Meeting Last Night Was Largely Attended by Labor Men

At an enthusiastic meeting in Oddfellows Hall last evening, the old Fredericton Trades and Labor Council was reorganized, with a large number signing the preliminary roll. Mr. Ryan declared that labor conditions were getting worse and worse from year to year. Wages were not sufficient to sustain life in decency let alone in comfort. The authorities, neither provincial nor civic, appeared to be doing anything about it Employers had it all their own way. There was only one bona-fide Labor Union in Fredericton—the Masons and Bricklayers, which was just hanging on. Labor must depend on its own efforts. He advised reorganization of the old Trades and Labor Council, as a central body, to unite the different Labor organizations of the city. L. J. Dionne

DEVON LUMBER COMPANY MILL OPENED TODAY

Provides Employment To Large Number of Workers

The Devon Lumber Company's mill at Nashwaaksis commenced operations this morning. Between thirty and forty men are employed in the mill and a large crew are engaged in hauling logs to

The company proposes to cut between three and four hundred thousand feet of lumber within the next month or so. It is figured that after the opening of the river, that over one million feet of lumber will be cut at this mill, this is a much heavier cut than last year. This is the first mill in this vicinity to start operations, and the industry will be of much benefit to the people in that locality. This mill was formerly operated by the Hawkins concern.

The lumber being milled is purchased from various farmers and small lumber operators, who in turn give employment to many other wodsmen. The increased demand for Canadian lumber on the European and English markets, should have the effect of stimulating the lumber industry in this province, and indications are that there will be a much larger output of lumber in the different mills in this vicinity during the coming

The earlier anticipated break-up of the ice on the St. John river will make spring sawing much earlier, as the lumber drives will be brought to the various mills in this locality, earlier than in previous years.
