

Yanks Take Third Straight With 5-1 Win Over Disorganized Giants

AMERICAN LOOP NINE NEEDS ONLY ONE MORE VICTORY TO CAPTURE ITS SECOND CONSECUTIVE WORLD SERIES

Pearson Cracks In Ninth As Futile Giant Rally Load Bases; Hubbell to Come Back Today, Opposing Bump Hadley

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 8.—The world champion Yankees crashed through gaping holes in the defence of the luckless Giants today, captured their third successive game 5-1 and now need only one more victory to complete the worst rout ever faced by New York's National League in world series competition.

The Giants, for the third straight day, came apart in so many places under pressure that there was no room left for argument and nothing but a frustrated ninth-inning rally to give their followers anything approaching some excitement.

The Yankees, as usual, made the most of nearly every scoring opportunity. They had the benefit of four Giant errors and six bases on balls but batted Hal Schumacher, star right-hander, for nine solid hits. They scored all their runs off Schumacher with five in the first five innings and then clouted easily to triumph behind the five-belt pitching of Monte Pearson.

Pearson, curve-ball specialist, repeated his 1936 conquest of the Giants but was the first Yankee pitcher unable to go the route. After yielding the home team's only run in the seventh, on Jim Riddle's single and Jack McCarthy's double off the left-field wall, Pearson lost control completely in the ninth.

The Giants filled the bases with two out on Mel Ott's single and successive passes to McCarthy and Lou Chiozza. Pearson was taken from the box after pitching eight straight balls. Johnny Murphy, ace relief hurler for the world champions and a right-hander, quickly squelched the threat by retiring Harry Danning on a short fly that Joe Di Maggio caught in left-centre.

Need Homer To Tie It Up

The opportunity was open for a home run to tie the score in the closing frame but that's the closest the Giants have come to being within gunshot of their rivals in three straight games.

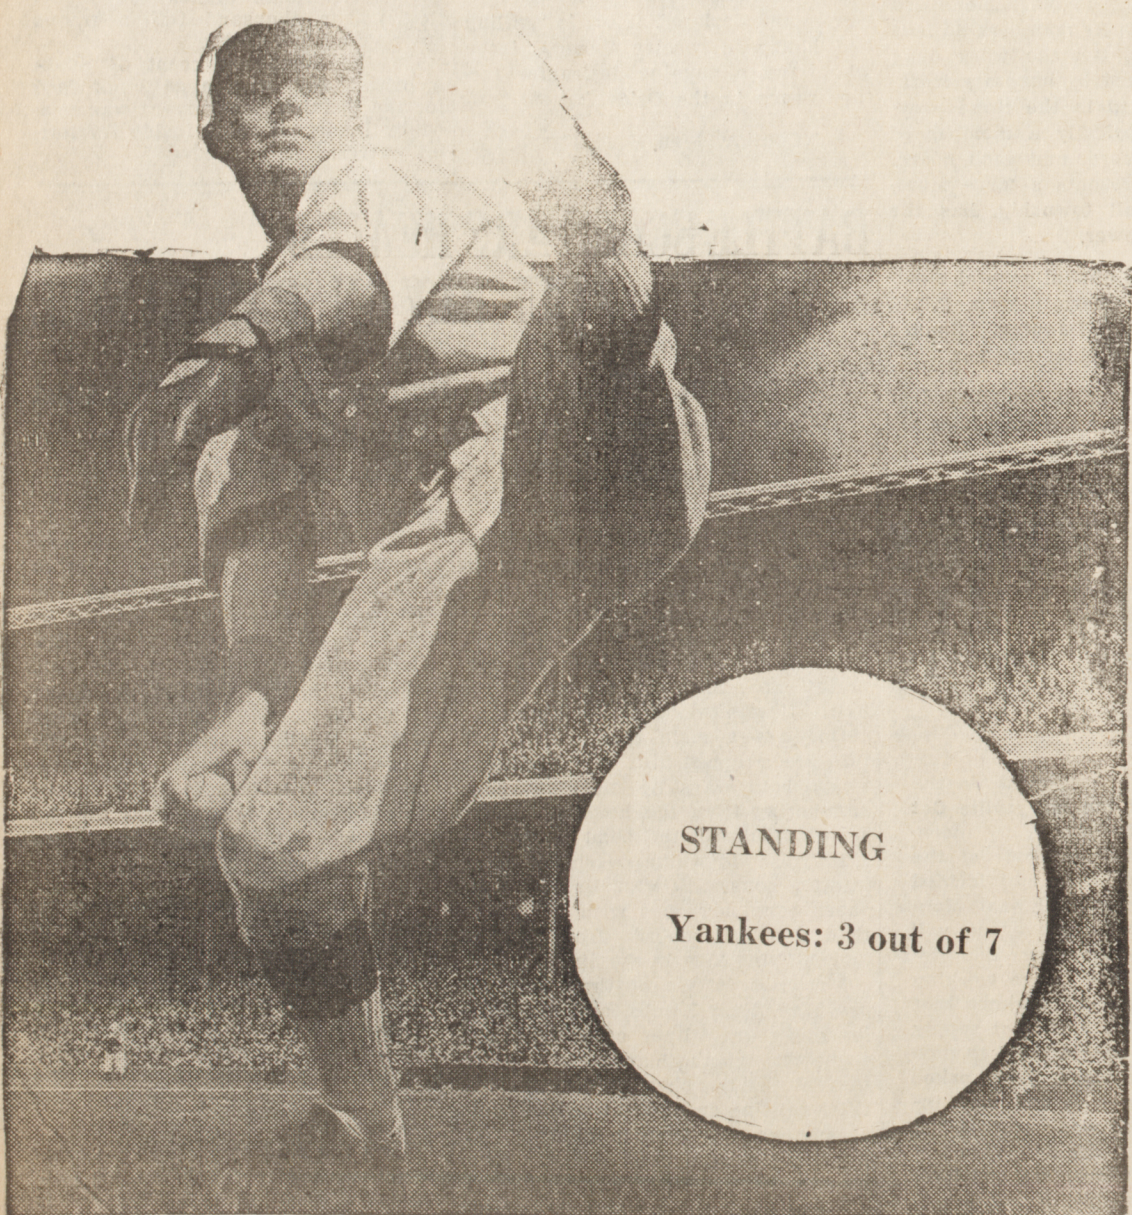

Manager Bill Terry will come back tomorrow, in the fourth game, with his veteran southpaw ace Carl Hubbell, who was knocked out of the box in the opener at the Yankee Stadium. His pitching opponent will be Irving (Bump) Hadley, a right-hander who gained one decision over the Giants last year.

Score by innings:

Giants	000 000 100—1

Batteries:

WORLD SERIES

Busy Winter Season Predicted for Boxing

Fifth Nickel Series On

The present Series was the fifth time the Giants and Yanks have locked horns for the World Championship. First time was back in '21. Followed two more years of New York monopoly of the Fall Classic with the Yanks failing to come out on top until '23.

The Giants won the N. L. pennant in '24, but were nipped in the Series with Washington, 4-3. Then the Yanks bobbed up on top but found St. Louis as an opponent—and one they finally bowed to also by a 7-3 count.

Yanks Go Places

So it wasn't until '27 that the Yanks brought the next World Championship to New York. They swept Pittsburgh four straight. The next year Murderer's Row repeated, smearing St. Louis four straight. Along came '32 and another clean sweep for the Yanks against Chicago.

It seemed as if the Yanks, who had been rather scoffed at in '21 and '22 had made a mark that would make New Yorkers forget the Giants. Why the Giants hadn't been heard of since '23. But they came back in '33—just ten years later—with Terry in the pilot house and whipped Washington for the championship, 4-1.

First Subway Series

The Cardinals whipped Detroit in '34 and the next year the Tigers slugged the Cubs for the big cut. Then came '35 and the collapse of the Cubs in the stretch, the rally of the Giants—and New York had its first Subway Series since '23.

Certainly there were few who thought there would be another this year. It happened almost the same way. The Cubs folded and the Giants walked in.

Strangely, there has been only one other Subway Series outside of New York. That was back in 1906 in Chicago with the Junior Circuit winning 4-2.

Although football had begun to crowd its way into the local scene, the gridsters were soon forgotten when the Series started. In New York it is baseball first, other things, even work, last.

Three Per Game

A good guess is that on an average three are tossed aside because of flaws caused by the impact of the bat or by being batted solidly against concrete barriers. Sometimes a hard hit grounder will result in the covering of the baseball becoming too rough for further use.

When the horsehide covering has become even slightly scuffed in one

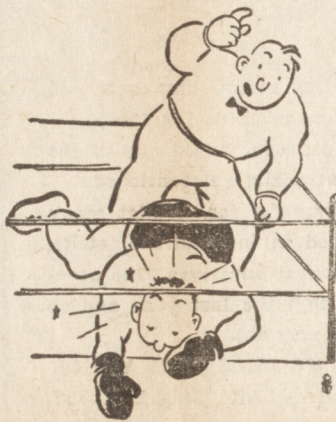

It looks like a busy winter for the boys in the boxing industry. With Mike Jacobs searching frantically for top-notch talent to fill out open dates at the Hippodrome and Garden, all ambitious boys in the outlying sections have a great chance to crack the big time.

Mike is going out of New York for new faces, and also is planning shows for Miami and Chicago. The activity will be extended through Boston, Pittsburgh, Detroit, St. Louis and Los Angeles as well.

Armstrong Meets Sarron

In New York, the Henry Armstrong-Pete Sarron match for the world's featherweight title will be Jacobs' first attraction at the Garden, Oct. 29. This one won't mean much, however, because if Armstrong wins, he'll have to abdicate the throne within a few months. Henry's weight is zooming and he's more of a lightweight than a feather.

Max Baer is expected to move in against Tommy Farr here in December or possibly at the Orange Bowl in Miami where Jacobs will promote a show in February. Should this match move South, Mike wants to slap Barney Ross and Pedro Montañez in for the welter title. Ambers can be kept busy defending the 135-pound crown against Armstrong.

Championship to Chicago

Jacobs disclosed recently that the Schmeling-Louis title bout next June would go to Chicago. That means its second Carnival will be held at the Polo Grounds in New York the first week in June, 1938.

Detroit is buzzing over the possibilities of another Rosenbloom-Adams match. The veteran Maxie slapped out a decision over the local boy after being dropped for a nine count. Many thought the decision very raw and have been clamoring for a return bout.

Pittsburgh is after John Henry Lewis and Bob Pastor but won't get them in the same ring. Both are under the promotional wing of James J. Johnson of the Thirtieth Century Sporting Club and James will not let them belt each other out of the heavyweight picture.

UMPS SHOULD WEAR GLASSES SAYS FORD FRICK

Ford Frick, a comparatively new man in the affairs of the big leagues, may make a mistake occasionally, but at least he has brought a new line of thought into baseball. So many of the baseball administrators hew to the line of conservatism.

Frick believes that an umpire needing glasses should wear them, and not be handicapped thereafter by criticism.

A number of pitchers have found they needed glasses. At first they were laughed at a little, but in time the fans and the other players got accustomed to the idea.

Then it was found that some of the players needed glasses at bat. And they were forthcoming.

An umpire, however, was afraid to wear glasses in private. He feared the news would get out somehow that he couldn't read the agate type with his bare eyes.

Two years ago, Jack Ogden, general manager of the Baltimore Orioles, suggested all umpires should have their eyes examined, and be equipped with glasses if needed. They laughed at him.

Grant Last Man To Beat Don Budge

The last single match Don Budge lost in strenuous competition—his only defeat this year—was in the final at the Miami Biltmore tournament in January. Bryan Grant beat him that day. But a few weeks later Budge

We can't see that there is much hope for the Giants now, although, as we said yesterday, a lot of things can happen when the last ball is pitched. Things, upsets like a Giant victory would be, have happened before but in this case the chances are so slim and thin that the odds against the Giants taking four straight games are about 1000 to 1.

Local hockey stands just the same as it did last week, Vernon Olive, manager of last year's team stated this morning. No moves have been made to organize, and in all probability nothing definite will be done until later in the fall. The rumors were going around of a coming meeting in Moncton, between Saint John, Moncton and Fredericton and possibly St. Andrews and St. Stephen, to form a new Southern League. Apparently it is all rumor, because Manager Olive hasn't heard of the meeting as yet.

After our bemoaning the fact that there would be no Fredericton City team this year in the coming rugby battles, Ralph Goodline tells us today that the boys are getting together and going to Saint John Monday to play the Saint John Seniors. At the same time the boys don't expect to be able to organize for the season. The reason for this has been the lack of funds, the game interfering with their work, and the loss of several men.

Johnny Kilburn will not be able to play because of the injuries he received when 'bumped' in the semi-finals of the rocky league last season. Ron Beatty, for many years a star of the game while playing for F.H.S., U.N.B. and the 'City,' this year is not expected to be on the field. He had a leg banged up last season. Manager Goodline couldn't say who will replace him at full-back for the Saint John game.

From the present appearances, the sport war now looming will vie with the Ethiopian conquest or the Sino-Jap scrap. The hostilities are raging between the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association and the Maritime Province Branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada. The M.P.B. wants to take the Maritime hockey under its wing and away from the M.A.H.A.

This post thinks that the amateur hockey in the province had better stick to the M.A.H.A. They have the hockey affiliations necessary, while the M.P.B. has only the hopes of getting them.

Can Hubbell come through today and give the Giants the first win of the series? We would almost like to see it happen, even though as a team we like the Yanks. Hub's is such an admirable hurler that it seems unfair that his team hasn't turned in a better showing.

GOLF ON UPGRADE AS COLLEGE SPORT

With more than forty universities or colleges of the United States owning their own golf courses and with college players dominating the majority of sectional, State and city competitions, golf is moving into the major classification in college sport.

Physical directors in the higher learning institutions are giving more thought to providing golf playing facilities and instruction for students because the game has a very definite value as a carry-over activity after the degrees have been awarded.

A survey of 200 colleges, including 75 major institutions, 25 women's colleges and 100 smaller colleges, showed that one-half were offering golf in physical education programs and that 48 per cent. of the major institutions had made arrangements at private clubs for student play.

COLLEGE OPENS RUGGER SEASON THIS AFTERNOON

Play St. John Seniors at Port City; Moncton Here Monday

Strong Squad

Intercollegiate Schedule Opens October 23 With Mount A. Here

Judged by local experts as being stronger, both offensively and defensively, than they have been in years, the Red and Black clad rugger of the University of New Brunswick left for Saint John this morning to tangle with the Saint John Seniors in the opening contest of the season for the local fifteen.

Returning to Fredericton tonight after the game this afternoon, U.N.B. will rest up one day before facing the Moncton Broncos at College Field on Monday, Thanksgiving Day. Both are exhibition tilts.

At the last practice before the game, this afternoon, Clarence B. "Burdo" Burden, veteran Red and Black mentor, announced the following list of players who will make the trip to Saint John: Forwards, Don Good, Fredericton; Dick Logie and Bill Logie, both of Belleville, Ont.; Bill Wolstenholme, Moncton; Horace Denyer, Saint John; Ken Corbett, Barker's Point; and Roy Brown, Rothesay; Halves, Jim Colby, Fredericton; and Lloyd 'Kid' Bartlett, Edmundston; three-quarters, Don Forbes, Moncton; 'Cec' Coveney, Fredericton; 'Hep' Wilson, Rimouski, Quebec; and Captain Owen Sleep, Fredericton; and fullback Bert McDermott, Edmundston. Two subs will be carried, Bert Smith, Moncton, and Wait Brebner, Campbellton. Substantially the same lineup will face the Moncton aggregation, it is expected.

Burden Reticent

Burdo was reticent in speaking on what he expected the team to do this afternoon, thinking, no doubt, that actions speak louder than words. The game gets under way at 2.30 at Allison Grounds.

Due to graduation, both through the front and back doors of the University, several new names appear in this year's lineup. Dick Logie, freshman brother of Bill, has captured a place in the scrum, while Horace Denyer, 210 pound freshman veteran of the Saint John Trojans, will prove useful to Burdo in his attempts to build up the average weight of his forwards. Don Forbes, second stringer of last season, will start on the three quarter line, while Bert McDermott will fill the shoes of Bill Jackson, who graduated via the FRONT door last Encaenia.

Coveney Back

The squad has been fortunate in not having been depleted by injuries so far this year. 'Cec' Coveney, old Fredericton City football and hockey star, has gained a position among the three quarters. Last year Cec started the season wearing the Red and Black jersey, but foot injuries forced him to abandon the gridiron for the season.

War clouds hover over Maritime for organized hockey has flung down the gauntlet in open acceptance of the challenge of amateur moguls.

The Maritime Amateur Hockey Association does not intend to give in to the ruling amateur sport heads of the Maritimes over control of hockey, it was stated by Hanson T. Dowell, president of that body.

Mr. Dowell said that the M.A.H.A. a branch of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, which is affiliated with the Ligue Internationale de Hockey sur Glace (International Ice Hockey Federation), carries on amateur principles under the regulations and requirements of the latter organization which controls world, European and Olympic tourney competition for amateurs.

He argues that the M.A.H.A., therefore, conducts itself along amateur lines and will not tolerate interference in control of its game. He says clubs fostering hockey had little voice in the decision adopted by the M.A.H.A. to take charge of amateur hockey in the Maritimes.

Mr. Dowell presents a line of argument which overcomes that of the M.P.B.A.A.U. of C. It is his opinion the M.A.H.A. can look after its own. It is the opening gun in reply to the game better than the M.P.B. broadside of the M.P.B., fired at the annual meeting at Amherst a few days ago. Thus far the skirmishing has been only verbal.

It may flare into a bitter struggle as the approach of cold weather warns that ice will soon be in the rinks and practice sessions will start. League plans will soon be formulated for the season.

Cubs Whip Chisox 4-1 in Series Game

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Thornton Lee, a tall southpaw held largely responsible for the faint impression that the New York Yankees couldn't hit left-handed pitching, looked like just another country thrower to the Cubs today as the National League whippersnappers the White Sox 4-1 to go one up in their Chicago city series struggle.

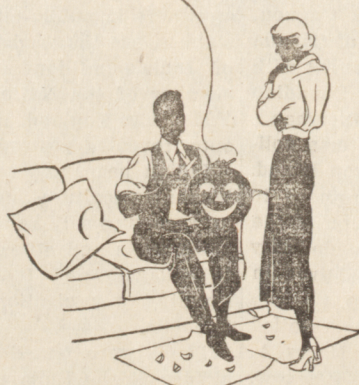

Guy Bush, the veteran pitcher of the Boston Bees, has a good screw ball, but it took him three years to master its control.

son. However, his foot has healed completely, and the presence of this fast little back should do much to increase the scoring punch of the local fifteen.

Burdo abandoned the customary U.N.B. 2-3-2 scrum formation this afternoon, using the 3-4 form. Whether or not he shifts back will depend largely on the showing the lads in the pack make this afternoon.

Return Game on 16th

Saint John will play a return game here on the 16th, it was announced by team manager, J. A. K. Leger, New castle. The New Brunswick Intercollegiate League will open its short schedule at College Field on Oct. 23, when Mount Allison is slated to meet the local collegians. U.N.B. will journey to Sackville to play the return game on Oct. 30. Although this represents the total schedule at present there is a possibility that other exhibition games will be played, especially if a Fredericton City team is organized this fall.
