Advocates Auto Regulations For New Brunswick

Why not have some system whereby those who have driven cars year after year and who have never met with an accident get a lower license fee or some other concession, as against those who have been in one or several accidents. Those who have been convicted of "drunken driving" and those who have been in frequent accidents of which they have been the cause either through carelessness or through excessive speeding and the like should have their license cancelled" said a well known engineer speaking to The Daily Mail today. How long he continued, would a railway company keep a man as an engine driver, who had a bad record as regards accident. The railway companies reward those who are free from accident and dismiss those who have frequent accidents. The same thing should apply to the drivers of cars on the highways.

Another thing that the Government should introduce is compulsory insurance coverage for auto owners. Otherwise a careless driver who has no money may cause damage to life or property and the victim of the damage has no chance to financial redress. Something should be done to check our automobile accidents which are getting beyond all bounds for a small province like New Brunswick.

Charming Wedding At Campbellton

Limerick—Wetmore

At Christ Church, Campbellton, N. B., at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon the marriage was solemnized of Miss Elsie Sarah Anderson Wetmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Price Wetmore of Campbellton and Jack McKenzie Limerick, formerly of Fredericton, now of Campbellton, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kerr Limerick of this city. Rev. Canon W. E. Fuller officiated.

The marriage which was one of more than ordinary interest to friends in the province and throughout Canada was witnessed by a large number of invited guests and friends.

The bride's attendants were her sister Miss Mary Wetmore as bridesmaid and her niece Miss Nancy Mowat as junior bridesmaid. Herbert H. Gunter of Fredericton acted as best man, J. Shirley Wetmore and Ralph V. Limerick of Fredericton were ushers.

The bride was charming in a wedding gown of stone blue moire styled in princess lines with a deep V neckline and full skirt touching the ground in the back. She wore a shovel brim hat in velvet of the same shade with quilted crown. She carried a shower bouquet of Rosedale roses and Gypsophylla. The bridesmaid's gown was in a peau d'ange lace in St. James rose shade made on long slender princess lines with a draped bodice. The jacket was fitted bolera type. Her hat was of brown velvet in beret style and she wore brown satin shoes and carried a nosegay of blue corn flowers and sweetheart roses. The junior bridesmaid was smartly gowned in pink net over taffeta princess style. She wore a blue Juliet cap, blue shoes and carried a tiny nosegay of corn flowers and sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Wetmore, the bride's mother, was in a caribbean blue chiffon velvet with a large picture hat of the same shade. She carried a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Limerick mother of the bridegroom wore a gown of black chiffon velvet with an America beauty velvet hat. She carried a corsage of American Beauty roses.

The church had been artistically decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride and groom. The chancel was banked with hydrangea and greenery, the guest pews being marked with pom-pom asters in shades of rose fastened with white satin bows. Presiding at the organ was Mrs. F. W. Campbell who played the procession march by Lohengrin as the bride entered the church and Mendelssohn's Reformation, as the wedding party left the church. During the ceremony Offenbach's "Barcarolle" and Elgar's "Salut d'Amour" were played and Mrs. H. F. Jardine sang Cadman's "At Dawning" during the signing of the register.

A reception was later held at the home of the bride which was attended by about a hundred guests. The bride's table was centred with a tiered wedding cake and pink roses. At each end of the table were tall ivory tapers. Presiding over the tea and coffee cups were Mrs. W. F. Napier and Mrs. J. D. MacMillan, both of Campbellton. Girl friends of the bride assisted. The rooms throughout the house were fragrant with a profusion of cut flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Limerick will later leave on a wedding trip to the New England States. For travelling the bride has chosen a dress of brown Froshman wool with new pin-tucked skirt, brown felt hat, green suede gloves and brown suede shoes and bag. On their return they will reside on Water Street, Campbellton. Both bride and groom are popular especially among the younger set, the bride having for the past three years been instructor of Household Science in the Campbellton High School. She is a graduate of the School of Household Science, MacDonald College, of McGill University and did post graduate work in Hospital Dietetics Western Hospital, Toronto, Ont. The bridegroom has been a brilliant student throughout his course. He is a graduate with B. A. Degree of the class of 1931 of the University of New Brunswick, of which he was valedictorian. THE CRICKET

Under the shade of a daisy thicket,
Lives the appleseed-colored cricket.
He watches the grass as the wind goes over
Bend to the pink of the tufted clover;
And a purple butterfly bounce and stagger
From bloom to bloom with a dainty swagger.
The lavender mole, with a nose for eyes,
Dwells in the dark of his under-skies;
The grasshopper's nimble lightning's pass
Over his head in the feathery grass;
Between two worlds the cricket lives
The cool dim life that a season gives.
The cricket lives where the fields lie
fallow;
His house is a flat stone, cool and shallow.
There is food and love, there is fear
and mirth;
What more could a creature ask of earth?
Heigho for thought and its vexing
riddle!—
The cricket chirps with his less for fiddle. —E. Merrill Root.
