(Special to The Daily Mail)

OTTAWA, Aug. 30—During the course of the past few weeks this column had the good fortune to be in a position to offer certain exclusive news items in advance of all other sources of information from the Capital, and these reports have been proven correct in every way.

Now, this same source has brought forth a new story, and this time it is a matter of grave concern to every citizen of this country.

While every surface indication does not suggest that the railways will be the subject of radical action in the near future by the Government, yet it is somewhat a theory amongst the well-informed that all is not as quiet as the official or authoritative sources

(Special to The Daily Mail)

Wolfville, N. S., Aug. 30.—At the closing session of the 32nd annual convention of the United Baptist Church of the Maritime Provinces on Saturday night resolutions against gambling and against government liquor control were passed.

It was claimed by Dr. H. B. Grant secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada speaking to the convention that the Government liquor store was a greater menace to the province than the bootlegger and was in some cases a base of supply for the bootlegger.

the clubs established under the control act were worse than the old time bars. He said that the responsibility rested to a large extent upon church members in whose homes there is an established custom of serving liquor and upon those who oppose legislation to protect men against the liquor traffic.

OVER $3,000 PER MIN. BEING SPENT BY GREAT BRITAIN

Belief That Move Will Push Back War-Minded Nations

LONDON, Aug. 30—Great Britain is now spending for armament purposes vast sums to the average of $3,750 a minute under her plan of expending $7,444,312,500 in an effort to force other nations to disarmament.

By comparison the net cost of the Great War to Britain, during a period of four years and eight months, is estimated at slightly less than what is now being expended on the five-year armament program.

Battleships are being built. Airplanes are being turned out by the score. Elaborate air-raid precautions are a part of defence preparations. Industry is being mobilized.

"A contribution toward peace," Prime Minister Chamberlain has termed this program. To support his view there is a school of political thought which believes war has been pushed back five years by British rearmament.

Alarmists, on the other hand, continue to voice fears that rearmament may have come too late, that Britain may not be ready when war, with its capacity for "knock-out" blows, again engulfs Europe.

No question remains, however, that Britain has turned her energies to rearmament with ever-accelerating efficiency. The record of the past six months, as regards rearmament and defence preparations, aside from the strictly military, includes the following:

Navy: Start of a program which, by the end of the year, will see 664,000 tons of warships under construction—a peacetime record.

Army: Thorough mechanization, development of modern anti-aircraft units, tremendous drive in recruiting to add 112,000 men to the Regular Army and reserves and 100,000 men to the Territorial Army.

Aviation: Acceleration of production of military airplanes to provide 1,750 first-line planes before long. Development of new, high-speed bombers and air-dreadnaughts.

Experimentation with bombers which can cruise, fully loaded, at more than 300 miles an hour.

In Other Directions Industry: Plans for immediate mobilization of industry in case of war; for protecting essential railroad services; for safeguarding food supplies.

Civilian protection: Start of manufacture of 30,000,000 gas masks for distribution to population in "event of emergency."

Organization of communities for protection against enemy air-raids, including cleanup squads, portable fire engines, bomb-proof shelters.
