FREDERICTON, NEW BRUNSWICK, AUGUST 14, 1937

THE NEW SUBWAY

IN The Daily Mail today there is a letter regarding the subway at the intersection of Brunswick street, University Avenue and Waterloo Row. Whilst The Daily Mail believes that there is considerable work connected with erecting a subway and that it cannot all be done in a day, still in common with other citizens we think that the work has not progressed as quickly as it should considering that the section where the construction is going on is one of the most important highways in the city.

This morning there were only two men on the work. The men who work at concrete have been transferred to Devon to pour concrete at that place. It is necessary if any progress is to be made, for the contractors to make progress with the Devon end of the work. At the same time the work at the subway in Fredericton has been going on since the last of June and while this work was much heavier than most people appreciate, it would seem that now it should be rushed to completion without further delay.

This portion of the city is the entry and exit to and from the downtown sections, and it is also an important entry and exit for tourist travel. Brunswick Street, Queen Street and University Avenue are also important city streets and the sooner these streets are made passable for traffic the better it will be. Why not go ahead and finish this section of the work as speedily as possible so that our traffic tangle at this point can be straightened out.

The city and the contractors should get together and have all this work completed so that traffic could be resumed under normal conditions in this section of the city.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS

HITLER'S action in expelling the London Times correspondent from Germany calls attention to the difficult position in which British and American correspondents are placed when working in a totalitarian State. They are expected in Italy and Germany and Russia to act the part of propagandists for fascism and communism. They are expected to send to their papers official statements and the carefully selected items of news which the censorships think will be of advantage in the countries which they represent. They are not supposed to go out and collect facts for themselves and make independent investigations. It would be a cardinal sin for one of them to dig out facts at variance with official statements. In other words, they are not expected to act like newspapermen at all.

If they are willing to become publicity agents the way is made easy for them. Favors are showered on them. They become extremely popular fellows and are permitted, perhaps, to have some influence with the various Department heads with whom they come into contact. Their living expenses are likely to be lowered. They will sometimes be given exclusive interviews with august personages, and will naturally be favored when there are important official statements to be made. It is likely enough that in course of time this favored treatment will make them sympathetic with, if not even enthusiastic for, the kind of government which works out so well as far as they are concerned. They become Fascists or Communists at heart, and naturally cease to have any value to the newspapers which employ them. Nevertheless, if it is feared that they might be recalled, some semi-official pressure will be exerted in their behalf.

It is a most difficult art to steer between the devil of the independent reporter who soon wears out his welcome and the deep blue sea of the servile reporter who is content to chronicle only surface events and official hand-outs. Norman Ebbutt of the Times seems to have kept a middle course. He is a man of the utmost competence, and would never send to his paper matter whose truthfulness he doubted. The charge against him seems to be that his stories did not concern matters which the German Government thought important. But obviously the only competent judges of the value of his correspondence are himself and the editors of the Times, not a Nazi censor. Undoubtedly the Times and any other self-respecting paper is better off without a reporter in Rome or Berlin than with a representative who reflects nothing but the point of view of Mussolini and Hitler.

IN CHURCHILL'S GAY HARBOR

IN a changing world the shores of Hudson Bay have not been overlooked. Churchill, for example. In 1782 the solitude of the North was invaded by a French fleet, which quietly captured Fort Prince of Wales, a massive fortress erected by the Hudson's Bay Company, and a stronghold of British authority on the Bay.

This week a British war sloop steamed into Churchill Harbor, and among the vessels dipping flags in salute was a French freighter loading wheat from great grain elevators. And British authority was supreme. In 1782 the French fleet entered a desolate region, where fur trading was the only activity. The British sloop steamed into a modern harbor, in which, during the season of navigation, vessels from many countries cast anchor. And the Canadian Government ship Nascopie was provisioning for a journey still further north.

This is an amazing change also from the earlier period when Sir John Franklin and his crew of 129 disappeared while searching in Arctic waters for the northwest passage. Radio keeps navigators informed of conditions on Hudson Bay; airships hover above, and the peril of its icy waters is greatly minimized. The Arctic is opening up. Northward also the course of Empire takes its way.

SNAPSHOTS

It is time that whoever is responsible for removing the "Registration Headquarters" sign got it away from the Parliament Building. It does not add anything to the dignity of the place.

What kind of a handout are the Fredericton and Devon labor men getting from the bridge contractors? Are the contractors conforming with our laws regarding local labor conditions?

The Queen Hotel seems to be a centre for Dominion travel these days. Today, visitors from British Columbia, Alberta, Ontario, Quebec and Nova Scotia all met in the corridor at one time today. All these tourists were loud in their praise of New Brunswick scenery.

Boiestown Resident Passes In Hospital

Many friends in the district of Boiestown will be saddened to learn of the death of William John Whalen who passed away in Victoria Public Hospital at about twelve o'clock last night.

His death came very unexpectedly following a brief illness. In his 18th year and in good health, word of his sudden death will come as a great shock to the community.

The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Whalen of Boiestown, and had resided there all his life. He was a popular member of the community, and possessed a great circle of chums, who will deeply mourn his passing.

Lady Borden the Chief Beneficiary Under Terms of Will

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—Sir Robert Borden, Canada's wartime Prime Minister, who died June 10, left an estate valued at $665,163, it was shown today when application was made for probate.

Lady Borden was willed the net income from the estate subject to provision for Sir Robert's sister, Julia, in Grand Pre, N.S., and his brother, H. C. Borden of Halifax. Lady Borden also was given the use of the residence in Ottawa, furnishings and personal effects.

Upon the death of Lady Borden, the residence will be sold with the proceeds going to Henry Borden of Toronto, a nephew.

The will disposed of the following bequests: $1,000 to the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Legion for the relief of destitute ex-servicemen; $500 to the Salvation Army, Ottawa; $250 to the Salvation Army, Halifax; and $250 to the Halifax Association for improving conditions of the poor.

BRITAIN LEADS

"Something much more important remains, however: The quest of what we are going to do with this reacquired leadership. We are undoubtedly going to set ourselves against the ambitions of world revolution, both in their Fascist and Communist form. But leadership must have a more positive inspiration than that."

"The months which saw the reappearance of British troops on the Continent at the Saar plebiscite, the Franco-Italian agreement and the Stresa conference reinaugurated British leadership in Europe after five and a half years of fumbles," said Lord Percy.

"But right then the Abyssinian bomb burst and shattered the whole structure of European peace.

"Englishmen were ready to carry out their technical obligations toward Abyssinia as members of the League, but they were not prepared to go further. Up to October, 1935, they would have accepted almost any compromise with Italy, and it was not until after the Italians began their war campaign, when it was too late, that public sentiment in Britain demanded the rescue of the victim.

Fredericton, N. B., August 12, 1937.

Editor, Daily Mail, City.

Dear Sir:

As your paper shows a lively interest in local matters, as well as outside affairs, the writer had rather expected some reference to the 'bottle-neck' developing at the east end of Brunswick Street, through the concrete erection in connection with the subway now under construction.

The turn into University Avenue and vice versa would appear to lead to accidents, particularly as it is a blind corner.

Adverse comment is already being heard.

One would have expected a reading of plans would have shown this objectionable feature.

Possibly a reasonable explanation can be given by the C.N.R. officials. Why is it that the men have been taken off the work on the subway and taken over the river? The subway should be finished up at once.

Yours truly,

ted States, building construction, while still at low levels relative to the previous peak, has shown particularly noteworthy gains. Although this tendency has been most marked in the industrial field, residential construction has been stimulated by loans granted under the Home Improvement Plan.

"Some further seasonal recession in various lines is to be expected. However, notwithstanding unfavorable wheat prospects in the Prairie Provinces, there is little doubt that the aggregate value of industrial and agricultural production in 1937 will be substantially in excess of that of the previous year.

"In common with other raw material producing countries, Canada is benefitting from the rise in world demand and prices for primary commodities. This, together with internal improvement, which has resulted in a rising tide of imports, has been reflected in substantial gains in foreign trade.

"Present export outlook is improved by the growing world and Empire sentiment international exchange of goods and the definite assurance on the part of Washington and London that there will be no early change in the price of gold.

"Canadian exports account for approximately 38 per cent of total national income, and the outlook for further improvement in the value of foreign shipments is a definitely constructive factor."

"The only safe course left open to the British was to take economic measures against Italy, so that in the event of victory, she would not be able to fight a second campaign. This plan was therefore adopted, and proved adequate enough.

TAKE THE HEAT ON HIGH

(or Keep In High Gear This Summer)

WHEN the heat comes, some people, like old cars, can't make the grade—they have to slip into "second" or into "low". The heat slows them, saps their "horsepower". Why can't a youngster of almost 80, who, judged by conventional standards, should be on the scrap heap, drive in high through the hottest summer, defying Mr. Sol, just as in winter I scorn Mr. Zero? The answer is foods. People give no thought at all to the foods they ought to eat, only the foods they like. They follow the herd. Herd intelligence is notably no intelligence at all.

If people would really think, they would realize that bodily health depends upon the blood that feeds the body cells. The blood depends upon the kind of foods which build the blood. Therefore the kind of blood that flows through our bodies can make us shrivel and shiver on cold days and wilt and wither on hot days. The cause of both is viscid, ropy, toxic blood, derived from denatured, dead, demineralized, constipating foods.

Here is how to prove me right or wrong. During the hot spell, make your breakfast of Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy or Lishus, all you can enjoy with milk or cream, raisins or chopped dates, not body-heating sugar. Make thick enough to chew thoroughly. If hot cereal is not liked, cook any of them the previous night, allow to cool, place in refrigerator and serve for breakfast, with sliced or canned peaches, ripe bananas, fruit jelly, preserve, or honey with cream or milk. Drink iced Kofy-Sub, sweetened with brown sugar, or preferably honey, added while hot, a very delightful and healthful beverage. For noon meal a salad of fresh fruit or raw vegetables, iced Kofy-Sub. For evening meal, a large fruit or vegetable salad, sprinkled with grated nuts, grated cheese or cottage cheese, or lightly steamed vegetables if salads are not liked, as second choice. Any kind of juicy fruit for dessert. Iced Kofy-Sub or hot Kofy-Sub if hot drink is preferred.

Train the intestines to eliminate after each meal. It is of utmost importance to exercise all groups of muscles briskly, fifteen or twenty minutes daily, to the point of deep breathing, to burn up internal poisonous waste. If you do not know how, send fifty cents for my book "SYSTEMATIZED illustrated.

Rub the body down with rough towel wrung out of hot water in hot weather; cold water in cold weather. Relax muscles, nerves and mind. Do not fret or worry and—well, I stake my reputation on this assertion—follow this program for one month, or at most two, and so remarkable will be your improvement, you will always follow it. Write for University proof that Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy, Lishus and Kofy-Sub are wonderfully rich in blood-forming minerals, also other important health literature free.

This has been demonstrated in different places and it is the cause of anxiety to those who are afraid of parties like the C.C.F. and the Social Credit party which exists in Alberta today.
