RUSSIA IS UNABLE TO BUY MATERIALS

Steel Manufacturers in Britain and U.S. Are Too Busy

MOSCOW, April 21—Soviet Russia's purchases of materials for warships ran into difficulties today because, she learned, some steel manufacturers are too busy filling domestic orders to bother with foreign ones.

Nikolai Bogomoloff, Soviet trade delegate to Great Britain, returned to Moscow with the news that British firms are "swamped," handling huge orders for the rearmament programme.

United States circles here heard that Amtorg, Russian trading corporation, was unable to renew a steel order with one company in the United States because of heavy domestic demands. The company was said to have offered a premium to be released from delivering a previous order.

The Soviet Commissariat of Defence declined to comment on a State Department announcement in Washington that two United States firms had asked permission to fill Russian orders for battleship materials.

The talk here is that Russia wants to build new warships because of the rapid development of her merchant marine and recent evidence that the present navy cannot protect that merchant marine in such waters as those off Spain.

Bogomoloff, in an interview with the newspaper Pravda, expressed concern over the possibility of getting orders from British firms. He warned Russians they might not fully utilize the £10,000,000 credit (about $49,000,000) granted them by Britain on July 31, 1936, unless "normal conditions prevail."

Up to April 1, the Russian Government had placed orders totalling £65,000 but will not get some of them delivered for 24 months. The Russians refused to place orders

GERMAN GUNS THREATEN STRAITS OF GIBRALTAR

London Newspaper Correspondent Describes New Nazi Maginot Line Built Along Moroccan
Coast—Work of Disguised Spies Revealed

LONDON, April 21—Gun emplacements along the coasts of Spanish Morocco threaten free passage of ships through the Straits of Gibraltar, the London News Chronicle correspondent at Tangier reported today.

Counting more than 60 high calibre guns along Spanish Morocco's Mediterranean and Atlantic coasts, many of which are concentrated at Ceuta, directly across from Gibraltar, the correspondent said fortifications built and planned constitute "Germany's 'Maginot Line' in Morocco." (France's Eastern frontier is protected by underground fortifications planned by and named after General Maginot.)

No Free Passage
"Germany's miniature Maginot Line in Morocco," the correspondent wrote, "when it is finished will run from Cape del Agua and the Zarrin Islands to Benzon and Ksar Seghir, opposite Gibraltar, and on the West Coast from Arzila to the neighborhood of Larache. There is no longer free passage of the Straits of Gibraltar."

"At Benzon, directly opposite Gibraltar Bay, a new German 405 gun has been installed and its capabilities severely tested. It has fired several times toward Spain and has proved satisfactory."

"Outside Benzon on Putna Blanca German engineers have installed a battery of three smaller guns made for the Spanish navy by Vickers. The Straits are also menaced from Ksar Seghir which lies between Behzon and the Tangier international zone. Here there is a battery of three new guns, the calibre of which I have been unable to discover, but I am reliably informed they are German."

The city of Ceuta, less than 20 miles due south across the Straits from the Rock of Gibraltar, the correspondent reported, "is now a fortress."

"Within the city itself there is a with many British firms, it was said, because prices were considered exorbitant."

Industrial recovery and neutrality legislation in the United States, and the Soviet's difficult political relations with Germany were cited as obstacles in the way of materials purchased abroad.

The writer, Vigilis, spokesman for the Kremlin, in an article in the newspaper Izvestia, attacked economic talks of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German Minister for Economics, in Brussels this week, and declared rumors of a Soviet-German rapprochement were "fairy tales."

Vigilis said Schacht "did not tell the truth" in indicating Soviet-German trade relations were improving.

DUCE TO BUY OUT ITALIAN SHIPYARDS

State Eventually Will Control All National Defence Industries

ROME, April 21—Under a decree published in newspapers yesterday, the Italian Government will take over all shipyards and shipbuilding companies with as much as 100,000,000 lire ($5,250,000) capital. Stockholders have been given five days in which to turn in their stock, so that the Institute for Industrial Reconstruction can have at least 50 per cent. of the shares in each company.

Immediate control of the shipping industry by the Government is the first step toward the destruction of private enterprise in all national defence industries which sell to the State directly. Premier Mussolini gave an intimation of this move in a speech last March 23, when he warned Italians of "the inevitability that the nation will be called to the trial of war," and promised that "the sad phenomenon of war profiteering" would never be repeated in Italy.

Banks and all other credit facilities already had been "brought under direct control of the State," and sanctions were facilitating the Government programme for further intervention when Il Duce issued his warning. When and how war would come

POPE PIUS IS ORDERED CURTAIL ACTIVITIES

Remains in Apartment
On Doctor's Advice

VATICAN CITY, April 21—Pope Pius cancelled all audiences today and remained in his private apartment upon the advice of his physician Dr. Amintore Milani, who anxiously warned him to curtail his activities.

Vatican prelates said the Holy Father's condition remained reasonably satisfactory, but that he must take care of his health.

Dr. Milani advised the Pontiff to avoid as much as possible moving from one section of the Vatican to another with the consequent changes in temperature.

The Pope, nevertheless, plans to participate tomorrow in a general session of the Congregation of Holy Rites for discussion of the course for beatification of the Monk Domenico Della Madre Di Dio, who converted Cardinal Newman.

He also plans to make a brief speech on Sunday during another cause for beatification.

nobody could say, he declared, "but how otherwise can we explain the policy of colossal armaments inaugurated by all the nations?"
