Submarine Attack Enters Situation

Moors, Arabs and Other Foreign Troops From Ceuta Land

VALENCIA, June 28—As a result of the sinking of the food laden Spanish merchantman Cabo Palos the Spanish government has ordered special vigilance against submarines.

The merchant ship was sunk, the Valencia defence ministry said, off Port Itach with the loss of five lives. Point Itach is 60 miles south of Valencia.

The defence ministry added that its reconnaissance planes "observed a German naval division of five warships on the same day as the torpedoing, to the south of the point at which the incident took place."

The new anti-submarine fleet will operate out of Port Almeria (which German warships shelled May 31 in retaliation for bombing of the Nazi battleship Deutschland.)

Forty-four survivors of the Cabo Palos, the government confirmed, were taken to Alicante by a fishing boat; after they drifted for several hours in lifeboats.

The government made no immediate announcement of evidence as to the nationality of the submarine but it was repeatedly asserted the Spanish insurgents have no undersea craft of their own.

Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia, promised the Italian people on Saturday that Europe's present crisis would be solved shortly by the fall of Madrid and a complete insurgent victory in Spain.

Twenty-three thousand Italians have gone to Spain to fight for the insurgents since mid-May, the Spanish Loyalist embassy have charged. Part of the Italian general staff, the map section, has been transferred to Cadiz, a communique asserted. Fifteen thousand Italians landed at Cadiz and Malaga during the middle of May, and 8,000 Italian soldiers left

DUCHESS OF WINDSOR'S FIRST HUSBAND WILL SOON MARRY WIDOW

LOS ANGELES, June 28—The first husband of the Duchess of Windsor, and Mrs. Norma Johnson, Hollywood and Detroit Socialite, will be married in Hollywood, July 5.

Breaking a long silence, Commander Earl Winfield Spencer made that formal announcement here today as he left Naval Hospital to join his fiancée in Hollywood.

He said the ceremony would be performed in Mrs. Johnson's home, and would be attended only by the members of her family.

The long-romored romance was verified in Los Angeles when Mrs. Johnson, a grandmother and widow of Homer Sturtevant Johnson, Detroit manufacturer, appeared at the city clerk's office to get application papers. Mrs. Johnson is 44 and Commander Spencer 45.

Ever since Mrs. Wallace Warfield Spencer Simpson shook the world with her romance with former King Edward VIII of England, Commander Spencer refused to discuss his first wife with newspapermen.

When his own new romance was rumored he remained 'unavailable' to the press. Today, however, when he checked out of Naval Hospital and was informed reporters were waiting, he called city editors to San Diego newspapers, and announced the marriage plans. Beyond that he refused comment. In Los Angeles Mrs. Johnson verified Commander Spencer's statement. She said she had met him in Detroit in 1922 when he went there to attend the air races.

When Commander Spencer was confined to the hospital with a fractured leg suffered in a hunting trip, Mrs. Johnson visited him.

Mrs. Johnson's two daughters Mrs. Dell Myron Wade Jr., and Mrs. Baile Peyton Legore, Jr., and grandson Myron Wade III, will attend the ceremony, she said.

Poor Telephone Service

THE public does not owe the New Brunswick Telephone Company anything and the Telephone Company, which has the monopoly of the business in this province, owes the public a reasonably efficient service. The public is paying a good rate, and a high rate for this service and the Telephone Company is making money. It has made money even at a time when other business concerns were either just managing to keep even or were falling behind. This being the case the public is entitled to good deal better service from the New Brunswick Telephone Company on both its rural and city lines than it is getting at the present time. It is almost impossible to get a call through to places like Lincoln and Burton, which are on the city exchange, and to get the connection without a good deal of bother in having the wrong people answer the calls. The service in these rural lines attached to the Fredericton exchange could not possibly be worse if some person had deliberately planned to make it worse.

The young women in our Fredericton exchange are doing their best to be obliging and courteous. At the same time there has in the last couple of months been considerable dissatisfaction expressed by the users of the telephone in this city, including business houses, at the delays and other unsatisfactory service. This is a well known fact and it may be a mechanical difficulty, but in the opinion of most people who are paying a high rate for their telephone service, these difficulties should be adjusted. It may be that this delay and dissatisfaction is due to the shortage of operating staff. This should also be adjusted in the interests of the public. There is no use in the New Brunswick Telephone Company trying to do any cheese paring at the expense of the public. The Company should endeavor to give the public better service.

CENTENARIAN'S DATA GATHERED ON LIFE AT 100

LONDON, June 28—Longevity is a subject for serious study to 6,000 British people who belong to the Centenarians' Club.

The founder, Dr. Maurice Ernest, is about to publish a book that is the result of a prolonged scientific study of the 600 books that form the club's library.

The club, which has existed for about 10 years, has some 6,000 members, and elects as honorary members all persons who are known to have attained their 100th birthday. It has, in consequence, a remarkable collection of the handwriting of centenarians, in the form of the acknowledgement and thanks of these honorary members.

Dr. Ernest declared that there is now a better chance of living to be 100 than in the past, simply because the general conditions of life, food, sanitation and medical science have reduced the risks to which people are exposed.

As for the stories of ancient worthies who attained fantastic ages, Dr. Ernest is convinced that they are unreliable. He has made investigations into many of them, and has found

SECURITY NEEDED TO AVOID LOSS ON THE MARKET

(Special to The Daily Mail) LONDON, June 28—In the House of Commons today the exchange Equalization fund was the subject of much discussion. Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer stated that the total fund was now seven hundred million pounds. There was a dispute in regard to the secrecy of the amount. Sir John Simon justified this secrecy by explaining that in one instance he stated that a few years ago that the account had lost seventy-five million pounds within a few weeks. If this had been known there would have been a panic on the stock market. In future, Sir John Simon said that there would be a report given every three months on this account. He hoped that this would put an end to the gold scare.

QUEST FOR GOLD REWARDED WITH PILE OF JUNK

NEW YORK, June 28—The year-long quest of Captain Simon Lake, submarine inventor, for $4,800,000 in British gold at the bottom of the East River ended without the gold.

The hulk which the 70 year old seaman was certain marked the site where the gold-laden British frigate Hussar, sank during the Revolutionary War turned out to be a pile of old water-logged boards.

(By Dean Wilson)

"But words are things, and a small drop of ink, falling like dew upon a thought, produces

That which makes thousands, perhaps millions, think."

Many years ago these wise words were written by the poet Byron, and the real meaning behind these lines expresses the thoughts of the experienced observers at Ottawa today.

It is beyond question that at no time since the past Great War of 1914-1918 has there been such a marked effort on the part of official Ottawa to keep certain matters as secret as possible under the circumstances, yet in one way or another certain developments and actions and manoeuvres have been instrumental in disclosing much valuable and significant information of national importance.

Recently it has been the good fortune of this column to disclose highly significant information about the role which Canada is playing in cementing the relationship between the British Empire and the United States, and a number of other facts. Now it has been discovered that England is arming at a much faster rate than all official reports want the public to believe, and a survey of the individuals who were close to the situation in the Old Country during the Coronation ceremonies and the Imperial Conference corroborates a number of informal but reliable opinions in the Capital.

It appears that the British Government is proceeding very rapidly with the initial plans to spend more

TOURISTS BRING $1,000,000 OF U. S. GOODS HOME

OTTAWA, June 28 — Canadians travelling in the United States are taking advantage of the privilege of bringing home free of duty a maximum of $100 worth of personal goods purchased in that country. During the past two months the total of such purchases has been estimated at $1,002,000, of which the bulk was in clothing and a large portion in radios.

Last year, when this privilege operated for the first time, Canadian tourist purchases in the United States were estimated at $4,000,000. This year it is anticipated this figure will be nearly doubled. It is understood travellers from United States, who enjoy a similar privilege, are also buying more heavily in Canada, but figures are not available.

Naples, June 28—British newspapermen have been banned from entering Naples. There is some meaning to this regulation especially in the fact that Naples is the place where wounded Italians are landed from Spain.
