JUST A FAMILY AFFAIR

The Whitney Ensemble that you hear over the NEC-Blue Network each Saturday at 1.00 p.m., EDT, is composed of Robert Whitney and his four sisters, Noreen, Edith, Grace and Edna. Great-grandchildren of Robert Hosier Baker, famous Scottish empresario, the Whitneys are one of the musical groups in America to pioneer the cause of chamber music over the air.

NEWSY NOTES

That striking ring that adorns Ilka Diehl's hand at the Edgar Guest "It Can Be Done" broadcasts is more than merely a piece of jewelry—it is a badge of adventure as well. And thereby hangs a tale.

Miss Diehl got the ring—a double cat's eye stone—while in Australia with Belasco's "Tiger Rose" company. When the run of the play was over, she persuaded the Sydney Bulletin, an important Australian journal, to sign her as a special correspondent for a medical expedition to New Guinea—becoming the first woman in the world to travel up New Guinea's dread Fly River.

Once up-river, the actress found the cat's eye stones on an inland beach and had them set in a gold nugget she'd obtained in Johannesburg. The ring, a unique design, was hand made by a Javanese native.

Ask Benny Goodman what is "this thing called swing" and he will stumble around a bit and finally mutter that it's a sort of "rhythmic integration." Swing fans themselves describe swing as "the way Bennie Goodman plays jazz." Many intricate and wide-

MICROPHONICS

Memos on a Radio City reporter's pad: B. A. Rolfe and his orchestra are making movie shorts . . . Walter O'Keefe is overwhelmed with written requests from listeners to appear as "Dramateurs" on Town Hall Tonight. His secretary is kept busy advising applicants that the cast is elected at random from studio audiences and not before hand . . . Thomas Bennett, composer and arranger who writes the music for the Eugene O'Neill plays, once was an interior decorator.

Heard in the NBC studios: Bob Burns and his new misses, the former Harriet Foster, are now residing in a handsome home the bazooka virtuoso recently bought in Bel Air, suburb of Los Angeles. . . D'Artega, conductor of the Jane Froman-Don Ross program, has a trade as well as a profession. He is a practical printer, having learned typesetting while training as a tunesmith.

Hollywood NBC studio pickup: Johnny Trotter, conductor of the Kraft Music Hall orchestra, is a bachelor and likes to cook . . . Henry Hunter, Irene Rich's leading man, served in the same capacity with Miss Rich in Chicago under his real name, Arthur Jacobsen. He became Henry Hunter when he went to Hollywood about a year ago.

When the history of happy radio couples is compiled a long chapter will be devoted to Pat Barrett and Nora Cuneen, better known to NBC listeners as Uncle Ezra and Cecilia of Station WZL. They have been domestic partners 25 years, 20 of which were spent as professional partners in vaudeville. They met and married while both were members of a Chicago musical comedy troupe.

Says Japanese War Doing Harm To Whole World

(Special to The Daily Mail)
NANKING, Aug. 31—General Whang Kau Shek, the General in the Chinese army stated today that the Sino-Japanese war are doing harm to all the world because countries from all over the world had interests and industries at over China and Japan.

Amos 'n' Andy on First Packard Show On September 7th

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1—For the first time in ten years as top-ranking radio favorites, Amos 'n' Andy, famous blackface team, will appear as guest stars on a major variety broadcast. The popular funsters will join tenor Lanny Ross and comedian Charles Butterworth in launching their new Packard Hour with soprano Florence George and Raymond Paige, musical director, over the NBC-Red Network, Tuesday, September 7, at 9:30 p. m., EDT.

And four days later Andy (above) will take an altar march in Glendale, Calif.

ly varying definitions of swing music a la Goodman have been given, but the King of Swing himself asked Cole Porter, the eminent songsmith, for his definition. Porter said:

"In swing music, all the solo instruments become temperamental comedians ad-libbing their lines, rather than reading them from a script. 'Swing' music is comedy music. The instruments carrying the accompaniment hang on to their background chords while the solo instruments 'go to town'—and usually by individual routes. Anything goes."

It was considered appropriate that one of radio's greatest attractions should be selected to join in introducing a great new broadcast series on NBC. Continuing to break precedents, the air will perform before a studio audience, something they never do in their own nightly broadcasts. Also, they will present a new routine quite different from their established act.

Did You Know That . .

Johnny Green read and gave helpful criticism on more than 1,000 manuscripts from unknown composers, in connection with his recent programs devoted to songs by amateur tunesmiths.

Tiny Ruffner, announcer-producer of Al Jolson's new series, won a recent Los Angeles Lakeside Country Club Golf tourney and annexed the not-much-needed prize—a radio.

George Fischer, "Hollywood Whispers" aireporter, will soon appear on the screen, with Michael Whalen in "Morgan of Scotland Yard."

Clarence Muse amazed Frank 'Bring-Em-Back Alive' Buck by teaching several tricks to 'Sammy', a young gorilla featured in the movie Muse and Buck recently completed.

Raymond Paige, takes a poll among members of his band and others in the east of "Hollywood Hotel" to choose the tunes to be played on each show.

Newest Hollywood vogue—color in men's evening wear—is credited to mikeman Carlton Kaddell, who favors green tie, handkerchief and boutonniere with a white tuxedo coat.

Margot Elinor, a beautiful baby daughter of Phil Baker, was offered a movie contract by a talent scout—but her famous papa said "No."

Wilbur Hatch, CBS musicmaster, has been known to put an hour's variety show on the air with as little as a half-hour of rehearsal.

Walter O'Keefe doesn't have to audition so many new guests as he did when he started on "Town Hall Tonight". Fans have asked him to bring back several acts for return engagements.

A favorite friend of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Black is Peggy, alias Margaret

Only once before have Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll (Amos 'n' Andy) participated in a major network show as guest stars. Last year they joined with top ranking microphone stars in a special Magic Key of RCA program.

On September 11, four days after the guest appearance, Correll will marry Miss Alyce McLaughlin of Chicago, in Glendale, Calif.
