FREDERICTON, NEW BRUNSWICK, MONDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1937

SIR DOUGLAS HAZEN

Friends in Fredericton where he spent his boyhood and early manhood days will join with many throughout Canada in expressing regret at the death of Sir Douglas Hazen, which took place at Saint John this morning.

Sir Douglas was born in Oromocto, but he spent his youth in this city. He attended the Collegiate School and the University, and here he practiced law for several years. He was Mayor of Fredericton in 1888-89. He was actively identified with this city during the days when he was Premier of the Province and later when he was on the Supreme Court bench. Sir Douglas was a man of splendid appearance. He was a courteous, kindly gentleman who numbered his scores of friends amongst all classes in this community. Whilst his death at his advanced age might naturally be not unexpected, it will nevertheless cause regret amongst all who knew him.

World's Largest Exporters Of Apples

THE UNITED STATES is easily the world's largest exporter of apples, states The Imperial Economic Committee, while Canada and Australia take second and third places respectively. Prior to 1931, exports from the United States sometimes exceeded those from all other countries combined, but since that year, owing to lighter crops and trade barriers in European countries, they have declined considerably. The proportion of the United States total crop exported as fresh fruit seldom exceeds 10 per cent. and on the average exports account for only about 15 p. c. of the commercial crop.

Canada, Australia, and New Zealand, on the other hand, export a large proportion on their apple crops, and this applies also to Yugoslavia, Austria, and Italy. Exports from France, which consist mainly of cider fruit, represent only a very small proportion of her heavy production. Considerable quantities of cider apples are included also in the export figures of Belgium, the Netherlands, Switzerland, and Yugoslavia. The exports of apples from Canada and Australia consist almost entirely of dessert and cooking apples.

According to the 1936 statistics the exports of apples from the principal exporting countries were: United States, 174,000 tons; Canada, 96,000 tons; Australia, 89,000 tons; France, 65,000 tons of cider apples and 6,000 tons of dessert apples; Italy, 60,000 tons; Roumania, 23,000 tons; New Zealand, 20,000 tons; Chile, 10,000 tons; Yugoslavia, 9,000 tons; Union of South Africa, 7,000 tons; Belgium, 7,000 tons; Netherlands, 6,000 tons; Japan, 5,000 tons; Hungary, 5,000 tons.

FRANK B. KELLOGG

IT MIGHT SEEM a reasonable presumption that Hon. Frank Kellogg, like former President Wilson, died a disappointed and perhaps an embittered man at the apparent failure of the high hopes he cherished for the success of the work that crowned his career. Kellogg was, however, more fortunate than Wilson; while even its most optimistic admirer could not say, in the face of what is actually happening in the world, that the Kellogg-Briand agreement has put an end to war "as an instrument of policy," still Mr. Kellogg died with the expressed belief that the pact is as strong today as it was when it was executed in Paris years ago. It was never Kellogg's way to admit defeat. His own career was one of those "success" stories that are read with such avidity. He had two fine records: one at the bar and one in national politics. He served his country faithfully and well as a diplomat, but only time will determine his place in that calling, so dangerous to reputations and careers. Of his sincerity and of his faith in the cause for which he worked so hard there never was any question. History will accord him that, whether the "Kellogg pact" should some day become what he and others hoped it might be, or should fail and be in time forgotten.—Montreal Star.

Business Conditions During the First 10 Months

DURING the first 10 months of the present year, a marked advance took place in business operations, the standing in October being more favorable than at any time since August 1930. The market betterment of the last three years was due mainly to recovery in the industries which participated so fully in the prosperous period from 1922 to 1929. These include mining, newsprint, electric power and the automobile and allied industries.

The index of mineral production averaged 15.7 p. c. higher in the last ten months than in the same period of one year ago. Zinc exports showed a decline of 3.6 p. c., while copper and nickel exports were up 4.8 p. c. and 30.7 p. c., respectively. Gold shipments from Canadian mines recorded a gain of 11.2 p. c., while silver marketings were up 19 p. c. The output of coal was 12,487,774 tons in the first ten months, a gain of 1.8 p. c.

The increase in the index of manufacturing production over the first ten months of 1936 was 10 p. c. The output of newsprint at 3,042,970 tons showed a gain of 16.8 p. c. External demand for Canadian lumber showed expansion, the increase in the export of planks and boards having been 13.3 p. c.

The output of pig iron recorded a gain of 37.2 p. c., while the production of steel ingots was 30.7 p. c. greater. The automobile industry participated fully in the recovery of the last three years, the increase over the first ten months of 1936 being 29.5 p. c. Production amounted to 169,774 cars and trucks compared with 131,099 in the same period of last year. The gain in the imports of crude petroleum was 9.6 p. c., the total being 1,137,405,000 gallons. The imports of crude rubber used in part for the manufacture of automobile tires recorded an increase of 28.2 p. c.

The new business obtained by the construction industry showed a considerable percentage gain over the preceding year but the level remained low relative to that of the prosperous period culminating in 1929. The gain in contract awards to $198,577,000 compared with $142,629,000 amounted to 39.2 p. c., while building permits in 58 cities increased 34.9 p. c.

The production of electric power showed gains not only over last year but also over any other year in the history of the industry. Total output in the first ten months of 1937 was 22.7 billion kilowatt hours compared with 20.8 billion in the same period last year. The gain of 9.1 p. c. represents a considerable expansion due to greater industrial and domestic demand.

Carloadings in the first ten months of 1937 numbered 2,196,000 compared with 2,069,000 in the same period of 1936, the gain being 6.2 p. c. The gross operating revenue of the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway recorded gains of 8.1 p. c. and 5.0 p. c., respectively. During the period under review, the revenue of the Canadian National on Canadian lines was $137,001,000 compared with $126,777,000. The gross operating revenue of the Canadian Pacific was $119,948,000 compared with $114,203,000.

SNAP SHOTS

Too bad about another big fire as we go to press.

People who canvass for any civic candidate, on the grounds that it may later advance him in party politics are making a mistake. It is cheap stuff. No man should be elected or not elected because he is a Liberal or a Conservative.

Do you remember in the old days when nobody thought of going to a drug store for scrambled eggs and toast?

Democracy: The assumption that a man who never has accomplished anything for himself can manage public affairs if he is a good talker.

Courtship was longer in the old days. A fellow hated to end it because he wouldn't have any place to go on Sunday night.

You don't need a psychiatrist to explain the failure of most marriages. It's just darned bad manners.

Another trouble with the world is that men who are striving to save us from ruin are secretly scheming to get paid for their trouble.

MILLIONS

ister of Trade and Commerce, reported the entire carryover of wheat from the bumper crop years had been sold. The high prices of the past year are expected to wipe out the Treasury's deficit of more than $7,000,000 and may return a profit on the $15,856,000 investment.

The Royal Commission which probed Canadian wheat marketing during the past year will report to this session of Parliament, but reports are reaching Parliament Hill that the Commission's findings are not optimistic for the future of Canadian wheat exports.

The European countries which for forty years bought the bulk of Canadian grain, have been engaged in programs to make themselves as self-sustaining as possible. Germany, Italy and France are particularly in this class.

The Commission, headed by Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon, spent some time in Europe studying these conditions, and also studying the influence of Russia on the world market. In the next crop year Russia is expected to have an exportable surplus, and that surplus is likely to grow as the Russians achieve greater efficiency with their agricultural implements.

These factors are not encouraging for the Canadian outlook, the Commission is expected to report.

SIR DOUGLAS

Departments of Lands and Mines is a niece, Lady Hazen was formerly Miss Ada Tibbitts of this city. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Many friends in Fredericton will regret the passing of Sir Douglas Hazen who was a gentleman of kindly manner and was respected by all in the community. He was a distinguished scholar and took an active interest in his Alma Mater the University of New Brunswick of which he was one of the most distinguished graduates.

The following tribute to the memory of Sir Douglas Hazen was made this morning by Hon. J. B. McNair, K.C., M.L.A., Attorney General for New Brunswick:

"The passing of Sir Douglas Hazen has brought to a close, a well-rounded life which was richly endowed by the spirit of service. He gave of his best to his country and his fellow-men and his career has been and will long continue to be an inspiration to a host of friends and admirers in New Brunswick and throughout Canada.

"To many it is given to mourn today, but few will regret his death more than the members of his own fraternity. Sir Douglas' kind and helpful attitude on the Bench, which he adorned for many years as Chief Justice of New Brunswick, endeared him to all who were privileged to appear before him at the Bar.

"Many friends unite at this time in sympathy for his family whose circle

As Mr. Picobac turned in to ask for his mail, he found Herb, tobacco grower by instinct and hired man to the highest bidder, seated on the end of the post office steps.

"Hello, Herb," cried Mr. Picobac genially. "What are you sittin' here for? You're not out of a job, I hope."

"This is the first time I sat down for weeks," Herb spoke up. "A hired man ain't supposed to sit down."

Mr. Picobac nodded cheerfully. "A good man like you just naturally don't get a chance to do much sittin', Herb," he said. "A tobacco man is always a busy man."

"Only chance I ever get to sit is when I come to town," said Herb. "I'm waitin' for the bus, that's all."

"Well, Herb, I don't mind telling you I enjoy sitting down once in a while myself," confessed Mr. Picobac mopping his brow. "It seems to rest your hands and face. Your bus ain't due for a while yet. Let's you and me load our pipes from my new seal-tight Picobac pouch and sit down to a mild... cool... sweet smoke."
