Social Evening at Exp. Farm

About one hundred guests were present at a social evening held last night at the Experimental Farm in connection with the training courses which are being held preparatory to the Provincial Youth training project. The rooms and dance hall had been artistically decorated by members of the Art Department. Mural decorations in fantastic and colorful art designs were displayed in the recreation room while the reception room showed wall hangings which were the fruit of the looms and handicraft classes, giving the appearance of a weaving room with spinning wheels and other weaving implements in prominence. A program of dancing with three novelty dances was enjoyed as well as whistling and vocal numbers. An orchestra provided music for dancing.

Honored guests included Hon. A. C. Taylor, Minister of Agriculture, J. K. King, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Dr. Fletcher Peacock, Director of Education and C. F. ### W. I. Meeting

Carrying out the motto of the Women's Institutes throughout the British Empire, "Home and Country," the Fredericton Institute at the meeting last night voted $10 towards the upkeep of the Children's Home in Fredericton; adopted two families for Christmas giving and made the annual contribution of $2.50 towards the fund for a home for the care and training of the feeble-minded of New Brunswick, which it is hoped the Government will erect in the near future, and for which the need is great.

The Institute met at the home of Mrs. Fenton Wood who with Mrs. H. F. Belding proved gracious hostesses. Mrs. G. I. Nugent was in the chair, and after the singing of O Canada and the repetition of the Club Woman's Creed in unison the roll was called, each member responding with an article for the Christmas boxes which will be sent out by the Institute. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. D. J. Shea. Considerable correspondence was read by the secretary, Mrs. J. Allan Horncastle, including thanks for flowers and a letter of congratulation from Mrs. A. D. McCain, president of the New Brunswick Women's Institutes, congratulating the Fredericton Branch on arranging for a scholarship to commemorate the memory of Mrs. John Harvey, who did so much for the Institutes during her lifetime. She heartily commended the member for their tribute to Mrs. Harvey Scholarship. A letter from members of Mrs. Harvey's family was also read.

Miss Alma E. Weldon, supervisor of Women's Institutes, gave a most interesting account of the Federated Women's Institutes Conference which she attended in Toronto and at which Her Excellency Lady Tweedsmuir spoke, advocating more correspondence between the women of Canada and the women of England.

Letters of appeal for help were read and considered, two families adopted for Christmas, and many lovely articles contributed for the V. O. N. hope chest received with pleasure.

A most interesting letter from Frimley and Frimley, England, Fredericton's link with the institutes of England, was read by Mrs. A. E. Mathewson, who for the past three years has been the link between the two institutes. The letter told of what great work the Institute is doing in Frimley and the celebration of the twenty first birthday of the Institute in England. The letter also said that the "Fredericton garden was in beautiful bloom in spite of the fact that it was November."

After bills had been ordered paid and the exhibits for the 1938 exhibition suggested, a made-over dress for a child, boy's knitted sweater and a knitted outfit for a baby, Ella Nugent gave a most delightful reading followed by a humorous skit "Engaging a teacher to succeed Major Good as teacher of geography in the Normal School." Mrs. A. E. Mathewson was the "Secretary of the Board of School Trustees," who accepted his resignation and whose painful duty it was to appoint a successor. Only two applications were received for the position, that of Miss Minnie Ha-Ha (Mrs. J. Allan Horncastle), and Miss Chrystal Dingle-Hooper (Mrs. Clair M. Young), who were examined in matters not relative to geography. The secretary found it impossible to make a decision on account of the skilful answers and put the question to the meeting, which resulted in both being appointed to the position.

Following the National Anthem a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served, the hostesses being Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Belding, Mrs. Nehehah Kierstead, Mrs. J. D. Estey, Mrs. E. E. Burden and Mrs. J. G. Kirkpatrick. Forty-six members were present at the meeting last night and five new ones welcomed.

WINS NOBEL PRIZE 31 YEARS AFTER HIS FATHER

Professor George Paget Thomson, London, England, scientist, with his wife and son, John Adams Thomson, in their London home as he reads the telegram notifying him that he has been awarded the Nobel Prize for Physics, jointly with C. J. Davisson, an American. The same prize was awarded to Professor Thomson's father, Sir Joseph Thomson, 31 years ago. It is the first time that a father and son have received the award separately, though a father and son have received it jointly. The award was for his discovery—at the same time that Davisson made the same discovery—that electrons are accompanied by waves.

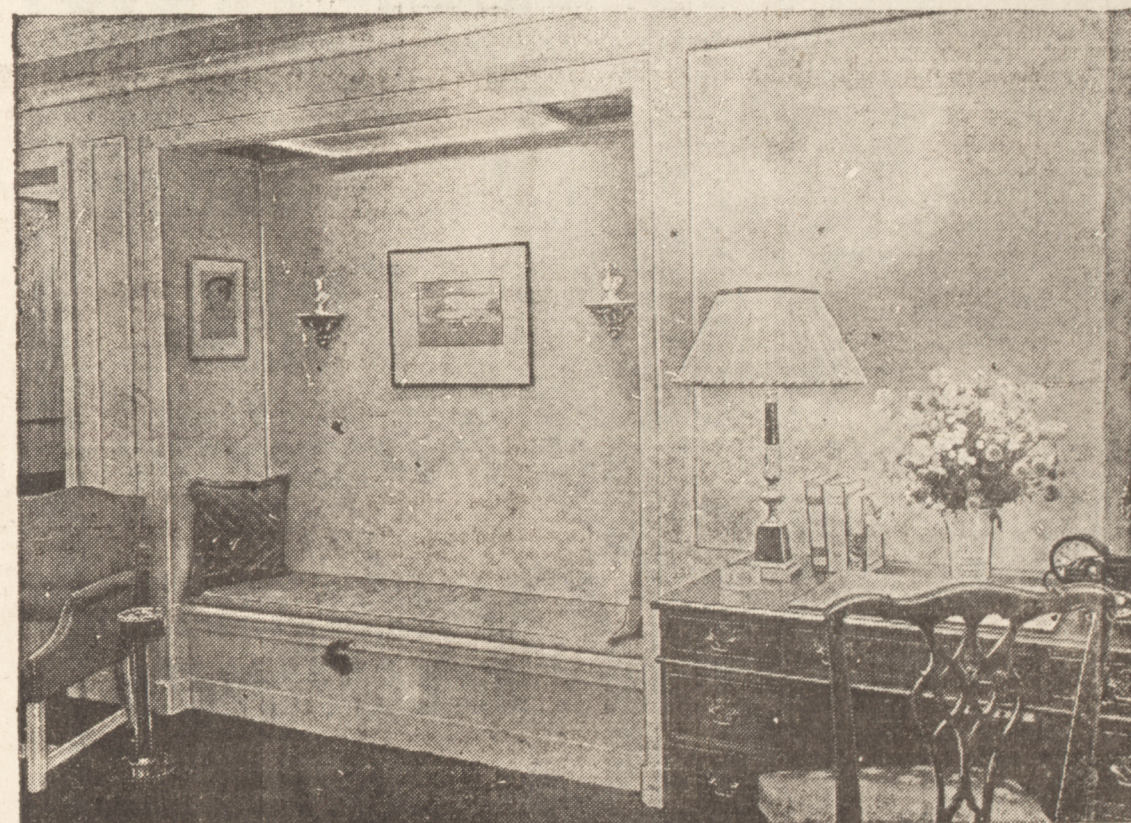

of the local School Board, presided, 22 pupils of Miss Alexander's department and instrumental music was furnished by M. P. Boone, and Mary F. Alexander of the teaching staff, on the organ; Hollis Nason, violin; Dow Alexander, cornet; and Laurence and Ivy Allen, guitar.

The program included: chorus, My Own Canadian Home, by ten pupils of Miss Grieves and Miss Heenan's departments; cornet solo, Dow Alexander; exercise, Safety First Train, by 22 pupils of Miss Alexander's department; duet, Ivy and Stella Allen; Red Cross Junior exercise, by 15 of Miss Heenan's pupils; solo, Laurence Allen; recitation, by Lloyd Kingston; solo, Rev. B. G. Linton; spelling match by 12 pupils of Grade Seven; intermission for sale of candy; music by orchestra, Miss Alexander, L. Allen, H. Nason; lecture, Miss MacLean, God Save The King.

The net proceeds of the evening were $11.45.

Miss MacLean showed slides of the treatment of crippled children of P. E. Island, many of whom had been marvellously and completely cured. Similar slides are being prepared for N. B. The hospitals treat such cases at minimum cost and surgery is free. Practically all P. E. I. cases are under treatment. Miss MacLean received a hearty vote of thanks, on motion of Rev. B. G. Linton.

Dark Spots Now Becoming Cozy Corners In Many Homes

The light-panel built into the ceiling makes possible an interesting decorative effect, which is extended along practical lines by the attractive lamp on the desk.

By Jean Prentice

THE dark spots of yesterday are becoming the cozy corners of today, thanks to modern architecture and lighting.

Many a home has an alcove or window seat that has long been the despair of the family, at least insofar as decoration is concerned. Generally, these areas are sufficiently pleasant looking by day, but at night they often fade into a background of shadow that robs them of their natural beauty and charm. Moreover, frequently they are useless for reading, sewing or study, because no original provision was made for lighting them.

The modern trend in architecture, which carefully conserves space, and permits none to be wasted, lights these alcoves and window seats from above. In many cases, particularly in the newer houses, a panel of glass with a light above it is built into the ceiling, directly overhead. This panel may contain either clear or colored light, or a combination of both. The decorative effect is completed by placing statuettes or other ornaments on wall pedestals at either side of a picture.

Sometimes a desk is placed alongside the alcove or window seat, and the overhead lighting panel is called upon to provide illumination for it. This practice is frowned upon by lighting specialists, who point out that lighted ceiling panels rarely provide sufficient light for such purposes. Every desk, they claim, should have its own lamp, preferably one of the Better Sight type, approved by the Illuminating Engineering Society, in order that whoever is seated at it may have ample local light by which to see clearly and without eyestrain.

It should be understood, too, that regardless of what the room may offer in the way of built-in or installed lighting panels, every chair should have its own lamp, else the purpose of the scheme, which is control and flexibility, will be defeated. Ornamental fixtures are designed largely for decoration, and should never be permitted to displace the table or floor lamps needed for lighting convenience and ease of seeing.
