The cause of headache is the accumulation of poisonous matter in the blood which spreads with it, every moment, to all parts of the body.

This poisoning of the system must be cleared up before you can get rid of the headache, which is a symptom of an unhealthy condition of the body.

Outstanding Wedding Takes Place
This Afternoon

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McMullen will this afternoon be the scene of one of the outstanding weddings of the season when their daughter, Mary Louise, will be united in marriage to John Gilchrist of Montreal. The house is beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being pink and white. The ceremony will take place at five o'clock with Rev. J. W. Bartlett officiating. During the ceremony the bride party will stand before an altar improvised of palms and ferns, roses and snapdragon, with white streamers extending from the back-ground of the room to the entrance.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride will wear a gown of white Venice lace made over taffeta. The skirt will be floor length and a jacket to match has a short peplum, long slim sleeves with puffed shoulders, cuff, narrow belt and the neckband forming into a bow of white stitched taffeta. Her Juliet cap of white taffeta is trimmed with white gardenias and has a short veil. The bride's bouquet is of deep red roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's only attendant will be her sister, Miss Margaret McMullen, who will be in a gown of water lily green marquisette chiffon over matching taffeta and made on tailored lines with a full skirt floor length, Peter Pan collar, wide belt and deep band at the hem of stitched taffeta. She will wear an off-the-face hat with a small veil and will carry talisman roses.

Dr. J. C. McMullen, brother of the bride, will act as best man.

Little Misses Eva Ann Forbes and Marjorie Forbes, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Forbes, will act as ring bearers and during the signing of the register Miss Kay Horwood will play a violin solo "Because." The wedding march and the Recessional will be played on the piano by Miss Helen Brewer.

Following the ceremony and reception the bride couple will leave for Boston and New York and will sail for Nassau where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return they will reside in Montreal where the bridegroom who is the son of Mrs. Margaret Gilchrist of Scarborough, England, and a graduate of the University of New Brunswick, is an electric engineer.

For travelling the bride chose a navy blue dress trimmed with printed silk made with bolero over which she wore a black coat trimmed with fitch collar. Her hat is of black straw with short veil and shoes and accessories are to match.

A. C. TAYLOR

"Bang's Disease" Not
Sweeping N. B.

"Reference having been made in a section of the press to contagious abortion in cattle herds in certain areas, it seems necessary," said the Honourable A. C. Taylor, Minister of Agriculture, this morning, "that the situation be clarified in order to prevent undue alarm."

"Bang's Disease, or what is commonly known as 'contagious abortion' is no new disease in the province and its existence has been known for a good many years. For some considerable time past the matter has been a subject of study by my own Department and also by the staff of the Dominion Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. Measures are being adopted to ascertain the degree of infection and thus localize the trouble as far as possible."

"After quite thorough investigation by officials of the Department of Agriculture there was nothing to indicate that Bang's Disease or Contagious Abortion is 'sweeping the herds in the southern part of the Province.'"

"The situation so far as the human being is concerned is not a consideration and in the animal is largely self-controlling."

Ethel Boyd, Miss Marjorie Macredie, Miss Eleanor Weddall, Miss Alice Weddall, Miss Dora Hetherington.

Mrs. W. E. McMullen, mother of the bride, wore a gown of King's blue chiffon velvet.

Mrs. W. D. MacFarlane, sister of the bride, was in a black chiffon velvet.

The bride is one of the most popular members of the younger set of the Capital both she and her fiancé being former students at U.N.B. The bride is also a graduate in Home Economics of Mount Allison of the class of 1931.

BRILLIANT
LECTURE BEFORE
LARGE AUDIENCE

Brian Cook Portraits
Origin and Power of British Throne

A capacity audience heard a most interesting lecture last evening in the auditorium of the Normal School, sponsored by the National Council of Education. Brian Cook, the speaker, carried his audience from the days 300 years before the Norman Conquest and pictured conditions among the various tribes which eventually led to the selecting of one man as leader of the different peoples and thus became the first King of England. He drew a picture of Britain which many never hope to see. He showed experiences and sights which have been enjoyed throughout the ages and also revived happy memories of early days.

William the Conqueror substituted absolute monarch for the rule which he found existing when he landed in Britain. The Coronation Charter in the reign of Henry I showed a gradual transformation of power from king to people and which later was supplemented by the Magna Carta. Step by step the line was being drawn between what the King could do and was not supposed to do and the rights of the people were established.

King Henry VIII was not a good King, but was a strong king and as the centuries occurred the tendency was for Kings to lose power but to gain in grace and in majesty.

The speaker spoke of the abdication as a tragic event and stated that the British throne had come out stronger and with more individuality that ever. Major I. B. Rouse was in the chair and interviewed the speaker. A series of pictures were shown showing Royal Palaces and homes of the Royal Family.

J. B. Smith, Saint John, is a registered guest today at the Queen.

Psychology: Applied

A sea of feminine faces
And chiffon bosoms wavered;
The speaker of the afternoon
From heights of rhetoric wavered.

Her lecture on "The Inner Poise,"
That held the spellbound house,
Was lost in shrill and female noise—
Beside her stood a mouse!
