ATTEND RALLY
About fifteen scouts, representing the Rover troops and regular scout troops in this district, motored to Saint John during the weekend to take part in the district scout rally. The local leaders making the trip were Fred Blair, Douglas Locke, A. Bailey, Ralph Lawrence and Edward Perkins.

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE
Rev. Dr. J. W. Bartlett, minister of Wilmot United Church, left today for Sackville. He will attend the annual Maritime Conference of the United Church of Canada which opens in the university tomorrow. More than 500 ministers and lay representatives are expected to be present.

TO CINCINNATI ZOO
Five black bear cubs are being shipped from Fredericton today to the Cincinnati Zoo, as a gift from the Cincinnati Post. D. Leo Dolan made the arrangements with the Post and also arranged with the men to trap them. Maurice Phillips of Tracy was successful in trapping two, and Bob Drummond of Victoria Settlement captured the other three. Worthy of note is the fact that Mr. Drummond, who is a trapper, is 74 years of age, but still active and able to bring in the 'bear.'

LOCAL CONCERT
A group of about fifteen children from the New Brunswick Protestant Orphanage was present at the regular Sunday evening worship in Wilmot United Church and took part in the service. The group, accompanied by Mrs. Usher Miller rendered several hymns, receiving much comment from those attending. This same choral group, which took part in the Music Festival in Saint John a short while ago, presented a programme of vocal numbers over CFNB last evening before attending the church service.

MORE ANGLING PARTIES ARRIVE

Heavy Run of Salmon at Hart's Pool

A party composed of Messrs. H. E. Brubaker of Boston, and H. E. Lord of Wellesley Hills, Mass., arrived on Saturday to spend a few days salmon and trout fishing. They made the trip to Saint John by boat bringing a car along with them. On arrival here they were joined by Guides Alex. Price and Raymond Currie, and two hours later were whipping the waters of the salmon pool at Hart's Island. It was their first try at Atlantic salmon, and while they failed to get a strike they had the thrill of seeing one hooked and landed by another angler, and incidentally were given a valuable lesson in the art of fly casting. This morning the party left for the Miramichi to spend a few days fishing for sea trout.

H. G. Chestnut, a veteran angler of this city, has to his credit the largest salmon taken on a fly from the Saint John river this season. Fishing from a canoe at McIntosh Point on Friday afternoon he caught two fish, the largest being a 16-pounder. On returning to the city he had the big fellow boxed in ice and shipped to a friend with his compliments.

Having learned that there is a run of bright salmon on at the Hart's Island pool, Lloyd Byers of Boston, who has on many occasions in the past fished these waters with success, arrived here by auto at noon today. He met his guide, Donald Ferguson, by appointment and they set out immediately for the Ferguson camp at the head of Hart's Island. If he finds the fishing worth-while, Mr. Byers will remain until the end of the week.

NOW YOU....TELL ONE

Yes Sir, the old Indians certainly invented quite a thing when they thought out their birch bark canoes! Talk about any kind of canoe you like, there never was anything made to beat it especially when you had to portage around rapids, or from one stream to another. Why it was so light—which reminds me did you ever hear about the moose that portaged one of our old residents nearly a mile in a birch bark canoe—tame? I should say not! Well, Sir, that's quite a story!

It was a fine moonlight night when my friend set out downstream again instead of camping as he ordinarily would. You see he was anxious to get home—sickness in the family. He had a mile or so more to go, and then a portage of about a mile across to another stream, and then about eight miles easy paddling to his own door, so to speak. But it was a bright moonlight night and a clear well marked trail across the portage and he decided to keep going.

As he drew into the shore at the portage, he stopped paddling and glided along silent as a ghost. Close to the shore he saw a small clump of weeds as he thought and changed his course a little to avoid it. Suddenly his canoe was lifted bodily from the water. Though the trail birch bark of the bottom of the canoe crashed something which stupefied as he was, he realized could only be several points of the antlers of a moose. His canoe was lifted from the water as the moose crashed up the beach and set out on a dead run along the portage trail. He realized dimly what had happened. He had mistaken the back of a moose, almost submerged, with its head down feeding on the roots of water lilies for a clump of weeds!

Well Sir my friend was in a most uncomfortable position as he clung to his uneasy perch! The moose travelled along the path like an express train. Branches slapped him across the face, and tore at his clothes, the sharp points of the moose's antlers cut his shins, and his hunting equipment spilled out of the canoe at every jump!

Suddenly he saw the moonlight gleam upon water again. They had reached the end of the trail—the fastest portage he had ever made!

The moose suddenly seemed to awake to the fact of the annoying weight on its head. It threw its head back with a tremendous heave. The canoe came loose from its antlers and lit in a clump of low bushes. Well Sir, as my friend lay there and heard the moose keep crashing right on through the bushes, snorting with rage he was a pretty thankful man!

No Sir, after all he wasn't much ahead of the game! It had been a fast portage all right but by the time he had found his gear and patched the canoe as well as he could it was broad daylight.

Did the neighbors believe him? What do you think? —G. M. C.

CONDITION IMPROVING
Mrs. Charles Johnston who underwent a minor operation at Victoria Hospital a few days ago is recovering. Through an error on Saturday it was reported that it was Mr. Johnston that was ill.

ASSISTED IN FUNERAL SERVICE
Rev. Walter Donahoe, pastor of St. Anthony's church, motored to Saint John yesterday to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. John J. Matthews which took place yesterday afternoon from St. John the Baptist church. Rev. William J. Osborne, formerly curate in Devon also assisted at the funeral service.

"Holy Ground" was the subject of an inspirational message delivered at the morning worship in Wilmot United church yesterday by Rev. Dr. John W. Bartlett, minister. The evening was featured by a program of music sung by a choir from the Protestant Orphanage, Saint John. The World's Richest Man was the subject of the sermon delivered at the evening worship. Large congregations attended both services while Sunday school classes in the afternoon were also largely attended.

Three in Hospital Result of Accidents During Week-end

HAROLD AND RONALD DERRY BOTH SUFFER SEVERE INJURIES --- DEVON MAN ALSO IN HOSPITAL

CONDITIONS FAVORABLE

Three persons are in the hospital, one of them in a serious condition, as a result of an epidemic of accidents here during the week-end. Harold Derry, 21, son of John Derry, this city, was badly cut about the throat and head when he collided with an automobile when driving his bicycle Saturday evening; his brother, Ronald Derry, was seriously injured last night when he was kicked by a horse, receiving a cut over the left eye and multiple bruises. The third accident resulted in injury to Stewart McElroy when he collided with a truck driven by Jake Sommers, Saint John.

The first mentioned accident occurred at the intersection of Charlotte and York Streets. Derry, who was riding a bicycle east along Charlotte Street, collided with a taxi driven by Maurice Albright. Derry, it was said, attempted to avoid a collision by swerving to his right. The driver of the car immediately applied the brakes, but Derry had already crashed into the car, striking the rear door and breaking the glass.

Badly Cut

He was cut badly about the head by the flying glass, suffering a severe gash in the neck, endangering the jugular vein, and a deep cut at the back of the head. The driver of the car immediately picked up the young man, carrying him to a nearby lawn. While awaiting the arrival of medical assistance, the taxi driver held his hand over the jagged cut in the cyclist's neck, thus helping to stop the flow of blood.

Dr. A. L. Gerow rushed to the scene and ordered the patient's immediate removal to Victoria Public Hospital. His condition Saturday night was regarded as critical but he showed much improvement since yesterday. It is believed that he will recover.

Condition Favorable

Ronald Derry was injured about the head when kicked by a horse which he was leading to a drinking trough on Campbell Street last night. He was ordered to the hospital by Dr. G. E. Chalmers. X-ray examinations were made to determine possible skull fractures, but the results are not yet known. His condition today at noon was regarded as favorable.

Another accident occurred later at the corner of King and York streets, when Stewart McElroy, Devon, collided with a truck driven by Jake Sommers, Saint John. McElroy suffered bruises about the head. He was reported doing well at the Victoria Public Hospital, where he was taken for examination.

Cars operated by Jack Levine, son of Abe Levine, this city, and the other owned and operated by A. L. Hoben, this city, were in collision last

MERCURY SOARS TO HIGHEST PEAK IN SEVERAL SEASONS

A scorching, sizzling heat wave which drove mercury to the 90 degree mark made today generally uncomfortable for residents of this district. With the exception of May 31, 1929, when the temperature went to the 92 degree digit, today was the hottest "May day" experienced in this section of the province since 1914. Official thermometer readings gave the temperature as 87, but unofficial readings recorded temperatures varying from 86 to 91 degrees.

The heat was oppressive during the first part of the day but toward the latter part of the afternoon, a cooling breeze sprang up and mercury dropped back to 75. The absence of breeze during the morning and early afternoon added to the sultriness of the atmosphere.

In addition to creating discomfort to the inhabitants of the district, the heat wave will also add to the forest fire menace. If it continues for the next few days, fire officials will be concerned about the possible outbreaks of fires in the timbered areas. However, the warm weather provides a great boon to farmers in this locality who were unable to commence planting operations due to the wet condition of the ground.

Ideal Weather

Yesterday's weather was typically July-like although not as hot as the menu served by the weatherman today. Many citizens enjoyed motor trips to the various spots of interest throughout the district, while some journeyed to their summer homes to spend the week-end. Canoeing was enjoyed by many yesterday afternoon, although the prevailing wind and rough water did not contribute to the success of that form of recreation. There were many pre-season swimmers who enjoyed their first "dip" of the season Sunday afternoon.

night at Kingsclear, when both were damaged extensively. According to police, both were going in the same direction, and the accident happened as the Hoben car was making a turn to a side road as the Levine car was passing it.

Damage was suffered also to an automobile and a wagon in a collision at about 9:30 o'clock last evening at Upper Gagetown, in which the car driven by Cecil Cooper, Monticello, Me., collided with the rear end of a wagon driven by George Estabrook, Upper Gagetown, who was driving in the direction of Gagetown. One horse was injured, but will recover, it is expected.

PLANTING OPERATIONS BEING RUSHED AS WEATHERMAN COMES TO THE AID OF WORRIED FARMERS IN THIS DISTRICT

Agriculturists Working Fast to Overcome Delays

After a "hold-up" of several days due to wet ground conditions, seeding operations at the Dominion Experimental Station here is being rushed with all possible speed. C. F. Bailey, superintendent, announced this morning. All the available horses as well as tractors have been pressed into service, and crews of workmen are working 24 hours daily to finish the planting as soon as possible.

Planting was behind at least 10 days in this section of the province and it was believed that serious consequences would have resulted if the weather had not changed. Mr. Bailey stated last week that the situation might easily become serious if the Large congregations were in attendance at both services.
