NO DOUBT

"Love me reasonably," you said;
And so of course I tried;
I filled my life with other things,
And pushed my love aside.

I did not watch for letters—no!
Nor listen for the phone;
I merely smiled when you were late;
My worries were outgrown.

But now that I am sensible,
We never will be wed;
For when a woman's reasonable
It proves her love is dead.
—Katharine Bellinger.

FIRST TRAIN

Dr. Brooks, Rev. Charles Lee, Rev. Alexander Sterling, G. T. Whelpley, Alexander Gibson and Fred B. Edgecombe, Thomas Temple, John Pickard and John Glasier.

Thomas Temple afterwards Senator Temple and John Pickard who later represented York County in House of Commons were amongst those who took an active interest in promoting the new road. When the Fredericton Railway Company received its articles of incorporation in 1866, they had been made president and vice-president, respectively. Another member of the board of directors was Senator Glasier, the "Main John" of lumbering fame. Quick to perceive what the iron horse was doing to steamboat traffic on rivers like the Mississippi, the Ohio and the Hudson, they figured the time was ripe to go into the railroad business in New Brunswick.

A right of way of 22.31 miles between Fredericton and Fredericton Junction was surveyed in 1868, and work on the Fredericton end was begun near the site of the present culvert north of Salamanca. Turning of the first sod was marked by a day of beer, bands and bunting, and the honor of sinking the official spade was accorded Colonel Harding, last commandant of Imperial troops to be stationed in the capital city.

The spade and wheelbarrow suitably engraved are now on exhibition at the University of New Brunswick. At the banquet the same gentlemen mentioned above were guests of the railway. Father McDavitt who was busy with an axe cutting kindling for a picnic fire, was not very handy with that weapon and gave Judge Wilmut a severe cut on the leg. The reverend gentleman was a better preacher than he was a woodcutter.

Not many weeks afterward came the locomotive "Oromocto" aboard a river steamboat, to be unloaded at the foot of Westmorland Street and run over the newly laid rails by Engineer Tower and Fireman Elliott.

Meanwhile work had been commenced at Fredericton Junction. The "William Parks" the first locomotive on the south end, was built in Portland, Maine. Her first engineer, Thomas Rand, was a native of Bangor.

Her Excellency Lady Tweedsmuir will occupy the Vice-Regal box at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, this evening, for the performance of "Victoria Regina."

J. A. McCUTCHEON

The words of one of his family, he could not be remembered as having ever allowed anger to vent itself. He was thoughtful and considerate for the feelings of others ahead of his own.

He is survived by two sons, Chas. E. McCutcheon, of the Hart Boot and Shoe Co. Ltd., in this city, and R. Lee McCutcheon, of the Department of Indian Affairs, also of this city; and two daughters, Mrs. W. D. Boone, North Devon, and Mrs. Vida Wilby, of this city. Also surviving are two brothers, Robert and David in Florida, and two half-sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Fowler and Mrs. Sarah Pullen, both of Augusta, Maine.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon, with prayers at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Vida Wilby, 379 Saunders Street, at 2.30. The service will be conducted at the George Street Baptist Church at 3 o'clock by Rev. John Linton. Interment will be made at the Rural Cemetery.

DOUGLAS HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION AFFILIATES WITH FREDERICTON HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL AT MEETING*Guest Speakers From Fredericton and Minto

A very interesting meeting of the Douglas Home and School Association was held last evening at Douglas School House. The President, Mr. N. Dunphy presided and a large number of interested citizens attended.

Mr. R. K. Nevers, Principal of the Charlotte Street School, Fredericton, accompanied by Mr. Geo. Howie, of the same place entertained the group with moving pictures, showing powerful tractors at work in industry and service in the world today. This was followed by class-room films used as an aid in the teaching of science and physiology, etc., showing the value of Visual Education. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Nevers and Mr. Howie.

During intermission, delightful refreshments were served by the ladies after which the reports of the officers were heard and the regular business of the association carried on. The reports showed a real live interest on the part of parents in the affairs of their school. Improvements had been made to the school building and volunteers were on hand among the men to improve the playground for the children. The matter of removing rocks and bushes which would enlarge the grounds considerably was dealt with.

Mrs. A. R. Menzies, member of the Rural Life Committee in the National Federation of Home and School Associations, spoke at the close of the business period, on the value of the Home and School Council and Provincial federation. She pointed out that the forces might be united out that the Fredericton Home and School Council was now composed of individual membership and representatives from eleven kindred organizations in Fredericton. She said, "the council aims to serve as a medium of communication and information on the Home and School Movement in our province in the hope that provincial federation may be brought about in the near future. She outlined the duties of the Organization and Extension Committee, whose duty it is to send out leaflets dealing with organization procedure; aims and policies of the association, etc. The programme Committee in the Council, she said, was of special importance as they had many suggested programmes which could serve as material for community needs. She stated, "the Council is also endeavoring to encourage and promote Parent-Education study groups." This, she stressed as being the most important educational work of all. "Where is the mother, who as she cuddles her little child, doesn't want to know all about the care and nurture of that little one. She wants to know about the right kind of food, how to train for obedience, honesty and cultural things, she wants her child to grow up strong in mind and body and fitted to fill his or her place in the community and nation." But she added "what about this Big Job of her life? Has her school education fitted her for it?" She urged the affiliation of all Home and School groups in order that the forces might be united

ELEGY

Too soon they went, too soon for spent,
Too soon bereft of beauty's bloom,
Their slender petals in the dust,
Ravished by time's tempestuous lust,
Are slain;
No sun, no tear-warm rain
Shall quicken them to blush again.

Too soon bereft, too soon the cleft
Where nature gave a little room
For gentle growing, holds alone
A little earth, a little stone,
And they,
Knowing no more the play
Of summer suns, have passed away.

Yet Beauty lives, and Beauty gives
Her fragrance to the gentle gloom,
Holding still warmly in her thought
The tenderness that they had taught;
And still,
Her memory to fulfil,
Unseen they wait her sovereign will.
—J. E. W.

strive more earnestly to bring about the right kind of education which will meet the needs of our boys and girls.

A hearty vote of thanks was expressed to Mrs. Menzies, who had also arranged for the showing of pictures. The association voted unanimously for affiliation with the Fredericton Home and School Council, naming their President, Mr. Dunphy and their school Principal, Mr. Eldon Betts, to represent them at the Council meetings. Miss Muriel Lutes, member of the Advisory Board of the Canadian Association for Adult Education was also present and spoke briefly on the value of study clubs. She called attention to the great power of the machinery just shown the screen and compared it with the greater force of an intellectual power which could be brought about by the formation of adult education study groups. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Working as usual on our
120th Birthday

One hundred and twenty years ago there were only seven of us working on the staff of the Bank—a cashier, an accountant, a paying teller, a second teller, a discount clerk, a second bookkeeper, and a porter—that was the entire staff. Today we are more than 6000, in more than 300 Branches, all working to render modern, experienced banking service.

Our Bank's career has been inseparably woven into the career of the nation and every part of it. Founded in 1817, the Bank at once became a financial pathfinder for Canada's pioneers. Through all the intervening, eventful, growing years of Canadian life, our Bank has kept strong and efficient—by pursuing a policy of safety for depositors and by keeping our services always abreast of modern conditions.

In times of expansion and depression, in the best and the worst of economic conditions; through peace and wars, panics and political upheavals, Canadians have learned to rely upon the unwavering safety and banking assistance of the Bank of Montreal. Older than the Dominion itself, yet young as the latest sound business enterprise of Canada, we are working as usual on our 120th Birthday.
