To Deal With Pulpwood Wages—Premier Dysart Away to Coronation

Hon. Mr. McNair Acting Premier

Province Will Co-operate With Federal Fisheries Department in Promoting Fisheries Industry

Hon. A. A. Dysart, Premier of New Brunswick left here at nine o'clock this morning for Buctouche and will not return to the Capital until after the Coronation. He expects to be back here about the middle of June. The premier accompanied by the different members of his family will leave Buctouche early next week for Montreal where he will sail on April 23rd to attend the Coronation and the meeting of the British Parliamentary Association. During the absence of Premier Dysart, Hon. J. B. McNair, K.C., Attorney-General will be acting Premier. Premier Dysart's duties as Minister of Public Works will be taken over during his absence by Hon. W. S. Anderson, chairman of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission. Following the meeting of the Government last evening the different members returned to their homes except Hon. F. W. Pirie, who left for Saint John.

It has been announced by Hon. F. W. Pirie, Minister of Lands and Mines that a meeting of the New Brunswick Forest Operations Commission will be held here on Monday next, when the wages for pulpwood operations will be dealt with.

According to an announcement made last evening by Hon. A. P. Paterson, Minister of Education, Federal and Municipal Affairs, a comprehensive survey of the fishery resources of the province will be made. This is for the purpose of providing a program in co-operation with the fisheries department at Ottawa. The aim is to promote a greater commercial use of fishery goods.

The fishery survey will be conducted under the supervision of the department and will be in charge of Walter W. Leonard of Saint John, who will compile the data. The report to be made by Mr. Leonard will be considered by a voluntary advisory committee after which a definite program of development will be considered.

During the past year the Minister of Fisheries at Ottawa, Hon. J. E. Michaud has been busily engaged promoting the industry. It is the intention of Hon. Mr. Paterson to co-operate in a practical way with Hon. Mr. Michaud. In speaking of the matter Hon. Mr. Paterson said, "A definite policy on the part of the province will I am satisfied stimulate a renewal of our fishery and return thousands of our fishing communities to productive employment. Mr. Leonard who has undertaken the preliminary work has been associated with the fishing industry all his life."

PLAN SURVEY OF DRY AREAS BY AIRPLANE

OTTAWA, April 17—Aerial photography will be used in the Government's drought rehabilitation work in the Prairie Provinces. Instructions have been issued for an aerial survey of two areas in Saskatchewan, one south and southwest of Moose Jaw, comprising 11,000 square miles, and the other along the French River in southwest corner of the Province.

The idea is to obtain complete information about soil and moisture conditions for use in a plan to move farmers from poorer lands to better. Photographs of the land taken from the air give a good idea of the nature of the soil and also reveal water features.

To Use Two Planes The photographic operations will start almost at once and will be carried on by the Royal Canadian Air Force which, for several years, has been making aerial surveys of mineralized areas in the Northwest Territories. The work will be done for the Department of Agriculture which has determined the areas to be photographed.

Help the Orphans

DURING the past week the Protestant Orphans' Home at Saint John has been making another appeal to the charitable public for aid. This appeal is made especially to the Protestant people of New Brunswick. It has been pointed out that if the Protestant people of New Brunswick contributed 25 cents per year each to this worthy cause, that the Home would be out of difficulties. The institution seems to have a hard time struggling along. It is doing a good work and should be encouraged.

The Protestant Orphans' Home during the past year alone has rescued orphans from horrible conditions. In a couple of instances they took children in the southern part of New Brunswick from places in which they were living like wild animals—or worse—and brought them to the Home at Saint John. This good work deserves to be encouraged and it takes money to conduct such institutions.

In regard to Catholic institutions of this kind, while these Homes require money, their conditions are financially more favourable in some ways. The Sisters who conduct these Homes work for practically their board alone—and receive no salaries whatever. This is not possible when, as is the case of the Protestant institution, it is necessary to employ people who have to live and to keep families of their own. As it is, these officials are making sacrifices in connection with the Protestant Orphans' Home and deserve all the public support which they can get. Those of us who have money to give for charitable purposes would do well to consider that there is no more worthy cause than the gathering in and caring for both the moral and physical needs of these poor children. Give it a boost.

It is understood that the Orange Lodge in this city is going to take some action to help this deserving cause. Here's wishing it every success.

The Daily Mail has in a small way endeavored during the past couple of years to help this work. We will be pleased to do anything we can to boost contributions towards this cause, as it is one that should receive the hearty support of everyone in the community, irrespective of class or creed.

There may come a time when the province will be able to carry along all these deserving charities, whether they be Catholic, Protestant or Jew, orphans or what not. In the meantime it is up to those who can do so to help out this work.

50,000 CANADIAN CATTLE SHIPPED TO UNITED STATES

Profits Up to $30 Per Head Seen For Canadian Stockmen

OTTAWA, April 17—Canadian cattlemen, with several hundred million dollars invested in the beef-raising industry, are now more jubilant about prospects for a profitable year than they were a couple of months ago when a million head of range cattle in the Prairie Provinces were said to be threatened with starvation by reason of the severity of the winter and the serious shortage of feed.

Senator Daniel Riley, President of the Western Stockmen's Association and regarded as an authority in the cattle industry, has now been advised that the losses sustained by Western ranchers, due to pastures having been buried for weeks under several feet of snow, have not been excessive. Some time ago it was feared thousands of head of cattle out on the ranges would perish because the customary chinooks had not been as frequent as usual.

But what particularly pleases cattlemen in Ontario and Western Canada is the steady demand for Canadian cattle in the markets of the United States. Already this year more than 50,000 head have been marketed across the line at profitable prices. Thanks to the Canadian (Continued on Page Four)

Considered Junk of No Beauty, Danger to the Children

HON. J. B. MCNAIR, K.C. Acting Premier of New Brunswick during absence of Hon. Premier Dysart

LONDON, April 17—Led by the King, a movement was sweeping England today to scrap the proud trophies won by British armies on the field of battle to help finance Britain's $7,500,000,000 programme for new armaments.

His Majesty started the campaign with an order to remove two German field pieces from the east terrace of Windsor Castle. It was said he considered such war relics not in keeping with the beauty of the terrace and its famous sunken gardens.

Finance Rearmament Other hard won trophies will be offered for sale as so much scrap iron to help finance the rearmament programme.

The town clerk of Hythe in Kent offered the town's one rusty old tank and German field gun to the highest bidder with the disparaging comment, "They are just junk anyway."

The watering place of Bath decided the 12 battered buns which stand in its public park must go.

Folkestone caught at the opportunity to get rid of a large tank which the city fathers had long considered dangerous to the children who play around it.

TO PET OR NOT TO PET, IS LECTURE TOPIC

TORONTO, April 17—Never mind how well your girl looks in shorts—it is much more important to know how well she gets on with her family, advised D. G. McCullagh, of the Department of Social Science, University of Toronto, in an address on pre-marital relations, "necking" and "petting," at the Y.M.C.A. last night.

Don't marry the first person with whom you fall in love; don't permit long-drawn-out engagements, but pop the question whether you are a man or girl, and whatever your relations with one another, never lose your self-respect, were other bits of advice. (Continued on Page Four)

LITTLE ADELARD OF GRAND ETANG LIKES LITERATURE UPSIDE DOWN

GRAND ETANG, N. S., April 17—Minnie Wiles of Martinsburg, W. Va., isn't the only one whose writing has to be read through a mirror—little Adelard Cormier also wishes his reading-writing-and-arithmetic world was not so upside down.

Adelard, who is 10 years old, has been writing upside down since he first started Grade 1 at Ruisseau du lac School four years ago. And all the efforts of his teachers have not succeeded in breaking him off the inclination to read a book at an ordinarily impossible angle, begin writing a sentence at the right-hand side of the page, or write figures or combinations of figures in reverse.

Occasionally they succeed, but the next day Adelard slips back to the easier—for him—method.

Nor does language matter. Both French and English are taught in schools of this predominantly Acadian district, and he reads an English book upside down with as much ease as he does a French one.
