THE EMPLOYMENT SCENE CHANGES

WHEN MR. ARTHUR B. PURVIS, Chairman of the National Employment Commission, advocates centralized control of a national attack on unemployment his views will command attention. He has given of his time and talent toward the solving of a Dominion-wide problem. He has travelled from coast to coast investigating conditions; and his investigation has been thorough. His heart is in the work.

The unemployment situation is changing. At the Head of the Lakes and in British Columbia, for example, Mr. Purvis noted that there is a scarcity of trained labor in the lumbering industry, while in Winnipeg such workers are available; but there is no plan for moving men from idleness to jobs. The Dominion Government contributes to the support of unemployment service offices, but these are under supervision of Provincially chosen officers. Inevitably there will be certain lack of co-ordination, which would be remedied by a central administration. The Provinces should readily agree to such a plan. They know the situation, and they know the need for prompt action in bringing together the man and the job.

In any event, Mr. Purvis is taking the national view of what is definitely a national problem. His experience convinces him that centralized control of unemployment services is the best plan, and that should have great weight in bringing the Provinces to agreement on his proposal.

JAPAN ISSUES ORDINANCE NO. 41

ADVISES FROM TOKYO state that the Japanese war office has issued "Ordinance No. 41," affecting practically every able-bodied man in Japan and prolonging military service indefinitely for all officers and men on both active and reserve lists.

What is the significance of this maneuver? Japan may claim that she is massing her power in order to bring the Chinese conflict to a quick conclusion.

But what makes necessary this mobilizing of the ultimate weight of of force as if for a major war? Has Chinese resistance been that great? Is the seemingly impossible possible? Is China winning? This may not be so, but it is likely that to win at all, Japan must have quick victory.

Quick victory is economically desirable to the war office. Japanese business men, farmers, fishermen and other tax-payers are losing their patience with the war lords, who at the moment seem to have their noses between the teeth of the Chinese dragon and it will not let go.

Meanwhile, to the north and west a Russian bear growls ominously.

The bombs dropped on the defenseless non-combatants of Canton and Nanking have hatched out woe for Nippon—a loss of world respect. The campaign of plunder has become one of blunder.

"ITALY A DEMOCRACY"—MUSSOLINI

THE FULL TEXT of Mussolini's speech at Berlin shows that in one part he said:

"The greatest and soundest democracies which exist in the world today are Italy and Germany."

Then, a few sentences later, he said:

"In Germany and Italy it is absolutely impossible that politics be interfered with or influenced by private persons."

Messrs. Mussolini and Hitler once were private persons. The system under which they then lived enabled them to indulge in free speech and peaceful assembly. So nobody realizes better than Mussolini and Hitler how dangerous democratic government is to rulers. Now that they are up, Mussolini and Hitler sing a duet.

The words, written by Mussolini, are:

"Democracy, that filthy thing democracy! Fascism will trample over the decomposed corpse of the goddess of liberty."

And this is the fellow who expects the world to keep a straight face when he says that "the greatest and soundest democracies which exist in the world are Italy and Germany."

He isn't even deceiving himself.

ELECTRICITY

ELECTRICITY as a fire hazard is listed among the first four causes. During the last three years the number of losses in Canada from this cause totalled over 10,000.

Safety from this hazard means safe wiring and installations, and the proper use of appliances. The best guide in electrical work is "The Canadian Electrical Code," and only workmen familiar with its requirements are competent.

Do not attempt to alter or extend wiring unless you thoroughly understand it. Do not bridge fuse plugs or use coins back of them. Do not overload your circuits by attaching several devices at the same time. A melting fuse plug is a danger signal. Find the cause. Do not overfuse. If the normal fuse will not stand, reduce the load. Do not hang drop cords on nails. Do not put paper shades on light bulbs. Do not permit switches, fixtures or appliances to be out of order.

CANADA'S PENITENTIARIES

CANADIAN PENITENTIARIES are rapidly becoming regarded as industries—partly to manufacture some government but mainly to remake men into good citizens fully qualified to take their places in the world of work.

There are seven penitentiaries administered by the Dominion Department of Justice, the two largest being at Portsmouth, Ontario and St. Vincent de Paul, Quebec. The other five are at Dorchester, New Brunswick; Collins Bay, Ontario; Stony Mountain, Manitoba; Prince Albert, Saskatchewan and New Westminster, British Columbia. There are, of course, many other correctional institutions such as industrial farms.

Kingston Penitentiary at Portsmouth may be regarded as a standard. It has an excellent library, hospital, workshops, a school, a large farm and two chapels. The inmates are housed in clean, well-furnished and well-lighted cells, compelled to keep themselves clean and tidy, fed in their cells, given shortened sentences for good behaviour, granted a hearing on each complaint against them, taught to read and write, encouraged to read good books and magazines and to pass high school and college examinations or taught one of the fifteen trades.

The lash is not used for the purpose of discipline. It is used under two conditions only—when the court so orders in the sentence and when the Minister of Justice grants permission in a very extreme case of insubordination. Chaplains conduct religious services.

Despite the increasing population of the Dominion the number of inmates in these penitentiaries has shown a decline in recent years, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The latest figures show an average penitentiary population of less than four thousand.

Snapshots

Do you believe in trial by jury? By any kind of a jury?

The sooner that we adopt marriage laws that are along the lines of the law of God the better for our supposedly Christian country.

There are two kinds of social climbers. The big who are proud of their humble origin and the small who are ashamed of it. We have both kinds here.

A couple of years ago when The Daily Mail came out and told the truth about some of the crude conditions and want of modern facilities at the hospital some of the doctors and hospital directors contradicted what we said. Now these same people are coming off their perch and telling the same story in regard to the hospital.

If the School Board works along the same lines its members will come out in favor of an open door some of these days and deny that they ever tried to hide anything from the public.

A traveller writes to us about the subway. The only thing about the subway is that those who represented the city didn't know their onions and had their legs pulled by the C.N.R. engineers. The citizens have to bear the brunt unless they tear the whole darn thing down again.

Aberhart certainly had his nerve with him when he tried to gag the press. There is no government, provincial or Federal, which does not require watching by the press. If it were not for the press the world would not know that these politicians were alive. If the press would shut down on them they would never be heard about. And yet there are some of these narrow minded chaps who are foolish enough to wish to high hat the press. They are not big enough to get away with it.

Victoria Sett. News

TOUCHBOURNE-DRUMMOND St. Margaret's Chapel of Ease in this city was on Tuesday, Sept. 25 the scene of a very pretty wedding when Miss Hazel Muriel Drummond daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drummond of Victoria Settlement, Sunbury County, became the bride of James Robert Touchbourne, only son of Robert and the late Mrs. Touchbourne also of Victoria Settlement. The marriage was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Grey.

The bride looked charming in a dark blue crepe dress, trimmed with white and a velvet hat with nose veil. She had as her bridesmaid her youngest sister Miss Edna Drummond who looked charming in Coronation blue trimmed with white. The groom was supported by Perley Drummond, brother of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her eldest brother Robert Drummond. After the wedding the happy couple drove to the home of Mrs. A. G. Belcher where a buffet lunch was served to about 25 invited guests. The dining room was trimmed with cut flowers.

Those who assisted in serving were Mrs. Jarvis Barton, Mrs. John Russell, Mrs. Beatrice Ingraham. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake surmounted by a miniature bride and groom.

Among the invited guests were Mrs. Allan Munn, Mrs. Frank Daye, Mrs. Wm. White, Mrs. Dora White, aunt of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Tins, Sherman Noble, of Rusagouis; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drummond, parents of the bride; John Drummond, St. John, brother of the bride; Misses Kathleen White and Madeline Touchbourne, cousins of the groom; Mrs. Robert Touchbourne, St. John.

As the bridal couple left the church they were showered with confetti by little Miss Shirley Barton and Miss Marjorie Belcher. The many beautiful and useful presents received by the young couple showed the esteem in which they are held. Mr. and Mrs. Touchbourne will reside at Victoria Settlement, where the groom is a prosperous farmer.

BEAR ISLAND

BEAR ISLAND, Oct. 5 — Miss Frankie MacLean, R. N., of Augusta, Me., has been called home, due to the serious illness of her father, Mr. John A. MacLean, who is under the care of a graduate nurse.

Mr. MacLean showed slight improvement Sunday.

LOST

If the person who took the blue trench coat containing money and private papers from the Old Gaiety dance hall on Saturday evening last will return the same to The Daily Mail Office or will phone 271 and ask for Mr. Tomlinson, he will receive a reward.

ONE WITNESS

(Continued from Page Eight) Queen Street between Westmorland and Northumberland Streets between five and six o'clock in the afternoon. The accused, the witness stated, was standing alongside of his car. He got into the car, drove up street and turned off into a lane connecting Queen and Campbell Streets, it was said.

Car Parked

Officer Brown stated that the Chief of Police was with the witness all the time. They drove to Northumberland Street and turned down that street onto Campbell, where they saw the car of the accused parked in the center of the road. The accused was sitting behind the steering wheel, he said.

The witness said he drove up alongside the car of the accused, and the chief of police opened the door of the car of the accused and asked Griffiths to step out.

Bottle Spilled

"As the accused was getting out of his car, I saw a bottle fall over, spilling some of the contents on the floor of the car. This bottle was picked up by the Chief of Police. He then told the accused to walk up to the front of the car. He walked up to the front of the car, turned around and then came back," stated the witness.

They then arrested the accused and took him and his car to the police station.

Mr. Murray produced a pint ale bottle, which the officer identified as that which was in the car of the accused. The witness stated that the contents of the bottle which were spilled smelled like liquor.

Unsteady On His Feet

Three other people were in the car of the accused, he stated. He knew two of them, he said, a Brown girl of Marysville, and Dick Atherton of this city. The witness said that the accused was unsteady on his feet and that he had the smell of liquor on his breath.

On cross examination by Leo F. Cain, defense counsel, the witness repeated and elaborated on several points in the evidence which he had already given. The defense made a strong point of the fact that the accused was out of the sight of the police officers for a short interval of time after the officers had first seen him, as he turned off Queen Street into an alley leading to Campbell Street.

The counsel for the defense told the witness to smell the bottle again. He did so, and upon question of counsel, stated that he did not know what had been in the bottle, that he could not identify it as beer. On question, the witness admitted that he drank beer himself, but denied that he had had any that day. The witness could not admit that the accused had been "drunk", as compared with other occasions when he had seen the accused, but contended that he was unsteady on his feet and under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Arrested Accused Before

The witness admitted on question that he had had trouble with the accused before, having arrested him previously for not having brakes in proper condition.

The witness, on question, stated that the accused was weaving back and forth when he first saw him on Queen Street, yet, said the counsel for defense "you told me in Police Court the day after the arrest that you paid no particular attention to the accused on Queen Street," and you could not describe the condition of the accused.

Tastes Liquor

The witness tasted the contents of the bottle at the request of the defense counsel, and admitted that it "tasted something like beer."

The defense and the Crown having finished questioning the witness, court was recessed until 2.30 this afternoon, when Chief of Police Nathaniel Jones took the chair as a prosecution witness. His testimony followed the general line of that given this morning by Officer Brown.

Premier Mussolini

reported tonight attacked by an unidentified submarine about 10 a.m. today, 25 miles east of Cape San Antonio, between the Spanish mainland and insurgent-held island of Iviza. Cape San Antonio, in Spanish government territory, is about 55 miles southeast of Valencia.

The incident, first of its kind since establishment of the Nyon anti-aircraft patrol, was described in the following message from Cape San Antonio signal station:

"This morning, shortly before ten o'clock, the presence of two British destroyers navigating about 25 miles east of Cape San Antonio was noted."

"They proceeded northeastward when suddenly they increased their speed. Immediately noise of three loud explosions was heard. Continuing at the same speed, the two warships executed a few evolutions, each going in a different direction, and at the same time dropped depth bombs."

"It was believed the two destroyers were attacked by a submarine, and were trying to track it down."

TIME HAS

The small pensioner, who is unemployed, also receives monetary aid to augment his pension and other income to the amount received locally by civilians in similar circumstances. But here, too, there is a definite downward trend in the number receiving this form of unemployment relief. For the fiscal year ending March last, the total was 9,224, while at the end of August this year the number showed a drop of 1,100 from the same date last year.

"No, it is not a matter for me," replied witness. "It's a matter for the Government which issues the marriage licenses. It's their responsibility and not mine. I have a marriage license issued in the name of the Lieutenant-Governor." Publication of banns was not necessary, said witness who could not recall the hour of the ceremony.
"The witnesses weren't known to you?"
"One of them was," said witness. "The other was not. I'm not required to know them."
"That's a matter for the Court to decide," interrupted the Judge. "You seem to be giving decisions here."
