BEQUEST

Departing, I would leave you this
When I am here no more—
The dreams that lifted me above
This earth to sky's bright door.

This I would give you, too, beloved,
For this I count life's best...
Capacity for happiness
In simple pleasures' quest.

A joy deep down in dawn's high note,
And in the silvery sheen
Of river's wealth, enjoyment of
World's charm of peaceful green.

What I bequeath you of my store
Of pennies I put by
I count as nothing when compared
With beauty pulsing high.
GEORGE ELLISTON.

THE NEW TEACHER

Last year I was a college girl,
Alert intelligent;
When people talked on science or art
I knew just what they meant.

And nothing in this whole wide world
Then seemed beyond my reach;
But now my life is all summed up
In two dull words, "I teach!"

or lost, Mr. Maise stated that people certainly weren't going to go without coal, and if it couldn't be purchased at one place it would be gotten somewhere else, but he does not believe that the market will be lost.

"Government Won't Act"
"We wanted," he said, in referring to the stand of the Government on the strike situation, "an opportunity to lay our position before the government. The government refused to act, so now we must prepare further plans of our own."

Mr. Maise would not state what future moves the union proposes to make.

"The proposal made by officials of the United Mine Workers of America that the Government arrange a meeting with the coal operators in the Minto area and union officials to deal with the question of Union recognition was discussed at a meeting in Fredericton last Friday with representatives of the Minto local union, at which the Premier and others were present when the position of the Government was definitely stated," stated Hon. Mr. McNair.

"It was pointed out that while industrial workers have the right to join together in a union of their own choice to promote their interests in a lawful way, and likewise, any employer of labour has the right to recognize and deal with such a union if he so desires, as our law now stands these are matters which concern the employers and workers only. It is not the business of the Government to compel or prevent the employers dealing with a union in settling differences that may arise with their employees.

Fair Wage Board

"It was pointed out, however, that there is another method for settling labor disputes through the medium of a tribunal established as part of the machinery of the State and empowered to investigate conditions and make orders binding on all parties concerned.

"It was further pointed out that in this Province we have such a body in the Fair Wage Board, which has operated efficiently and satisfactorily in all cases referred to it. The Board was prepared to function in the Minto dispute whenever the workers desired it to intervene.

"The representatives of the miners at the meeting referred to undertook to submit to the men the proposal so advanced but whether this was done is not known at the present time. At any rate the sug-

Mrs. J. Mc. P. O'Brien, with her small daughter, Mary Rita, is visiting her parents, Chief Justice J. H. and Mrs. Barry.

Visited Relatives

Mrs. Walter Jennings has returned from visiting relatives at Auburn and Madison Me.

Mrs. William Shea has returned from Saint John where she underwent X-ray examination in St. Joseph's Hospital in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cooper expect to leave around the first of November for Florida where they will remain until some time in May. The family of W. P. Jones, Chairman of the Old Age Pensions Board will occupy Mr. Cooper's house during his absence.

Ald. Dr. and Mrs. B. R. Ross expect to leave on Saturday for a trip to New York.

gestion has not yet been acted upon. May Lose Market

"The situation that confronts us at the present time is not a happy one. The coal mines at Minto operate at a disadvantage in competition with other mines. The seams are thin and operating conditions are adverse. By sustained efforts over a period of years a fairly satisfactory market has been built up. If competitors gain even a temporary advantage in the field now held by us, grave difficulties will be encountered in regaining lost ground. The work of years may have to be done over again. Meantime a whole district is affected and severe suffering must inevitably follow for the miners who are idle and their families.

"With its knowledge of local needs and conditions and concerned as it is with the interests of labor and industry in New Brunswick the Fair Wage Board is unquestionably the proper body to intervene in the present dispute," Hon. Mr. McNair said.

Suggest Special Commissioner

"It has been suggested in certain quarters that a commission be appointed to investigate all problems connected with the coal mining industry in New Brunswick including coal subventions, freight rate assistance, prices, marketing conditions, etc.

"No one will deny the effect such matters may have on wages; but a commission appointed by the Province to investigate them would prove as futile as the 1927 Commission.

"The purpose of a Commission is to determine facts and make recommendations to the Government creating it in order that the latter may take action thereon.

"The speciousness of the present proposal rests upon the fact that the various matters mentioned fall within Dominion jurisdiction. If a Commission is necessary it should be appointed by the Dominion Government which has power to grant coal subventions and give assistance in freight rates and other relief.

"To the Commission recently appointed to investigate Dominion Political Relations submissions on these matters will doubtless be addressed.

"The Province has, however, authority to deal with wages and working conditions in any industry and the Government is prepared to see that this power is exercised as soon as the parties to the controversy are ready for the Fair Wage Board to intervene.

travelling via the thumb route. This American method of cheap transportation got the boys into difficulties twice in Italy, when they were arrested for adopting such mode of travel.

A three months visit to Palestine and the Holy Land followed a little exploring in Greece. Here they lived with British soldiers, and the natives. One of the odd trips followed this visit. They made their way across the North Syrian Desert to Iraq, then down the Persian Gulf to India, in which country they travelled 2,000 miles by rail, on a third class ticket which cost them $9.50 apiece. On this trip they slept in railway stations as they went.

Lost In Jungle

They sailed for Burma from Calcutta, deck passage, and arriving there started down the peninsula where they were lost for some time in the Malay jungle. From Singapore they travelled up the coast to Hong Kong, and then to Shanghai.

Going back, they spent a month at beach combing before they secured a job on the tramp-steamer, "Nairnbank", which took them northward to Dairien in Manchukuo and thence across the Pacific to Vancouver. Not yet satisfied to call it a trip, they hitch-hiked down the coast to San Francisco and then across the United States to their home.

The many slides, which were beautifully done in colour, gave a highly educational picture of the many parts of the world which the brothers visited. Wonderful pictures of famous buildings and scenes, such as the Taj Mahal bathed in moonlight, and the house-tops of Jerusalem brought gasps from the spectators, while the stories of having to "cackle" for eggs in Belgium, "moo" for milk in Italy, because of language limitations, sleeping in a coffin in the Great Pyramid of Egypt in which Pharaoh Cheops was buried 5,000 years ago, brought in turn roars of laughter and shivers from the audience.
