Guy Lombardo And Band Wishing You All A Happy New Year

The many ardent followers of Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians, whose sweet music on the Bond Bread program over the C.B.S. at 6.30 A.S.T. Sundays is one of the high spots of the week's radio entertainment, will be pleased with the following telegram received from Guy and the boys in his band.

New York, N. Y.
J. L. Neville,
The Daily Mail,
Fredericton, N. B.
Will you wish all of our friends in the provinces, including yourself, a Happy New Year.
(Signed) GUY LOMBARDO.

Hockey Fans Able To Start the Year Right With Hockey B'cast

Hockey fans will be able to start the New Year right by listening-in to the game between Toronto Maple Leafs and Canadiens at Maple Leaf Gardens, when the Imperial Oil Hockey Broadcast takes the air Saturday night.

This will be the second meeting of these two teams on Toronto ice this season, and because both teams have been playing "bang-up" hockey recently, the game should prove to be a highly exciting one for radio fans, as well as for those at the game.

Pasternack Gets Skill From Four Generations Of Master Musicians

From four generations of musicians Josef Pasternack received the talent which reveals itself in the brilliant musical scores which feature Vick's Open House broadcasts each Sunday.

His father and his uncles were bandmasters in the Russian army. His grandfather was assistant to Rimski-Korsakov. Two previous generations of paternal ancestors were outstanding figures in the Russian military bands.

The skilled conductor, who arranges the music for Jeanette MacDonald, Nadine Conner, Wilbur Evans, and the other prominent singers who guest on the program, as well as his own orchestra, began music lessons as soon as he had a chin big enough to tuck a violin under. When he was six years old he made his professional debut as a violinist at a concert given with his father and two brothers.

The violin mastered, he proceeded to learn every other instrument in the orchestra. Only the harp eluded him.

"We couldn't afford a harp," explains Pasternack. "And I'll never have time to learn to play it now, I'm afraid. It takes too long to learn to be adept."

GIRL PIANIST HOCKED FAMILY PIANO TO SPONSOR OWN CONCERT AT AGE 14, ON "RISING MUSICAL STAR" PROGRAM

Brilliant Work Earned Her Scholarship And Prizes; Studied In Germany; Appeared In Concert As Soloist With Berlin Symphony

An enterprising American school-girl who "hocked" her piano in order to sponsor her own concert at the age of 14, has been selected for national recognition as the "Rising Musical Star" for Sunday night, Jan. 2, at 11 o'clock A.S.T. via the Red Network of NBC.

"The Rising Musical Star" is Adele Marcus, now in her early twenties, and a brilliant pianist.

A few years ago, when the girl was 14 and her elder sister was 17, she sold the family piano for $450 in order to appear in joint-concert recital at Kansas City. The children then lived in Los Angeles but overcame parental objection and visited their married sister in the mid-western city while arranging concert details.

The concert stirred local music circles with its artistic and financial success, netting the youngsters $600.

A year earlier, when Adele was only 13, she had achieved her first experience in stimulating the admiration of music circles when she made her debut in concert at Los Angeles. She demonstrated a real feat by memorizing, in preparation for the concert, a Beethoven sonata, all 24 Liszt "Don Juan."

She later earned a scholarship at the Juilliard School of Music with Josef Lhevinne and captured the coveted Naumburg Prize which entitled her to a New York debut at Town Hall. Subsequently, she went to Germany to study with the celebrated Artur Schnabel, appearing in concerts at Berlin, Cologne, Hanover, Frankfurt-am-Main and Leipzig, and as soloist with the Berlin Symphony Orchestra.

As Sunday night's "Rising Musical Star," Miss Marcus is in an amusing position. After spending time and money for the European "finish," she finds that the "Rising Musical Star" program for which she has been chosen, offers her opportunity to gain the national recognition for ductor to be able to play all the instruments, because a conductor can't fool his orchestra. They know if he's sure of himself, and they'll listen to him if they know he can come down off the podium and show them how he wants the score played."

It's the plain, undecorative man, like the plain, substantial kitchen clock, that can usually be most depended on. The ornamental, drawing room variety are always either fast, unreliable or running down.

ANOTHER AMECHE MAKES BID FOR PLACE IN RADIO HALL OF FAME

Jim Ameche (left) not only sounds like his famous brother, Don Ameche (right) over the radio but looks like him. Jim leaps to stardom in the new daytime serial, Attorney-at-Law, which makes its debut over the NBC-Blue Network on Monday, January 3, at 11:30 a.m. A.S.T.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31—Twenty-three-year-old Jim Ameche is following his brother Don's footsteps up the ladder of radio fame.

On January 3 Jim becomes star of the new daytime serial, Attorney-at-Law, to be broadcast over the NBC-Blue Network, Mondays through Fridays, at 11:30 a.m. A.S.T. under the sponsorship of S. C. Johnson and Son Inc.

Until several weeks ago, Jim was definitely grooved as a radio juvenile. Then he was auditioned for the Grand Hotel dramas on NBC and, after appearing as a guest artist on several of the programs, he was made its leading man.

Jim was born and educated at Kenosha, Wis., and was introduced to radio by his older brother, who advised him to take an audition for a juvenile part of which he had heard. Since then, Jim has been studying and working hard to make Don proud of him. He admits that his greatest thrill was Don's telephone call from Hollywood to congratulate him on a performance.

Do you remember away back when every auto motor had huge petcocks over each cylinder so you could open 'em and squirt gasoline into 'em in order to help start the engine?

What a world! In a hot climate you get too lazy to do your best, and anywhere else you keep such a bad cold you can't.

WHEN STRICKLAND BEAT DELANEY

Maurice Strickland at the right, New Zealand heavyweight, has his arm upraised in token of victory as he stands next to Al Delaney, the Canadian whom he defeated on points in their fight at the Harringay Arena, London, Eng. The fight was an elimination match for the British Empire heavyweight title, now held by Tommy Farr.

HOW TO Win Friends AND Influence People

By Dale Carnegie Author of the famous book of this name...

HAVE YOU SMOKED A TURRET LATELY?

If every nagging wife, and every fault-finding husband would make it a point to "cool off" by smoking a Turret in silence, before saying a single word, many a home might be a pleasanter place in which to live. Turrets are so soothing because they are made from an original and unique blend of fine Virginia tobaccos. Even the package is better—it has a handy calendar on the back to keep you up to date. If you haven't smoked a Turret lately, try a package today.

IF YOU WANT A HAPPY HOME LIFE Don't nag!

"Of all the sure-fire devices ever invented for destroying love and breaking up a home, nagging is the most deadly. 'An authority on Domestic Relations says that one of the chief reasons why men leave home is because they won't tolerate nagging wives.'"

"Yes, and many a wife has been driven to desperation by a carping, fault-finding husband. 'Probably, more promising marriages have been wrecked, more homes broken up, by nagging partners than by any other one cause.'"

"If you are prone to nag, don't try to justify yourself by saying that you have cause. Perhaps you have. But that is not the point. 'The point is that nagging never accomplishes anything you want. Invariably, it only makes a bad matter worse.'"

"Husbands and wives are human beings—prone to faults and shortcomings. Yet, by adjusting themselves to each other's personalities, lasting happiness is possible. 'Later in this series, I will tell you how these adjustments can sometimes be made. But remember, nagging is worse than useless, always. Avoid it as you would avoid a snake.'"
