NO HATRED

Dr. Hanson: You're out a husband and out of support.

Miss Kelly: I can support myself. Dr. Hanson: I'm sure you can. You're an able looking woman.

The witness testified that pecuniary considerations played no part in the laying of the charge of bigamy.

Dr. Hanson: Then you're a champion of lost causes.

Miss Kelly: I won out, anyway.

Dr. Hanson: How much money did you get?

Miss Kelly: None!

In examining the original charge, laid by Miss Kelly, the defense counsel stated that when it was laid last July 24, it was signed by Myrtle Phillips.

When queried by Dr. Hanson as to why she had changed her name back to Kelly, the witness stated that Kelly was the only name that she was sure of now.

The witness testified that she came to Fredericton originally to lay a charge of non-support against the accused. This she did, but the accused did not appear in police court in answer to the first summons, but did on a subsequent summons.

The witness then laid the bigamy charge, according to testimony, but reiterated her statement that money had nothing to do with the laying of the charge.

Dr. Hanson: You felt as a woman scorned?

Miss Kelly: I don't know how I felt.

When queried by the defense counsel as to her feelings towards the accused:

'Don't Hate Him'

Miss Kelly: I have no hatred in my heart for him. I don't hate him, I have no respect for him, but (on question of Dr. Hanson) I don't love

Wilbur Evans In Vicks Program

On Sunday Evening

Mrs. A. P. Crockett, President of the local branch of the Community Concert Association received an airmail letter this morning from Wilbur Evans, well known artist singer stating that on Sunday night he will sing in Hollywood. The noted artist will sing with Jeanette McDonald in Vicks Opera House on the Columbia chain on Sunday evening at seven o'clock Eastern Standard Time. Mr. Evans was heard in Fredericton on two different occasions in the programs sponsored by the Fredericton Community Concert Association. The artist who holds a warm spot in his heart for Fredericton and its citizens expressed the hope that lovers of music would hear him on Sunday evening. During his stay in Hollywood he will be a guest at the Knickerbocker Hotel.

him. I only wanted justice (when asked why she laid the information.)

Dr. Hanson: You wanted money!

Miss Kelly: No, Justice! I wanted money at first, but later justice. I felt it was due me.

Dr. Hanson: What money?

Miss Kelly: No, Justice. I thought that he should support me.

Dr. Hanson: You started out with the idea of getting money?

Miss Kelly: Yes.

Dr. Hanson: And you failed?

Miss Kelly: Yes.

Dr. Hanson: When you failed you laid the bigamy charge?

Miss Kelly: Yes.

Dr. Hanson: Was it pure coincidence?

The witness admitted that it was not.

Dr. Hanson: Then it was by design, that design being because you had failed in your other action?

Miss Kelly: No, that had nothing to do with it. I wanted my rights. If I was married to him I wanted to know it, if not I wanted to know it.

Dr. Hanson: If you had gotten the money would you have laid the information?

Miss Kelly: It was not the money. Yes, I would have. It was a disgrace on my people and myself. I would have laid the charge even if I had gotten the money for support on the rule of the magistrate.

Dr. Hanson: You feel yourself as a woman scorned and humiliated?

Miss Kelly: I do, (emphatically).

The witness denied again, on questioning by the counsel for the defense, that she laid the charge because of failure to get money to support herself.

In continuing her testimony, the witness stated that she lived at Portland, Me., in the summer of 1926. When questioned as to what precautions she took to find out whether or not the accused was single at the time she went through with the marriage ceremony with him, she said that she saw an article in a newspaper which stated that Hildred McLean Phillips and the accused had been divorced, and that the former had resumed her maiden name.

Dr. Hanson produced a clipping from the Carleton Sentinel, a letter to the editor which, he claimed, was written by the witness. Crown Prosecutor Murray objected on the ground of irrelevancy, but Mr. Justice Richards allowed Dr. Hanson to proceed provided the latter was relevant to the case.

Identifies Letter

When asked if she had sent a letter to the editor of the Sentinel, the witness replied that she had, and that it had been published. The newspaper clipping was shown to the witness, and she identified it as being a copy of her letter.

When Dr. Hanson attempted to offer the clipping as evidence, Mr. Murray objected on the ground that it was not the original. Mr. Justice overruled the objection because the witness has identified the letter, and he accepted it as evidence.

The letter was read to the jury, and was written, according to the text, to correct an item that had appeared in the Woodstock press. She quoted a portion of the item which was claimed incorrect, "under arrest for bigamy", and stated that this was false. She said that the divorce decree in the Phillips vs. Phillips divorce case had been granted absolute before she had married the accused. The witness went on to state that the bail of the accused was $9,000, and not $3,000, as had been reported in the press. The letter was signed with the name Mrs. Phillips, not Miss Kelly.

Accused Thought Himself Free

On question of Dr. Hanson, the witness stated that she thought the accused believed that he was bone fide divorced from his first wife before he married her. She then went on to state that the question of his divorce was never mentioned in their conversation during their married life, but they had talked of it before they were married. At that time, so the testimony went both had come to the conclusion that the divorce was valid.

Dr. Hanson having finished his cross-examination, the witness was then queried by Mr. Murray as to the facts of her first marriage. The court took a recess until 2:30 this afternoon, when the hearing of witnesses continued.

Sweet Do-Nothing

There's lazy clouds a-creepin'
In the lazy sky o' June,
An' Nature's all in keepin'
With this lazy afternoon.
I've strolled out through the meaders
To this quiet little nook
An' I'm loafin' in the shadders
An' a-listenin' to the brook.
But I ain't a bit contented—
Not a bit, an' tha's a fact—
For I can't help a-thinkin'
Of the long walk back.
The little brooks a-singin'
Kinder lazy-like an' low
An' the water-bugs go swingin'
On its surface to an' fro';
An' its singin' charms a teller,
An' it seems to say to him
As he's layin' there a-dozin':
"Don't ye wanten take a swim?"
Oughta stop my eye-lids shuttin'
Oughta take a swim . . . But then
There's the trouble of a-puttin'
On yer clo's again.
HY. O'HUMM.

MAINE

Records Produced

The records of application for the authority to perform marriages, which are in the custody of the witness, were produced, showing the record of application of Joseph E. Wilson for such authority in 1910.

Asked by Hon. Dr. R. B. Hanson, chief defence counsel, whether or not Rev. Joseph E. Wilson had been gazetted as "authorized to perform marriages" in 1919 when the first marriage took place, and whether he had then been registered in Mr. Brown's records, the witness stated that he was not. Mr. Brown stated that after the correction had been made in the 1926 Gazette, he in all good faith had changed the record to correspond with the name of the last mentioned Gazette.

Rev. Mr. Kirschbaum testified that he was authorized to perform marriages in the State of Maine. Defence counsel sharply challenged his right to make such an answer, stating that such must be an expert opinion, and that he didn't believe that Mr. Kirschbaum could give an opinion on the laws of the State of Maine.

After considerable argument and reference to former cases, the evidence proceeded. Witness stated that he had records of all marriages he had ever performed, and produced a book in his own handwriting bearing record of the marriage of Wilfred P. Phillips to Myrtle R. Kelly.

Next documentary evidence was a booklet which was produced by the prosecution and handed to the witness. He stated that a signature in the booklet was his own writing. Further questioned he said, "I recognize this booklet as one filled out by Wilfred P. Phillips and Myrtle R. Kelly when they came to my home to be married."

Could Not Remember

Sharply cross-examined by Hon. Dr. Hanson, witness could not say that he remembered the physical act of signing the book. Defence submitted to the court that the document was of no use as evidence unless it had been signed in the presence of the other parties.

Witness told the court that he had signed in their presence and handed it to Mrs. Phillips. He stated that he remembered Phillips as a big fellow.

The witness first told the defence counsel that he could not say that he remembered the particular marriage, but later stated he remembered that the marriage had been the first in the parsonage at Houlton, and the second after he had moved to that town.

At the close of the cross-examination, court was adjourned until ten o'clock this morning.
