E. P. Colwell Appointed Manager Scovil Company

Friends are congratulating E. P. (Eddie) Colwell on his well-earned advancement to the management of the Scovil Co. (Oak Hall) Men's Store.

Mr. Colwell has had a long and successful connection with the men's wear trade in Fredericton. For some time he was with the old firm of C. H. Thomas who conducted the Oak Hall store here for forty some years. About nine years ago the business was taken over by the Scovil Co. and Mr. Colwell continued on with them.

Mr. Colwell is a Fredericton boy, born and educated here, and has lived his whole life here with the exception of the years when, as a very young man just through High School he enlisted in the Great War and spent three years overseas with the 9th Siege Battery. He also spent a year in Campbellton as manager of the Scovil Co. men's store there. Practically all his business experience has been right here in Fredericton where he is widely and favorably known to all buyers of men's and boys' clothing.

Mr. Colwell will be ably assisted in his new and responsible position by Joe O'Connor who has been with the Scovil Co. store here since they took it over nine years ago, before coming to Fredericton Mr. O'Connor received his early training with Scovil Bros. in Saint John. A new addition to the staff is Jack Scovil, son of H. H. Scovil, President of the Scovil Co. here and also President of Scovil Bros. of Saint John. Jack Scovil who has spent a number of summers in the Fredericton and Grand Lake districts has made many friends among the younger men of Fredericton who are giving him a hearty welcome to town.

Fifteen British subjects had to seek refuge in a police station over three hours. Nearly all police stations have been abandoned. It was necessary to use this police station to allow for the easing down of shelling. The British subjects were later escorted through the Japanese lines.
