

Kelly and Skinner Are Crowned Champs in Meet at Hub

Puck Star Wins Amateur Crown, Pro Takes Open

Detroit Red Wing Star 15 Strokes Up On Nearest Competitor, Bill Crawford, Westfield--Thorn-ton Places Second To Algonquin Club Pro. For Open and Professional Titles.

MONCTON, July 14—Pete Kelly of Belvedere Golf Club, Charlottetown, and Archie Skinner, youthful pro of the Algonquin Club, St. Andrews, stroked their way to the New Brunswick—Prince Edward Island championships here today as the fourth annual tourney of the combined Association came to a close.

Kelly won the amateur championship and Skinner the open title as well as the pro crown.

With his victory Kelly became the second National Hockey League star to capture a championship event in the provinces by the sea. Joe Lamb of the New York Americans is already the holder of the Maritime crown, having won it last year on the links of the Riverside Golf and Country Club, near Saint John.

Fifteen strokes back of Kelly was young Bill Crawford of the Westfield Country Club who put on a spurt today to bring him into second place. Larry Thornton, pro of the Riverdale Club, Moncton, placed second to Skinner for the open title and professional 72-hole match.

Vernon Balch, Riverside, trailed Thornton by a single stroke, with a gross of 213.

George Belliveau, Lakeside, Moncton, captured the Second Division with young Paul Deadman, Riverdale Moncton, taking the Third Division honors and R. J. Hickey, Westfield, capturing first place in the Fourth Division.

The Charlottetown team of Pete Kelly, Vic Saunders, R. T. Holman and J. A. Saunders, won the Johnston and Ward trophy for the best team gross, while The Telegraph-Journal trophy for the team with the best net went to the Riverside No. 3 team.

Bill Crawford sprang a surprise in the First Division, by chasing Kelly in for the second shot in the stand-

JACK CURLEY, VERSATILE MANAGER, ANYTHING FROM CHOIRS TO FLEAS

Started Career At Newspaper Work ---Promoted Some Great Sport Attractions

NEW YORK, July 12—Jack Curley, 61, who promoted everything from flea circuses and one-piece bathing suits to heavyweight wrestling and who died recently, was one of the most versatile members of the sporting world.

Curley did what most sports experts had believed was impossible. He restored wrestling to public favor after it had been denounced as the most crooked of all off-color rackets. Under Curley's touch, wrestling flourished after 1929, and thousands paid to watch his exhibitions throughout the country.

The genial promoter, who stepped out of the field of sports on several occasions to promote a Wild West circus, to manage a tour of the Vatican choir and to promote dance marathons and bridge contests, was born in San Francisco July 4, 1876, of Alsatian parents. He was christened Jacques Armand Schuel, but later changed that to Curley, a nickname that had been given him because of his thick ringlets.

Worked for Newspaper

Curley worked as a boy on a San Francisco newspaper, and then went to Chicago where he found employment in a shooting gallery. Then he took up boxing, and from that he turned to promoting.

He covered a wide field—

In 1899 he managed William Jennings Bryan on a lecture tour. The great commoner was said to have become Curley's close friend when he learned that the promoter never touched alcohol.

He was the impresario of the Jack Johnson-Jess Willard heavyweight fight of Havana, July 5, 1915.

Managed Kellerman

He invented the one-piece bathing suit while managing Annette Kellerman, the diver.

He managed Rudolph Valentino, Jim Jeffries, Bill Tiden, Georges Carpentier, and Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, suffragette leader.

Curley was married twice. He divorced his first wife. His two children, Jack and Jean, lived with him. His second wife, who survives him, was Bessie Grobgeid, his secretary.

Entered Wrestling in '29

It was in 1929 that Curley entered the wrestling field, and a few years later his wrestlers became known as "the grunt and groan men." He dramatized the matches by having the wrestlers simulate "pain" by shrieking and screaming as they worked. The public liked it.

"I've never promoted a wrestling match that was not absolutely honest," he once said.

THREE PUTTS FOR BIRDIES WON TITLE FOR LITTLE JULES HUOT

Three fairly long putts will always stand out in the memory of Jules Huot, little French-Canadian from Kent, Quebec, who on Saturday galloped down the stretch to win the $3,000 General Brock 72-hole golf championship.

Skidding a trifle under last-round pressure after a red-hot 66 in the morning, Jules was four strokes over par for the first eight holes in the windup. He had started the round five strokes ahead of Harry Cooper, his playing partner and as they stood on the ninth tee Cooper was even with the gallant French-Canadian.

But Jules holed out a 15-foot putt on that ninth while Cooper was taking a regulation par four. That sent the eventual winner through the nine at a 38 clip. He then proceeded to "can" a 12-footer on the tenth for another birdie three and a 10-footer on the par-three eleventh for a birdie deuce.

Great Golfing Mark

That 3-3-2 clip was too much for Cooper. It was too much for the rest of the field and just enough to give Jules another touch of the old confidence. He played out the nine steadily finishing with a 34, one under par after being two under the Old Man at the tenth and eleventh.

Huot's great performance with rounds of 72-70-66—280 represent the greatest golfing achievement by a Canadian professional in the history of our big open tournaments. Ever since the days of 1914 the lads from the other side have walked off with our 72-hole opens. Now a "new day" dawns and Jules Huot is rightly the toast of the land.

"I am so happy," said Jules, after it was all over, "I cannot say just what this means to me," he continued in his pleasing accent, "those three putts on the ninth, tenth and eleventh were the biggest things in my life."

DEMPSEY SR. IN COURT ON AN ASSAULT CHARGE

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 15—The elder of the fighting Dempsey family—Hyrum Dempsey, 81 year old father of Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight boxing champ—was booked by deputy sheriffs yesterday for too much fighting.

Hannah Lythgoe, 66 year old neighbor of the Dempsey's signed an assault and battery complaint before a justice of the peace charging Hyrum Dempsey, with striking her on the nose during what was alleged to have been a general melee at the Dempsey home early yesterday.

The report by sheriff's officers said harsh words during an argument led to general fighting and one of the group was taken to a Salt Lake City hospital suffering from head and face bruises after being hit on the head by a blackjack.

Dempsey was released on $500 bond.

CANADIANS MAKE SECOND STAGE OF KING'S PRIZE

Jensen and Matchett Lead Mates in Bisley Classic With 100

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 14—Canada today qualified seven or eight men for the second stage Friday of the King's prize, the classic of the present Empire meeting of military marksmen.

Sgt. C. W. Harvey of the Hertfordshire Yeomanry won the bronze cross for leadership in the first stage of the King's the blue ribbon of Empire military rifle-shooting, posting a fine score of 103 out of a possible 105.

More than 1,100 of the Empire's best shots were in the first stage, and only 300 qualify for Friday's second stage which in turn cuts the field to 100 for Saturday's final at the long ranges. Qualifying scores were not announced tonight but it seemed that seven Canadians with scores of 99 or better would progress further, and scores of 98 or 97 might have a chance.

Sgt. T. A. Jensen of Innisfail, Alberta, and young Lieut. G. E. Matchett of Hamilton led the Canadian sharp shooters in the first stage of the King's with scores of 100. The first stage called for seven shots at each of the 200, 500 and 600 yard ranges.

Jensen started with a 33 to 200 yards, posted a perfect score of 35 a 500 and slipped only to 32 at 600 yards for his 100. Matchett scored 34, 33 and 33 respectively.

Five Post 99's

Right behind them among the Canadians were five 99's, posted by Sgt. M. F. Dillon of Ottawa, C.S.M. G. M. Emslie of Toronto, Lieut. C. F. Kennedy of Hilden, N. S., Lieut. Wayne Mackenzie of Ottawa and Capt. T. M. Sieniewicz of Halifax.

FREDERICTON-DEVON TEAM CLIMBS OVER MARYSVILLE LAST NIGHT

Devon Sluggers Pound Out Nine Runs --- Eddie Dinsmore Holds Cotton Town Team To Three Hits

"Dinny" Dinsmore hurled the Devon nine through to another victory in the York-Sunbury league game last night when they sent the Marysville team down with a 9-3 defeat, on the Cotton Town stamping grounds.

The game, which did not conclude six innings, was one of the slowest in league games played in either town this year. Loose ball was played in the earlier parts of the game, but both teams tightened down toward the end of the scrap.

Marysville got off to a bad start when Jewett, the first sacker missed a line drive to first base. He stabbed at the ball, but calculations were a little off, so that the ball skipped on by, was fumbled by a fielder, allowing the runner down to third.

Sappier, the speedy Indian hurler of the Marysville nine was held back by the injury which Paul, the other half of the Indian battery received in a game last week. Paul was in there for the full game, but had to hold the Indian twirler in check because of his damaged hand.

Cain was pounded out of Marysville box in the first inning, when the hard-hitting Devon team pounded out six runs.

Dinsmore turned in fine ball all through the game, allowing only three hits.

Devon are only half a game behind the league-leading Minto team and Marysville have gone down to a third position, the cellar of the loop.

Batteries: Devon, Dinsmore and Staples; Marysville, Cain, Sappier and Paul.

AVERY WINS TWO AT WOODSTOCK

Drives "Noontime" and "Tracey Hanover" To Two Firsts

WOODSTOCK, July 14—Earl Avery, Woodstock driver, was a double winner at the opening day of the Woodstock Driving Club mid-summer meet here this afternoon. Avery piloted T. Holdaway's Noontime to a straight heat victory in the classified trot and pace and repeated with Tracey Hanover in the 2.14 trot and pace. Wendell Wathen with Alloway was an easy winner in the 2.17 trot and pace, also in straight heats.

While there were no breath-taking finishes, the racing was consistently good and the time fast. The crowd got their biggest thrill in the second heat of the 2.14 class, when Driver Chappelle, behind Harkaway, got away a saddle ahead of Tracey Hanover which had the hole. Chappelle could not cut into the rail but set a smart clip for the first half which made the Avery entry step well out to keep ahead. They went to the quarter in 30 1/4, and the half in 1:02 1/2. Harkaway slowed down in the second half and Tracey Hanover finished easily several lengths to the good in 2:08 1/4, equalling the best time made on the Maine and New Brunswick circuit this year.
