MAX STUNNED

BERLIN, July 2—Max Schmeling, whose temper flamed a few weeks ago when he was unable to arrange a fight with James J. Braddock in the United States, was described as "stunned" today when he heard Tommy Farr has turned down a proposed bout with him.

If You Have a Child
ASK YOUR DOCTOR THIS

Ask Him Before Giving Your Child an Unknown Remedy

Practically any doctor you ask will warn: "Don't give your child unknown remedies without asking your doctor first."

When it comes to the widely used children's remedy—"milk of magnesia," the standard of the world is established. For over half a century many doctors have said "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia." Safe for children. No other is "quite like it."

Keep this in mind, and say "PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA" when you buy. Now also in tablet form. Get the form you prefer. But see that what you get is labeled "Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

ALSO IN TABLET FORM:
Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

BRITISH CHAMP WILL MEET LOUIS IN TITLE BATTLE

LONDON, July 2—Tommy Farr, British Empire heavyweight champion, plans to go to the United States to fight Joe Louis, world titleholder, it was announced yesterday.

This statement was made by Farr's mentor, Manager Broadbent, officially and with gestures. He said the proposed match between Farr and Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, is definitely off as far as the Farr camp is concerned.

Broadbent made it clear he and Farr were irked by terms of the proposed championship Farr-Schmeling bout, under which Farr would have received only half of what the German fighter was due to collect.

In addition to Farr's forthcoming trip across the water, the net result appeared to be that Schmeling may be due to get the same kind of run-around in England that he got in the United States when he tried, with no success at all, to get a chance to knock ex-champion James J. Braddock off his pins.

England Behind German

NEW YORK, July 2—The story from London that the British Board of Boxing Control had decided to confer the world's heavyweight championship upon the winner of the proposed Max Schmeling-Tommy Farr fight is making absolutely no impression here today, all it's doing is leaving a divot in the bosom of Promoter Jacob's lingerie, for it probably means the loss of the $1,500,000 Schmeling-Louis fight, plus the fact that, if Schmeling wants to set up a rival dynasty, he can pretty well make it stick in Europe.

In the first place, he'll have the sanction and support of England and his own country. In the second, he may even be given absolution by the International Boxing Federation.

So much for Schmeling. Nobody to date has been thinking of Farr—but if he wins, what? All he'll do in that case is beat the man who knocked out Joe Louis who knocked out Jas. J. Braddock for the championship. In any case, that would make Farr something, and it won't be a mouth organ.

As a matter of fact there are plenty of people in this country who aren't satisfied that the recent Chicago fight produced the best fighter in the world and, altogether, the thing is beginning to develop complications not previously foreseen by those who decided that Louis, the loser—not Schmeling, the winner—was the right man to meet the senile Mr. Braddock.

The result of that manoeuvre is that Louis has the title and Schmeling the prestige and I may add that there are plenty of places that freely concede that, by all right and reason, Schmeling has both.

Of course, there is such a thing as the line of succession, just in the case of royalty, and besides there's the party who seizes you firmly on the lapel between thumb and forefinger in order to tell you that Schmeling can't beat Louis, anyhow.

SORENESS; REAL OR IMAGINARY, OFFICIALS ASK

CLEVELAND, July 2—Bob Feller will not be retired, very definitely not, before he has had a couple of good stiff workouts in regular competition.

Then, after the workouts, if the doubtful salary wing continues to show any real soreness, the high moguls of the Cleveland Indians will go into serious conference to decide on the young right-hander's future.

However, those high moguls are not at all sure about the real quality of the soreness.

So says C. C. (Cy) Slapnicka, Indian vice-president and general manager, discoverer, protector and front for Feller. O'Neill and Slapnicka both have their doubts about the arm soreness that has kept Feller out of actual play. They both feel it may be somewhat, if not entirely, imaginary.

"He'll go out there some days and throw them in with everything on them and then say it didn't hurt at all," Slapnicka said, "and then he'll throw a couple and complain it hurts his arm."

"I think maybe it's imagination, or maybe just regular pitching soreness."

"If his arm really was injured he wouldn't be able to throw them in there the way he does in practice."

Retains Cricket Cup
MONTREAL, July 2—Quebec retained possession of the Lord Atholstan cricket trophy today when its team was forced to a draw by an Ontario eleven.

HUBBELL HURLS GIANTS TO 6-2 WIN OVER BOSTON

NEW YORK, July 2—Carl Hubbell was back with all his stuff today and pitched the Giants to a 6-2 victory here over Boston Bees for the New Yorkers' sixth straight victory.

Brooklyn Dodgers, after being shut out in three of their last four starts, applied the whitewash brush themselves by blanking the Phillies 3-0 in Philadelphia behind the hurling of rookie Luke Hamlin.

Yanks Lose 8-3

NEW YORK, July 2—Bump Hadley's luck ran out on him today and the Senators clubbed him for an 8-3 victory over New York Yankees in Washington.

Mej Almada was the day's batting leader, with a double and three singles, although Red Rolfe of the Yankees collected a triple, double and a single.

The Red Sox celebrated their return to Boston, thanks to homers by Ben Chapman and Buster Mills, with an 8-4 victory over Philadelphia A's.

Don Budge Captures Men's Singles Honors

Bests Van Cramm in Straight Sets in Final Match

WIMBLEDON, England, July 2—Hard-hitting Donald Budge, 22 year old Davis cup ace from Oakland, Cal., today achieved the tennis heights when he defeated Baron Gottfried Von Cramm of Germany, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 in the finals of the all-England men's singles championship.

Budge took the measure of the world's second best amateur player before a packed gallery that included Queen Mary. Most people believed the Californian was going to succeed Great Britain's Fred Perry, winner last year but now a professional, as much as a fortnight ago when he defeated Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin at the Queens Club. But few could have foreseen what happened today.

On his form in this tournament Budge appears able to win two matches against any team America meet in the Davis cup competition, whether it's Germany or Czechoslovakia in the inter-zone final, or England in the challenge round.

Budge admitted after his victory over Von Cramm that never had he played such spectacular tennis.

"Imagine being able to play that kind of tennis on an occasion like that," he said, almost in amazement, "I must be lucky."

As an added reward for his short but brilliant exhibition he had given the gallery of 15,500. Budge was presented to the Queen Mother, but he refused to reveal what she said.

Outside of the new champion's all-around play the outstanding feature of the match was the number of placements scored. Budge scored 36 of them, counting two aces.

Von Cramm had 23 placements to attest to the brilliance of his play at times, but his errors off Budge's blazing shots into the back corners ruined him.

The tournament ends tomorrow with the high spot the women's singles final between Dorothy Round, England, and Jadwiga Jedzejewska, Poland.

"I'm for Peace,"

... said Mr. PICOBAC

A benign expression spread over Mr. Picobac's countenance. Removing his pipe, he leaned against the desk of the Essex Centre Grand Central Hotel, and gazed at his audience of two.

"I'm a peaceful man," repeated he. "I try to be a good neighbour, same as President Roosevelt does ... and Mr. Baldwin. But ..."

"You don't like people to walk on you," suggested George Boniface, genial proprietor of the hostelry.

"Peace with self-respect," agreed the Burley tobacco patriot. "Canada is a self-governing, self-respecting Dominion in the British Commonwealth of Nations. She's not looking for trouble. But I'll say she will hold up her end if trouble ever starts."

"Well, don't start anything around here," advised Gus, who drives the bus that meets all the trains.

"Don't worry," rejoined Mr. Picobac, puffing in great content. "I won't. As long as I have enough Picobac tobacco for a mild ... cool ... sweet smoke, there'll be no trouble with me. I'll keep the peace and be a friendly neighbour."
