Never Again the Sky

The wounded mallard fell quite near me on the grass. With mounting fear I leaned above the ooze of red. That wet its bosom as it spread. My heart beat missed; the dying thing Had bravely tried to lift a wing. It was so bitterly unfair That pain could hold it tethered there. When it had known the rain and sun, Had challenged life and almost won. I listened for the earth to cry. This flame of beauty shall not die.

REAL PROBLEM

the effort to recall foreign volunteers from Spain was expressed by a high Italian official in Rome. This official intimated that the way would be paved for settlement of the larger problem—the balance of power in the Mediterranean—of the 27 nations Non-Intervention Committee is able to clear up the danger of war spreading from Spain.

In London and Paris informed persons said Great Britain and France were equally ready to grant belligerent rights to both factions in the Spanish conflict. Italy and Germany have argued for such recognition.

The problem before the non-intervention sub-committee Tuesday, informed persons said, boils down to how many "token" volunteers shall be recalled from Spain before belligerent rights are granted.

In the sub-committee's meeting yesterday Italy accepted a British proposal for such "token withdrawal" on condition it be "in equal numbers for both sides."

Ambassador Charles Corbin outlined France's five-point program thus:

1. Immediate withdrawal of volunteers.
2. Granting of belligerent rights after an international commission reports withdrawals have been effected and further under way.
3. Pressure from participating governments on both Spanish combatants to withdraw a "definite number of volunteers—account being held of the proportions to be observed."
4. Prevention of further volunteers going to Spain.

Count Dino Grand, Italy's spokesman, Saturday offered a conditional "token" withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain.

But he insisted withdrawals be in "equal numbers from both sides," which competent diplomatic quarters Saturday declared would mean recall of only a small proportion of the Blackshirts now in Spain even if all foreign volunteers were taken from the Spanish government's ranks.

YOUNGSTERS AT CHURCH SERVICES AS BAN LIFTED

Celebrate 62nd Anniversary Gibson Memorial United Church

Service of Praise

Leroy Toll, World Traveller and Lecturer, at Wilmot Church

Yesterday was a prominent day in the churches here, all congregations being much larger through the attendance of children again following the lifting of the infantile paralysis ban. Several pupils were occupied by guest speakers, Rev. Dr. F. A. Wightman speaking in the afternoon and Rev. George Telford speaking in the evening service of the Gibson Memorial United Church in Devon in connection with the observance of the 62nd anniversary of the church.

Rev. W. A. Burge, pastor of the Gibson Memorial Church, returned the visit by conducting the evening service in St. Paul's Church here. Rev. Dr. H. T. DeWolfe, retired from the faculty of Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., conducted the services in the Brunswick Street Baptist Church, while Leroy Toll, world traveller and lecturer, was guest speaker at the Wilmot United Church.

Three services were held in the Gibson Memorial Church in celebrating the anniversary. Rev. Mr. Burge spoke at the morning service, while at 3 o'clock a service of praise was conducted under the direction of J. Harrison Wade, at which Rev. Dr. Wightman preached. At the evening service, Rev. Mr. Telford spoke, taking as his theme, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear."

Many Children Attend

Services in the George Street Baptist church were well attended. Rev. John Linton conducted both services, speaking in the morning on the subject "Why Jesus chose twelve Disciples," and in the evening taking as his theme, "God, active in the world." Large numbers of children accompanied their parents to the services, while the Sunday School in the afternoon was also well attended.

The morning service of the St. Paul's Church was broadcast, and featured special music. Rev. Mr. Telford spoke on the subject "Break up the fallow ground," a sermon on the unused possibilities of life. Special music in the form of a duet by Miss Jean Smith and Miss Ruby Miller greatly added to the service. Rev. Mr. Burge spoke before a large congregation at the evening service.

Large congregations attended the Wilmot church. Rev. Dr. J. W. Bartlett conducted both services. The junior congregation met in the vestry, under the direction of Mrs. B. B. Barnes and Miss Edith Curll. The evening service featured an address by Leroy Toll on the Holy Land. The Sunday School in the afternoon was largely attended, and the Brotherhood of the church also met in the afternoon. Dr. Bartlett's theme in the morning was "The Lord Bless You."

Communion Service

The quarterly Communion service was observed in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday morning. Rev. Dr. George E. Ross conducted the service and also the evening worship. In the morning he spoke on the subject, "Sitting in Heavenly Places," while in the evening his theme was "I come that they might have life." Special music was rendered by Robert C. Bailey, organist.

Harvest Thanksgiving services were celebrated in Christchurch Cathedral yesterday. Very Rev. Dean W. H. Moonhead conducting all three services. Appropriate sermons and music were featured throughout the day, and special anthems were rendered by the organist. The church was appropriately decorated for the occasion.
