SCORN ATTEMPT TO STAMPEDE PEOPLE OF ENGLAND INTO A WAR

The British Press Is Appalled By International Mess

But Wide Divergence is Voiced as to Means and Methods of Solution and in Placing Blame

DOUBT VALUE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Beaverbrook For Full Isolation—Let the Rest of the World Go

LONDON, Sept. 11—Beyond agreeing that international affairs are in an appalling mess, a survey of British opinion, as manifest in the dailies, weeklies, and the monthly magazines, reveals an astonishing divergence of views.

The survey indicates that Premier Chamberlain is following a course favored by the moderate Conservatives, with the Right wingers hammering him on one side and the radical Conservatives, the Liberals and Laborites on the other, while the extreme Left is assailing him with livid, incandescent passion.

The National Review for September declares that the existing deplorable situation is a result of the middle-headedness of the past Governments breaking the alliance with Japan and supporting the League of Nations and collective security. The National Review sheds no tears for the Chinese.

Favors Deal With Duce

In Europe it advocates a deal with Mussolini, including recognition of the conquest of Abyssinia. This should suppress Geneva.

Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail is running as leading editorial a play, the scene of which is the Foreign Office, where the fallacy of supporting the League of Nations is demonstrated daily. The need is stressed of a close friendship with Hitler and Mussolini.

J. L. Garvin's Observer sees England as "democracy in a fog," and bewails "the lying and counterlying" and "the attempts to stampe the good-natured people of England into war." The Observer regards the League of Nations as largely clogged nonsense and the advocates of collective security as war-mongers, in fact, as perverters and creators of prejudice.

The Conservative Right Wing obviously is desperately frightened by future prospects and fairly itches for British pacts with the Nazis, Fascists and Franco.

The League Covenant should be swept into the dustbin and burned, they assert.

The Times, the Morning Post and the Telegraph are more moderate and fairly well behind the Government policy. The Spectator is deeply disturbed by the Mediterranean situation and practically brands the Italians as pirates.

SCIENCE IS REPLACING GLAMOUR BUT MOUNTIE STILL GETS HIS MAN

OTTAWA, Sept. 11—The grand old days of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police when a scarlet-coated Mountie kept law and order in a few thousand square miles of territory with a six-shooter and a horse, are about over.

Most of the horses are gone and now the Mounties are investing $10,000 in scientific gadgets to help them catch their man. They are building a crime-detection laboratory, complete with microphone, ballistic gauges and cameras and the time may come when Mounties will carry magnifying glasses instead of guns.

Assistant Commissioner S. T. Wood, when he was in Europe with the Coronation troop of Mounties, studied

N. B. HAS LOWEST UNEMPLOYED, SAYS S. R. NOBLE

(Special to The Daily Mail)

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Sept. 11—New Brunswick has the smallest percentage of unemployed of any province in Canada according to S. R. Noble, assistant general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada and former York County man.

Mr. Noble spoke of conditions of unemployment and remarked upon the fact that New Brunswick has the smallest percentage of its population unemployed by any province in Canada. The statistics showed that where New Brunswick had from one to two percent of unemployed, in Canada as a whole the percentage was 10 percent, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island were next lowest after New Brunswick.

1827-THE EXHIBITION-1937

WHEN THE DOORS OF THE FREDERICTON EXHIBITION swing open at seven o'clock tonight they will open on one of the best exhibitions that was ever held in this city. Almost from the close of the Exhibition last year up to the present time the Directors of The Fredericton Exhibition and their secretary, C. L. Sypher, have been working hard towards making this year's exhibition one of the best, if not the best, in its long history.

In addition to the large number of entries in the different departments of the Exhibition, the outdoor attractions this year will surpass anything ever put on in this city. Indications from all over the Maritime Provinces and the State of Maine point to the fact that the Exhibition this year will be more largely attended than ever before.

The Fredericton Exhibition is one of the oldest in British North America. In fact, it has been stated that outside of an exhibition held in London early in the 18th century, that it is the oldest exhibition in the British Empire. Away back on October 9, 1827, one hundred and ten years ago, Sir Howard Douglas, the then Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, and patron of the Exhibition, opened our first Fair in front of the old Provincial Hall, or Parliament Building. The Old Parliament Building was situated on the site of the present building and the fair grounds extended out along the front of Parliament Square. The different articles such as mats and women's-wear and the like were shown in the Parliament Building whilst the live stock were distributed about the Square. Later, exhibition buildings were erected at different times within this city. The site of the first Exhibition was at the corner of Westmorland and Saunders streets. The then site of the Exhibition is now covered with buildings and city streets. The race-track connected with the Exhibition extended back to the vicinity of where the Hart Boot & Shoe Company and the John Palmer Company factories now stand. This was the first one mile track established in British North America and was given over to running races and hurdle races. Both of the early exhibition buildings were burned, one of them being purposely set on fire. For many years the Exhibitions were held bi-annually, and a few years ago it was decided to make our local show an annual affair. The plan has fortunately turned out successful and, according to all indications, this year's Exhibition promises to be the most successful of them all.

W. G. CLARK, M.P.

Vice President Fredericton Exhibition, will speak this evening

Mediterranean Patrol Well Underway

(Special to The Daily Mail)

LONDON, Sept. 11—The Mediterranean patrol got under way yesterday. France and Britain are to control the main waters. All vessels that will not conform to the rules will be branded as pirates. The waters will be divided into three zones: Gibraltar to Malta, which will be patrolled by Great Britain and France, and Russia is to control the Eastern Mediterranean, while Italy is being asked to patrol the waters between the two zones. The Balkan States say that they could not supply ships on account of their navies being so small. Strong destroyers and aircraft carriers will all be placed at intervals.

BRITISH SEAMEN ON STRIKE, SYMPATHY WITH THE CHINESE

(Special to The Daily Mail)

HONG KONG, Sept. 11—British seamen are going on strike. They ask for a 50% increase in wages because they say that the freighters are working or bringing coal to aid the Japanese and their sympathies are all with China.

TUTORS FOR MT. ALLISON WILL BE ADOPTED

SACKVILLE, Sept. 11—The dawn of a new era in education in the Maritimes may result from the introduction of the "tutorial plan" at Mount Allison University here by Professor Charles A. Krug, dean of university men, who recently returned from a year in England, during which he made a study of the educational systems both there and on the Continent.

Prompted by statistics which show that only 30 per cent of those who enter Canadian universities reach graduation day without failures, and that 45 per cent never graduate at all, and the fact that the unemployment figures today show that the university graduate is on trial, the faculty of Mount Allison realize that the time for half measures is past and that the tutorial plan, that has been so large a factor in the greatness of Oxford and Cambridge, should be adopted at Mount Allison, it was stated.

"WE WILL FIGHT," SAYS ABERHART

Social Credit's Back Is Against Wall, Alberta Premier Tells Rally—Denies Veto Right.

MAYERTHORPE, Alta., Sept. 11—Newspapers are making "an awful mistake when they say our legislation has been disallowed and that is the end of it," Dr. W. W. Cross, Alberta Minister of Health, declared at a Social Credit rally here last night. Mayerthorpe is about 65 miles northwest of Edmonton.

No Blood From Stones

Premier Aberhart, who also addressed the meeting, referred to the disallowance, declaring the British North America Act "gave the Province the right to its own credit. They can hammer away and say it is ultra vires, but you cannot take blood out of a stone."

Alberta has a right to control its own affairs as long as it does not interfere with Saskatchewan or any other Province, the Premier said.

"We don't want to fight Ottawa," he added. "We just want to go ahead. We want the right to develop the wealth of this Province for our own people. Our backs are against the wall now. We cannot go any further back, so we're going to fight."

Premier Aberhart, who in an address in Edmonton Sunday night charged Right Hon. R. B. Bennett with "inconsistency" for defending the Dominion's right to veto Provincial laws, made a similar charge here against Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

No Hot Air

"Mr. King has not got control of the credit of this country yet although he promised to do it," Mr. Aberhart said, after quoting statements he said the Dominion Premier made at Saskatoon prior to the Federal election of 1935.

"And when we take the first step forward to give you people the control of your own credit, we are told it is by this same gentleman that it is disallowed."

Dr. Cross declared Premier Aberhart never "shoots hot air."

Mr. Aberhart said Alberta promised not to take anything from the banks and would pay them for everything they do for the Government.

Grey Owl who is famed for his knowledge of beavers gained during many hours spent with his pen at his camp in northern Ontario is going to England to lecture on Canadian wild life. His lecture tour will last from the end of this month until the end of December.

Once a trapper the tall woodsman changed his outlook completely some years ago and has become one of the best known advocates of wild life conservation in North America.

ARCHIVIST WILL THWART ABERHART BY GETTING COPY OF B.N.A. ACT

OTTAWA, Sept. 11—Dr. J. F. Kenney, Acting Dominion Archivist, will send to London, England, for a certified manuscript copy of Canada's Constitution, the British North American Act.

His action is in reply to Premier Aberhart's statement that "nowhere can there be found the original copy of the British North America Act."

"Yes," said Dr. Kenney, "that story has been going around for some time, and if Mr. Aberhart had said that the original copy was not in Canada, he would be correct. It is not, and as far as I know, there is no authentic copy of the original B.N.A. Act in Canada; that is, no certified copy of the original manuscript.

"But I have no doubt whatever that it is on the rolls of the British Parliament. Further, it was published in the British Statutes of 1867, and was copied into the Canadian Statutes of that year.

"I don't think that any one would dispute the correctness of the copy; certainly, the courts uphold it. Just to settle the question, I'm going to send over and have a certified manuscript copy made."
