SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Ald. Crowdon Addresses

Y's Men's Club

Ald. W. Raymond Crowdon, chairman of the Town Planning Commission was the guest speaker at last evening's weekly supper meeting of the Fredericton Y's Men's Club. Ald. Crowdon described zoning as the application of common sense and fairness to regulate the private use of real estate. The principles of zoning, and regulations governing the kind of buildings that could be erected with each were outlined.

In dealing specifically with Fredericton matters, Ald. Crowdon stated that the Town Planning Commission was an advisory body only, making its recommendations to the city council. Preliminary steps had been taken in the preparation of a tentative town plan. It was intended that a survey be made next summer of that part of Fredericton not laid out in streets. The speaker concluded by running over the chief provisions of the Town Planning Act, and then answered a number of questions from club members in a round table discussion. Ross Kerr was chairman of the meeting.

U.N.B. Students Sponsor Evening

Young People's Society

The weekly meeting of St. Dunstan's Young People held last evening in St. Dunstan's hall, was in charge of students of the University of New Brunswick. An excellent and varied entertainment was presented, opening with three U.N.B. choruses, preceded and followed by College yells, and continuing: Declaration, "The Heathen Chinese," John A. H. Duffie; short play, "At the Movies," Isabel Willis, Hortense LeBlanc, A. P. Murphy, Frances Alsworth, John Beamish; Declaration, "The Italian Between Two Loves," Mary Neville; playlet, "Writing Poetry," King McShane, Harold Hughes, Arthur Giddens, Mark Neville, John A. H. Duffie; Declaration, "The Song of the Shirt," Theodore Duffie. Later a social evening was enjoyed, during which Myles Lynch recited and John Lynch sang. Refreshments were served before the close of the evening. Mark Neville was chairman for the evening.

Neil Ganter, president of the S. C. M., John McKnight, Bobby Porter, and Jack Thurott left the city this afternoon for Minto in several cars of food and clothing for relief of the children of the striking Minto miners. Miss Norma Linton was also in the party. The contents of the cars were donated following an appeal to the citizens of this city by the S. C. M. of the University of New Brunswick.

St. Andrew's Sale a Decided Success

The chicken salad tea and sale of Christmas cooking and fancy work was very largely attended and a decided success both from a financial and social standpoint. The delicious tea was enjoyed and served in a satisfactory manner by an efficient body of members of the Ladies Guild of the church. Every article was sold, in fact much more Christmas cooking could have been disposed of. Several orders were taken for Christmas cake and Christmas pudding these to be filled later by those in charge of the booth of home made cooking.

Cathedral Men's Club Addressed

by H. C. Moore on Pheasants

The Cathedral Men's Club held their regular weekly meeting last evening in Memorial Hall, Church Street, with good attendance. The meeting opened as usual with prayers in unison led by Very Rev. Dean Moorhead and the group singsong. The speaker of the evening was H. C. Moore, who gave a most informative and interesting address on pheasant propagation raising and distribution as carried on by the Fredericton Fish and Game Protective Association under his supervision. Having a thorough knowledge of his subject, Mr. Moore explained in detail, the various experiments carried on by the Fredericton branch with different breeds of pheasants to obtain a bird that could be fully acclimatized to New Brunswick conditions. It was most interesting to his hearers to know that starting in a small way with very limited income, the Fredericton branch has gradually grown until they expect the next season to liberate 1,000 birds. When this result is obtained, the trials and tribulations of the past will be overshadowed by success. The club members showed their appreciation of Mr. Moore's address by a standing vote of thanks after which play was resumed in the cumulative card tournament. The winners being W. P. Fenety at bridge and Clive Foster at 45s. The usual light refreshments followed by the National Anthem ended still another enjoyable and constructive evening for the Cathedral Men's Club.

Dark Spots Now Becoming Cozy Corners In Many Homes

The light-panel built into the ceiling makes possible an interesting decorative effect, which is extended along practical lines by the attractive lamp on the desk.

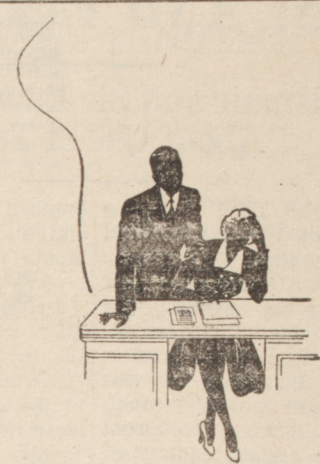

By Jean Prentice

THE dark spots of yesterday are becoming the cozy corners of today, thanks to modern architecture and lighting.

Many a home has an alcove or window seat that has long been the despair of the family, at least insofar as decoration is concerned. Generally, these areas are sufficiently pleasant looking by day, but at night they often fade into a background of shadow that robs them of their natural beauty and charm. Moreover, frequently they are useless for reading, sewing or studying, because no original provision was made for lighting them. The modern trend in architecture, which carefully conserves space, and permits none to be wasted, lights these alcoves and window seats from above. In many cases, particularly in the newer houses, a panel of glass with a light above it is built into the ceiling, directly overhead. This panel may contain either clear or colored light, or a combination of both. The decorative effect is completed by placing statuettes or other ornaments on wall pedestals at either side of a picture.

Sometimes a desk is placed alongside the alcove or window seat, and the overhead lighting panel is called upon to provide illumination for it. This practice is frowned upon by lighting specialists, who point out that lighted ceiling panels rarely provide sufficient light for such purposes. Every desk, they claim, should have its own lamp, preferably one of the Better Sight type, approved by the Illuminating Engineering Society, in order that whoever is seated at it may have ample local light by which to see clearly and without eyestrain. It should be understood, too, that regardless of what the room may offer in the way of built-in or installed lighting panels, every chair used for reading or other eye work should have its own lamp, else the purpose of the scheme, which is control and flexibility, will be defeated. Ornamental fixtures are designed largely for decoration, and should never be permitted to displace the table or floor lamps needed for lighting convenience and ease of seeing.
