Continuing Search For Gagetown Indian

Members of the R.C.M.P. and residents of Gagetown have met with no success in grappling operations, searching for the body of Peter Sebatitis. The fear has been held that Sebatitis was drowned in the Saint John river since his disappearance Saturday night.

His empty canoe was discovered by John McNally, Gagetown, floating on the river. The canoe contained two paddles, the man's hat and a number of purchases which he is reported to have made in Gagetown. There was no water in the canoe. There was some hope that he might have been marooned, although the elapse of three days since his disappearance has tended to create a belief that he might have drowned.

N.Y. HUNTERS BAG SEVERAL BEARS IN RENOUS DISTRICT

Veteran Guide Uses Right-of-Way For First Time

David A. Manderville, a veteran guide of Derby, Northumberland Co., has the distinction of being the first to utilize the right-of-way of the Renous-Tobique highway, now under construction in order to facilitate the transportation of non-resident sportsmen to the haunts of the black bear in the Miramichi area. The party, which came to the province on a combined fishing and bear hunting trip, was composed of F. E. Tuttle, W. Carr and B. Johnson, all young men from New York City, and it was their first expedition to New Brunswick. A program for the transportation of the party in and out of the woods by motor travel, team and water was carefully mapped out by Guide Manderville and was carried out without the slightest hitch.

A motor truck transported the sportsmen and their outfit, including canoes and supplies, along the new highway as far as it has been made passable and the remainder of the 35 mile journey to the camp on the North branch of the Renous was made by team. The party spent three days hunting on territory made famous by the late "Uncle" Henry Braithwaite of this city, the greatest guide and master of woodcraft of his time in New Brunswick. Each member of the party shot a bear, all good specimens.

Salmon Fishing

On breaking camp the canoes were launched, and the return trip was made in a leisurely three days run down the Renous River, and all enjoyed some excellent salmon fishing while en route. The expedition was a pronounced success from start to finish, and before boarding their car to start for home, reservations were made by the party for a hunting and fishing trip in the month of September.

Mr. Manderville, while still a young man, has had a long experience in the guiding business. Many years ago he made a number of trips to the Miramichi woods in company with Carl Rungius, a noted animal painter, who made sketches of moose, and deer in their native wilds. His handiwork has been utilized to ornament calendars and other advertising matter for sporting goods houses, and has also illustrated magazine articles. Mr. Manderville and his son, Carl, a namesake of the artist, handled 24 non-resident sportsmen during the month of May this year.

ADDED ACCOMMODATIONS NEEDED

The special committee of the Victoria Public Hospital board of directors, which was appointed last evening to investigate the possibilities of providing additional accommodations at the hospital, has formulated definite plans and will submit same at an early date. Headed by Luke Morrison, the committee will meet the York County Council at its meetings here next month with the view of seeking financial assistance to bring about the implementation of the proposed scheme. Although not officially announced, it is believed that the committee have a concrete proposition prepared in connection with the proposed construction of added hospital accommodations. In addition to Mr. Morrison, the committee includes Dr. Arthur F. VanWart and Mrs. Woodcock, superintendent.

The need of increased accommodations at the local institution has been stressed at various times by several of the leading physicians, and the proposed scheme has also received the editorial support of The Daily Mail. Present facilities are entirely inadequate to meet the needs and definite action is necessary, a prominent physician stated this morning.

There was no formal discussion regarding the plans of the special committee at the regular meeting of the hospital board last evening. Routine business only was included on the agenda and monthly reports were presented.

The statistical report submitted by the Superintendent revealed that admissions to the hospital during the month totalled 99. Patients remaining in the hospital at the end of May were 53. Medical cases totalled 14, while surgical cases numbered 67. Major operations totalled 31, and minor operations were 29. Eighty-five X-ray examinations were made and treatments totalled 6. Eighty-three inducto-therm treatments were given.

CHANGES IN B. N. A. NECESSARY BEFORE EFFECTIVE SOCIAL LEGISLATION MAY BE ENACTED, SAYS M'GILL PROFESSOR

"New Deal For Labor" Subject of Address Last Evening

AUSPICES C.C.F.

The need for political action to bring about necessary changes in the British North America Act so as to have effective social legislation was stressed here last evening by Professor Eugene Forsey, M.A., (Oxford), member of the faculty of political economy, McGill University, Montreal. The speaker, who addressed a meeting held in the Knights of Pythias Hall under the auspices of the local branch, Canadian Commonwealth Federation, discussed "A New Deal For Labor." He dealt with the various phases of the labor movement in Canada, pointing out the need for political activity to supplement the work of trade unions.

Professor Forsey presented a clear word picture of existing conditions, making several valuable suggestions which, in the opinion of himself and other leading economists in the country, would bring about the much-needed changes in the social and economic system. His address was heard by a large audience which filled the hall almost to capacity. Professor Forsey is at present enjoying a brief vacation trip to the Maritimes and will return to Montreal later in the week.

Collective bargaining, unemployment and health insurance, adequate legislation regulating the operation of factories, public ownership and democratic control of main industries and public services were advocated by the speaker as necessary steps in an effective program of social legislation.

Collective Bargaining Dealing with "collective bargaining," Professor Forsey contended that the masses were unable to make free and equal bargaining unless they establish unions of their own choice. He discussed various phases of the matter in question, showing that the

TO MAKE SURVEY

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL FREEDOM ARE ATTAINABLE

McGill Professor Outlines Methods --- Gov't Control

Social and economic freedom will ultimately be attained through governmental control and socialism, that is public ownership of main industrial enterprises, was the opinion voiced here this morning by Eugene Forsey, M.A., (Oxon), member of the faculty of McGill University, Montreal. Professor Forsey, who addressed a meeting here last evening under the auspices of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, stated that the freedom of labor depends on the attainment of the two principles mentioned. Invested interests in the Dominion are strongly opposed to the progress of the labor movement, he further said.

Professor Forsey was critical of the recent labor legislation passed by the government in Quebec, contending that it was detrimental to labor and was implemented by what he described as a "clerical Fascist movement." It was handed over to the minister of labor who, he stated, had complete control over what unions should be in existence in that province.

IMPROVING IN MONTREAL

Officials of "J" Division, Royal Canadian Mounted Police were non-committal this morning when questioned regarding the news despatches from Moncton which stated that the municipal airport there is to be used as a base for R.C.M.P. aerial operations in the Maritimes. Major Bruce, superintendent, could not be reached this morning, and other officials would not make any comment.
