

SINGING BROOK

We've made a simple cabin in the wood,
A "Lodge"—a place to merely sleep and eat,
And we shan't strive to keep it over neat.
We want the sun and air to do us good,
We want to look for beauty and adore
The thrilling warbling of the thrush and wren.
We want to wander free and not care when We must return to do some hated chore.
And when we take a friend she, too, must play,
And not stick in the house to groom the walls,
One who will listen when a wild bird calls,
Who knows the names of flowers and will sit Upon a rock and hear the Singing Brook And never give the whirling clock a look.
—Minnette S. Carper.

When the Cows Come Home

When the cows come home along The lanes in the sunset glow,
It seems to me like a song
That started ages ago—
Still marching sedate and strong And taking our dreams along.
A steeple far on the hill Lifts then like a flower of flame
And the hushed heart seems to fill Again with peace that came Like dusk that is jewelled and still In the valley under the hill.
—Glenn Ward Dresbach.

PRODUCER

was the way Sir Charles tested the gluten qualities of different strains and he finally picked a cross between Red Life, a wheat grown extensively in Eastern Canada, and Hard Red Calcutta, imported from India by his father.

Widely Accepted

The new strain almost immediately became widely accepted and today it is grown across the broad acres of Western Canada and the United States. Its production has put millions of dollars into the pockets of growers and grainmen of the two countries and has won world recognition.

Sir Charles was graduated from the University of Toronto in 1888 and for a year was professor of chemistry and geology at Central University, Kentucky. In 1903, after his sensational success with Marquis wheat, Sir Charles became Canada's first Dominion cerealist. His work for the Canadian agriculturist consisted in painstaking sorting of countless varieties of seeds. He later originated Garnet wheat, a strain more suited to the northern prairies, and it was developed by his successor, L. H.
Newman.

Funeral services for Sir Charles will be held in Toronto Tuesday. The body will be taken to London with burial in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Originated by Brother

Marquis was first obtained by Dr.
A. P. Saunders, in 1892 but was neither examined nor developed until Dr.
Charles set to work in 1903.

Sir Charles served his country for 22 years and ill-health forced him to retire at the age of 58 on a modest pension. Later a grateful government voted him an annual grant of $5,000 for life and in 1934 the King recognized his service to Canada and the Empire by making him a knight bachelor.

He married Mary Blackwell of Toronto in 1892. After his retirement from the government service they moved from Ottawa to Toronto.

W. E. Farrell Leaving
City, Sells His Property

W. E. Farrell has disposed of his residence on St. John Street to V.
M. White. Mr. White will move from his present store and residence on Charlotte street which has been taken over by the Canadian National Railways in connection with the construction of the new C.N.R. bridge.

It is understood that Mr. Farrell intends shortly to remove from the city and take up his residence elsewhere. Mr. Farrell for more than a quarter of a century has taken an active interest in the affairs of the city of Fredericton. He was for fourteen years an Alderman, representing Carleton Ward and succeeding his father the late Alderman Patrick Farrell who had been an alderman for nearly thirty years previous to that time. Mr. Farrell was also for several years on the Victoria Hospital Board and was also one of the directors of the Fredericton Exhibition. He ran for mayor in 1914 and on the first count was declared defeated by one vote and on the recount it was found that he and Ex-Alderman Moses Mitchell had a tie vote. Mr. Mitchell was declared Mayor by the casting vote of the then city clerk, the late J. W. Mc-Creedy.

Mr. Farrell is a former trustee for Canada of the C.M.B.A. and Past Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus. He has always taken an active interest in political affairs, and when the Liberal party were fighting hard against strong opposition in York County he was considered one of the stalwarts of the party giving of his time and means to the support of that party in this constituency. In the last election he was one of the leading workers at the Court House Poll and did his part in helping to elect the Liberal party in that election. General regret will be felt that Mr. and Mrs.
Farrell find it necessary to remove from this their native city.
