CHURCH SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED YESTERDAY

Guest Speakers in Three Churches; Rev. George King, Missionary To China, Spoke; Rev. G. W. Guioy Announced Resignation.

Services in the city churches as a whole, were largely attended yesterday. Three churches were honored by guest speakers. Rev. George King, missionary to Honan Province, China who is now on furlough, occupied the pulpit in St. Paul's United Church in the evening service. His address dealt mainly with the work of the missionaries in China and the great progress that has been made. A missionary to China since 1922, Rev. Mr. King was well fitted to describe the contrast between the China of 15 years ago and today. In the Brunswick Street Baptist Church Rev. Dr. F. W. Patterson of the faculty of Acadia University, Wolfville, N. S., was guest speaker in the morning service, at which Rev. Gerald W. Guioy presided, while in the George Street Baptist church in the morning, the sermon was delivered by Rev. Alexander Gibson, secretary of Sunday schools for the Maritime Religious Education Council.

Forceful Sermon
Possibly the most forceful and applicable sermon of the day was that of Rev. Dr. J. W. Bartlett in the evening service in Wilmet United Church. Dr. Bartlett spoke on the subject "The Crop of Indecencies," stressing particularly the increasing general use of intoxicating liquor and the many indecencies which have been and are directly a result of it. The sermon illustrated liquor as the seed, from which the crop of indecencies sprang. Other phases of the sermon dealt with the many indecencies, which although not resultant of the use of alcohol, are prevalent at the present time. He also spoke of the rising rate of divorce in this province as is noticeable by the present docket of the divorce court, and the many indecencies in connection with them. In the morning service Mr. Bartlett spoke on the subject "Realities in Religion."

Rev. Mr. Guioy Resigns
Rev. Mr. Guioy conducted the service in the Brunswick Street Baptist church in the evening, dealing with the subject, "Fellowship with God." Services were largely attended morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Guioy announced his resignation because of ill health, during this service.

In the George Street Baptist church in the evening, Rev. John Linton spoke on the subject "Followers of Christ" the third of a series of sermons under the general head "God at Work in the World," dealing with the economic report of the Oxford Conference.

Rev. George Telford, in the morning service in St. Paul's church spoke of the subject, "Builders Wanted." Both services were well attended as was Sunday school in the afternoon.

The morning service of St. Anne's Parish Church was broadcast at 11 o'clock. Ven. Archdeacon Spencer L. Gray conducted the service.

The evening service in Christchurch Cathedral featured a sermon appropriate to All Saints Day, while in the morning the regular service was conducted. Very Rev. Dean W. H. Moorhead officiated at both services which were well attended.

Large congregations were present at both the morning and evening service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. In the morning Rev. Dr. G. E. Ross, who conducted both services, spoke on the theme, "The Fruits of the Spirit," while in the evening he took as his subject "Clouds of Witnesses."

"aggressive" after having their cars showered with rocks, preceded and accompanied by jeers and yells from the mob. It was not a one man affair as Mr. Wuh is reported to have stated. Rocks large enough to cause most serious injury to the men in cars, the size of one's fist and larger were thrown. One young man, a fine type of a citizen who had previously lost the sight of one eye was struck in the face with rocks and fine glass. He might easily have received injuries causing total blindness. Others were in equal danger. One inoffensive young man walking to his work was knocked down and kicked in the same mob.

"Mr. Evans further states 'As to my part in the affair I arrived just after the attack had been made, driving some of our men to work. I did not order my men back but did retain one from attacking Mr. Wuh and saved that gentleman from a bad beating up. There is naturally some very angry talk. What I did say was 'I was going to do the talking for our crew and do it all'. After I told Mr. Wuh and those with him some things that they should hear my men went to their work."

"October 30th D. W. Morrison, U. M. District president, is reported to have said in reference to this attack. 'It was of such a trivial nature that no comment was necessary.' No comment is necessary upon Mr. Morrison's ideas as to how free liberty loving British citizens should be treated when going peacefully to their work."

matter of dispute, and Time alone can give the answer. Whether now is the time for this huge undertaking is also the point of conflict between Canada's leaders of public policy. But there are certain facts about this great project which cannot be disputed on any way, and these can be mentioned in this column for the information of everyone.

When this Treaty was made in 1933. Hoover as head of the Republican Government of the United States, was anxious to have this Treaty made at all cost because the United States required power, which is the main key to industrial greatness and future, and it is this consideration which shaped the Treaty in a seemingly favorable attitude for this Dominion. Every intelligent critic of this project must admit that the St. Lawrence Waterway project was made and executed in a spirit of full and fair co-operation by the United States Government. They provided rather generously for the matter of division of the financial cost, in the apportionment of construction labor and materials, and in the safeguarding of Canada's sovereign rights.

Now there is a mutual effort being made by Ottawa and Washington to start a movement which will witness the actual commencement of operations within a short time since it is hoped that this gigantic undertaking will add in no small measure the unemployment situation in the country and in the United States. Then again, the experts agree that the whole project will not cost as much as the exaggerated statements which are being broadcast claim that it will entail to fully complete this undertaking. It is common knowledge that estimates have run from $400,000,000 to $800,000,000, but the truth of the matter is that the greatest authorities of engineering now state that the project can be completed for a maximum estimate of $360,000,000, of which the Canadian share will be to supply $114,000,000, which will in turn be paid out through the contribution of $67,000,000 for power purposes by the Province of Ontario, leaving a net new cost of $47,000,000 to Canada's Federal Government. In other words, the St. Lawrence Waterway can be built for less than an eight-month deficit of the Canadian National Railways.

Departmental experts believe that it is likely to cost Canada less than unemployment relief would under a timorous policy of inactivity, and yet it is an undertaking which may open a new vista of commercial expansion along this wonderful channel of North American trade, provided that the two countries are ready to co-operate now, and which it seems likely to be the case in a way that has never before been witnessed anywhere at any time in the world's history.

The agreement on the part of the

Shaw Opens Talk Series By Britons

George Bernard Shaw, dean of British playwrights, will be heard over National Broadcasting Company facilities Tuesday, November 2, in the first of a series of informal talks on the contemporary world by leading figures in English life. The program, arranged by the British Broadcasting Corporation, will be relayed to the United States and broadcast at 5:20 p. m., AST, over the NBC-Blue Network.

To assure the greatest variety of viewpoints the NBC has chosen leaders from many different pursuits and allowed them the widest latitude under the general title of the series, "As I See It."

Gracie Fields, the highest paid star of motion pictures and musical stage, will represent the actors. Lady Nancy Astor, American-born peeress and the first woman Member of Parliament, and Margaret Bondfield, first woman member of the Privy Council and first woman Minister of Labor, will give their impressions as distinguished figures in British political life. H. G. Wells and Ian Hay, both distinguished men of letters, will represent their profession. Others equally notable in other fields will be added to the series.

Exact times of programs following Shaw's will be announced at a later date.

United States to employ Canadian engineers, labor and materials on work to be financed from United States funds to an extent of more than $22 million dollars is a substantial measure of goodwill toward Canada by her neighbor, and it is this part of the Treaty which has forced the whole idea to be shelved by the American Senate Committee. However, a new movement is now on foot within the United States to force the ratification of this Treaty, and the latest dealings between representatives of the American Government and the Department of External Affairs at Ottawa should produce beneficial results soon, with particular good news for the persons seeking a cure for unemployment in Canada.

The outlook is well expressed in the words carved over the west window of the Memorial Chamber in the Peace Tower at the Capital: "Where there is no vision the people perish."
