupid pulls as good a bow as the English archer in the battle of Chevy Chase of whom they sang:

"Then at the great Eral Douglas
So right a shaft he set,
The grey goose quill that was thereon
In his heart's blood was wet."

Watch your step this year, he may have you on his list.

WORLD DAY OF
PRAYER OBSERVED
IN FREDERICTONImpressive Service at George Street Baptist Church Here

As part of the World Day of Prayer observance, a large congregation assembled in the George Street Baptist church here, yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the United Women's Missionary Societies of Fredericton. The meeting was part of the official programme of the Inter-Board committee of the Women's Missionary Societies of Canada.

Mrs. Elmer Close, president of the George Street Baptist unit was in charge of the meeting. Opening Scripture prayers were read by Mrs. Kimmins of the Salvation Army. Mrs. Richardson of the Cathedral gave the responsive. The ceremony throughout was participated in by the large gathering, and was very impressive.

The leaders in prayers were Mrs. J. W. Battlett of Wilnot Church; Mrs. David Ferguson, United Baptist; Mrs. P. J. Trafton of Reformed Baptist Church; Mrs. C. A. McVey, of St. Andrew's Church; and Mrs. E. Perkins of St. Anne's Parish Church.

Mrs. George Telford gave a very interesting address on The Purpose of the World Day of Prayer. Miss Lillian Bailey rendered a solo, and several hymns were sung by the congregation. The organist was Mrs. R. B. Vandine.

The concluding prayer of the meeting was that every nation may unite in the common bonds of Christianity and the youth may see in Christ their real model to follow, and that homes be restored in Christ through the efforts of the women throughout the entire world.

Valentine Party at St. Paul's

The Young People of St. Paul's Church held a valentine and social party last evening under the direction of E. A. Skene. The programme was divided into two sections. The first consisted of an entertainment. Three musical numbers were rendered by Douglas Breen, who gave a vocal solo, Stewart Belmore a trumpet solo, and Miss Phyllis Montgomery a vocal solo. The second portion of the programme consisted of several games and skits. Frank Vanstone conducted the games. Those taking part in the skits were Miss Jo Belyea, Ralph Bailey, Douglas Breen, Frank Vanstone and E. A. Skene. At ten o'clock refreshments were served and an enjoyable evening brought to a close.

Wilnot Young People Social Evening

A delightful social was held last evening for a large gathering of the Wilnot Young People Society with the Marysville Young Peoples as guests, under the Social Committee's leader Vernon Box, ably assisted by Charles McCordick and an entertaining programme of prose and song provided by local and guest talent. Valentine colors decked with hearts formed an attractive appearance about the room, adorning the various parts. Basing his talk upon the parable, A New Life in Christ, an excellent address was delivered by Rev. M. D. Oliver during the devotional exercises. Two humorous readings, When the Minister Comes to Call, and The Unfortunate Girl, were given by Miss Jacqueline Everett. A solo rendered by Mrs. Oliver, accompanied by Miss Mildred Barbour. A number of accordion solos were presented by Tracy McFarland, followed by a piano solo by Miss Marjorie Erb and a solo by Miss Mary Dow accompanied by Larry Dow. These, finely prepared and delivered were a delightful contribution to the evening's programme. A great favorite of the evening was an instrumental ensemble, Murray Greer, Ralph McClellan, Chester Lyons, Jack Black, Manzer Bunker and Donald Cummings. An entertaining and recreational period was enjoyed during which refreshments were served and followed by Auld Lang Syne.

Mock Parliament at St. Dunstan's

The third election of the Mock Parliament in the Royal Kingdom of Regent (Regent Street School) was held on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and was witnessed by a large audience as well as teachers and pupils. A general excitement prevailed in the Kingdom on Thursday, but by Friday it was intense. Supporters for each party upholding their standards by canvassing the school grounds for their party; adorning the blackboards of the higher classes with advertisements and by strewing signs about the halls and other parts of the building. There were two parties formed, the Whigs and the Remodelers, the two candidates being John McNulty, Leader for the Whigs, and Ben O'Leary, Leader for the Remodelers. The members of each Cabinet then gave their platforms and were received by various bursts of applause. The speakers were as follows: Hon. Constance Hovey, Whigs, Minister of Public Works; Hon. Gertrude Lorette, Remodelers, Minister of Public Works; Hon. George Cormier, Whigs, Attorney-General; Hon. Mary D'Amour, Remodelers, Minister of Education; Hon. Mary Simcock, Whigs, Minister Without Portfolio; Hon. Kathleen Bowling, Remodelers, Minister Without Portfolio; Hon. James O'Neill, Whigs, Minister of Health; Hon. Nora Cain, Remodelers, Minister of Health; Hon. Raymond Goodine, Whigs, Minister of Education; Hon. Gilbertte Robichaud, Remodelers, Attorney-General; Hon. Arthur Poirier, Whigs, Minister of Recreation; Hon. Kathleen Rydeout, Remodelers, Minister of Recreation; Rt. Hon. John A. McNulty, Whigs, Premier; Rt. Hon. J. Ben O'Leary, Remodelers, Premier. The election speeches were excellently delivered with Dick Goodine in the chair. The secret voting now began. Grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 taking part, the ballots counted, and it was found that the Whigs were in power with a majority of 14. Next Friday the Royal Parliament will open with much ceremony, with Rt. Hon. John A. McNulty as Premier and Rt. Hon. Ben O'Leary as Leader of the Opposition. Visitors are very welcome. E. J. Carten, Principal, presided.

Enjoyable Thimble Party Held

An enjoyable subscription thimble party was held last evening at the home of Mrs. F. A. Good. The hostesses were Mrs. Jack Allen, Mrs. John Page, Mrs. Louise Bailey and Mrs. Good. The guests did fancy work during the early part of the evening following which an enjoyable programme was carried out. The programme included vocal solo by Mrs. Ashley Estabrooks and Miss Mary Sherwood of Moncton who also gave several interesting impersonations. Miss Netta McMillan gave two enjoyable readings and each one of the guests made a contribution in the way of a story, a joke, singing, or a musical number. A substantial amount was realized for the work of the Brunswick Street Baptist Church.

At the Piano During Valentine Tea

At the enjoyable Valentine Tea which was held recently at Fraser Memorial Hall Mrs. J. E. Sewell and Miss Jean Smith added materially to the enjoyment of the function by giving several piano selections while the guests were being entertained.

DUSTY PINK
OUTRANKS RED
FOR VALENTINES

How'll you have your Valentine sentiment this year? Flowery and romantic, or flippant and gay?

They're both to be had in the 1937 crop of tokens dedicated to the memory of the good St. Valentine who died a martyr in Rome along about 270 A. D.

Outstanding features of the new valentines are their use of dusky pink tones replacing the time-honored red, a return to more frankly sentimental messages, a neglect of Cupid in favor of such messengers as dogs, cats, and humorous human figures.

Sweethearts get the most elaborate offerings, wives do almost as well followed by mothers and husbands. Next come fathers, grandparents, brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, cousins and friends. There are hearty messages of cheer for the sick, and greetings for Valentine birthdays.

Typical is the one addressed, "To a Man I Know," and adorned with amusing drawings of men of various types:

Some men have pep,
And some have looks,
And some have clothes
Like fashion books.
And some have brains,
And some have cheer,
But you've got everything, Old Dear!
Guess that makes things pretty clear, huh?
If the lady would be briefer, and if her complexion is right, she might prefer:

If you're a guy wot likes a blonde,
I'm sure that I would do.
But if you should prefer brunettes,
Big boy, I'd "dye" for you.

If she doesn't care about cloaking her romantic notions in the disguise of humor, she'll select one addressed "To My Sweetheart" or "Boy Friend" which goes into an analysis of all the endearing charms of the beloved, printed in a setting of flowers and hearts.

A charming lady leafing through a photograph album greets her husband in this manner:

Just looking them over,
The big and the small,
The handsome, the homely,
The short, and the tall,
The stout ones, the thin ones,
The wealthy ones, too—
Just looking them over,
And glad I have You!
(Now grumble about the way she makes coffee, if you've the heart to, brute!)

A man's sweetheart may be told she's "One in a Million" by way of a card featuring lace and flowers, or get a verse which tells all about how her beautiful eyes and angelic disposition have brought joy to the heart of her man. Or she may get the same general idea in something like this:

A bone for the puppy,
A mouse for the cat,
Garbo for some guys,
But for me, not that.
There's one thing that's certain,
As true as can be,
The same now as always—
It's you, pal, for me!

"Democracy - that's ME"

"I've been keeping an eye on Europe lately," said Mr. Picobac of Essex Centre, applying a match. "But I find that one eye is not enough. I'm getting cross-eyed."

Mr. Picobac chuckled between puffs, while the incense of prime, fresh-lit Canadian Burley spread like a benediction of peace, comfort and human kindness to all the brotherhood of man.

"They're getting too far away from democracy over there," said he, shaking his head. "I tell you us folks in Canada ought to be glad we're here."

"Look the world over," commanded he, passing his "SEAL-TIGHT" Picobac pouch. "Where do you find the happiest people? Tell me that. Isn't it in the democratic countries — countries patterned after old England? And of all the democratic countries of the British Empire where can you find the beat of Canada? . . . The land where every man is as good as his neighbour."

"And most of 'em a danged sight better," agreed Cy Parker, the postmaster, settling down for a mild . . . cool . . . sweet smoke.
