This Once Was Spain

This once was Spain and in these quiet vales
Grew the red grapes converted into wine.
Now earth is rutted deep with cannon fire,
Its vineyards are a mass of blackened vine.

Gnarled grey-green olives shaded this old walk
Where pious monks at evening told their beads.

They knew the all-embracing charity
That does not reck of time or place or creeds.

Here was a fountain, in an open court,
Tiled by those gifted artisans, the Moors;

But naught of beauty, man or nature-made
In the black hatred of a war endures.

This was a country old and beautiful,
Rich as a storehouse of the centuries.
But all was offered to the god of war,
The treasures of the ages now are his.
—Virginia Connett.

INCREASE CREW

for a few days furlough, but it is thought to be either out or under control. Both of these fires were on granted land.

Weather Favorable to Fires

Lack of any rain except scattered showers in the province during the past two months has been the cause of the many forest fires of late weeks, it was stated. Up to now the fire fighters of the forestry office have been fortunate in catching all fires when still small, but the fire at Little Kedron Lake, unless checked immediately, may develop into such a conflagration as the one which burned through the Geary woods two summers ago. The relative humidity of the atmosphere has dropped considerably during the past week because of the absence of rain, making more difficult the work of the fire fighters, since moisture in the air helps to quell the flames.

BAPTIST CONVENT.

to that heritage, and the simple gospel preached, much has been accomplished." The address was a strong plea for aggressive evangelism, the speaker declaring that "we have the same old sin, the same old sinner and we need the same old gospel."

Rev. Waldo Machum of Kentville, N. S. a former Fredericton boy and Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Convention spoke on "The Stewardship of Money. He stated that some would think his topic out of place in the evening's program, but on the contrary it was well placed, since it was a big factor in Kingdom development.

"Some keep the money and organizational part and so called spiritual things in another compartment. This is heresy . . . In proportion to our ability to give, money is the comparison of consecration and is absolutely indispensable to the Kingdom," concluded the speaker.

"Christian Prayer" was the topic dealt with by Rev. E. J. Barass, of the First Baptist Church, Truro, N. S., who pointed out that Jesus was a past master in the art of prayer. "He prayed to live, and he lived to pray." Three reasons were given for prayer: First, "we should pray as Christians, seeking to discover God's perfect will; secondly, we should pray believing that what we ask for we shall surely receive; thirdly, we ought to pray, enjoying the fellowship with the trine God."

This morning saw a large number of persons gather for the Sunday morning worship service of the convention. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. M. M. Lappin, of the Sackville, N. B., United Baptist Church.

Dr. Lappin spoke on "The Integrity of Life." He centred his remarks around the words, "Every house divided against itself shall not stand." Jesus here clearly implied the integrity of life, he said. Division means disintegration is arrested complete dissolution results.

"Modern progress has made the world a neighborhood; our task is to make it a brotherhood." The speaker went on to speak of disintegration in the religious life, which has made and makes for division in the church.

A male quartet, consisting of Rev. H. H. Phinney, Norton, N. B.; Rev. John Linton, Fredericton; Licentiate James Davidson, West Chester, N. S., and Licentiate Harold Allaby, Woodstock, N. B., sang during the morning service. During the day music was furnished by the choir of the Wolfville Baptist Church. Mr. Phinney was soloist.

The afternoon service was under the auspices of the Young People's Convention—the two conventions meeting together for this service.

Mr. Manzer gave the devotional address, speaking on the subject "Jesus the Ideal of Life." He urged the young people to take Jesus Christ as the great ideal for life, that their lives might be of the best and that they might help to make a better society.

A sacred concert by the choir of the Cornwallis Street Baptist Church, Halifax, was the outstanding feature of the afternoon service. The program consisted of Negro spirituals, solos, duets and trios. At the close of the service an offering amounting to more than $150 was taken to help the Cornwallis Street folk in paying off some overdue taxes on their church.

Rev. William Oliver, pastor of the Cornwallis Street Church, acted as chairman of the sacred concert, and Mrs. C. H. Oliver, Wolfville, was accompanist.

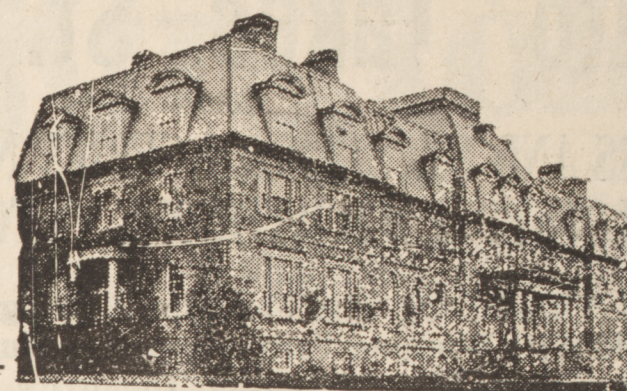

Rev. John Linton of Fredericton opened the business session of the afternoon with prayer. Rev. F. H. Eaton of Wolfville, gave the report of the committee on arrangements. Mr. Schrumman spoke on the resolution of gambling and it was resolved that the convention go on record as reaffirming its attitude towards gambling throughout the different provinces. The Provincial Government were commended for their campaigns against slot machines and gambling devices at exhibitions and at other places. And it was recommended that Ministers and members of churches use every endeavor to educate the people against the gambling habit.

Another important feature brought out by their resolutions was that dealing with drinking and drunken drivers who are responsible for many casualties upon our highways and are more and more making driving extremely hazardous for everyone. Cock tail parties in the home and at social
