

NEW BRUNSWICK'S HOME COMMUNITY PAPER

The Daily Mail

VOL. XLIII, NO. 260

FREDERICTON, N. B., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1937

Weather: Strong Winds and Occasional Rains.

NEW APPROACH TO JAPAN IS SUGGESTED BY ITALY AT BRUSSELS

The Minto Mine Strike Discussed by Rev. John Linton

Deals With Labor's Right To Work and To Organize For Collective Bargaining

MINTO WAGES DISCUSSED

Mining Conditions In England And In America Are Discussed

A sad picture of economic and working conditions at the Minto mines was pictured by Rev. John Linton, pastor of the George Street United Baptist Church in the course of a sermon delivered to a large congregation yesterday morning. Rev. Mr. Linton who came out strongly in favor of Labor Unions and collective bargaining, suggested that if the mine operators were unable to provide better working conditions and better wages for the miners that it may be necessary to have governmental control. Rev. Mr. Linton who was listened to with attention said:

One of the most important documents of our day is the report known as "The Church and the Economic Order," which was adopted by the conferences of the churches of Christ of the World at Oxford this last summer. This document states in clear language that the church must be interested in the present economic order for Jesus taught that we must love our neighbors and laid down a social suggestion in the Kingdom of God teachings. Justice is not simply a negative thing but has a positive aspect which reveals itself in the relationships of man and man and group and group. The obligation to love our neighbors as ourselves places clearly under condemnation all social and economic systems which give one man undue advantage over others; all social systems that makes education depend in the fortuitous circumstances of a father's possession that gives social privilege without reference to social functions performed by individuals or which creates on the one hand luxury and pride and on the other want and insecurity.

This document goes on to state that the moral and spiritual nature of man is affronted by the operations of the capitalistic system as found in the industrialized world today in four aspects.

1st. The enhancement of acquisitiveness. "As long as industry is organized primarily not for the service of the community but with the object of producing purely financial result for some of the members, it cannot be recognized as properly fulfilling its social purpose."

(Continued on Page Six)

JAPS SLAY CIVILIANS FOR PRACTICE, HE SAYS

Carl Crow, United States Writer, Reports Nipponese as a People Completely Devoid of Humor

TORONTO, Nov. 15—China, old and wise and humorous, with a tremendous degree of tolerance, and Japan, efficient, ruthless and ruled as completely by the military class as it was 200 or 300 years ago, were contrasted by Carl Crow, of Shanghai, United States newspaperman who has lived in China and Japan since 1911, before the Book Fair at the King Edward Hotel over the week-end. "To understand much about Japan you must understand what motivates her," he said "You may not understand the slaughter of civilians, something about which I know a little. In 1932, for instance, the Jap-

Chosen For Palestine

Sir Charles Tegart, who earned the sobriquet, "Man of Iron" through his administration of the office of chief of police of Calcutta, when rioting was at its peak, is herewith pictured in London, shortly after he had been designated by the Colonial Office to go to Palestine to advise on measures to be taken against Arab terrorists. Sir Charles, a brilliant detective, had many narrow escapes from assassination during his campaign against Indian extremists in 1930.

A Lesson From Life

WE HAVE RECEIVED a newspaper clipping from a friend in a far off city. The clipping deals with the story of a sad life ending with a sad death. The party referred to was a woman formerly belonging to Fredericton.

Forty years ago or more there lived in this city a young woman. She was popular and clever and was beloved by a large circle of friends. She was a member of one of our city choirs and belonged to a very respectable family which has long since ceased to exist in this city. This young woman attended many social functions. Cocktail parties with women drinking booze were not quite so common a practice in those days as they are today. No woman would be thought respectable who bragged that she could "hold her liquor." However, the young woman in question became addicted to drink. She went from bad to worse and one day she mysteriously dropped out of the picture. She was heard about in connection with a place which she conducted in an upper province city. Later she went farther west and located in a city on the slope of the Pacific Ocean. Ten years ago whilst the writer was sitting with a friend amid the palms in a far off city a decrepit looking woman was pointed out to us. She was picking up driftwood on the beach. We were informed that she was the former Fredericton girl now in ill health and living in poverty. She was depending largely on the bounty of former New Brunswick friends of her family. A few days ago, according to the newspaper clipping which we have received, she was found dead amid squalor on a bed in the rude shack which she has occupied for the last few years.

Forty years ago this woman started out with as bright a prospect as has any girl in Fredericton. She had friends, a home, cherished associations, in fact all that makes life most dear. Her family which has ceased to exist so far as this city goes were honored and respected. When we were in the far off city referred to we were informed that the beginning of her downfall was attributed to the different parties which she had attended in this city. Today such functions are listed among the fashionable set as cocktail parties.

The newspaper clipping which we have received from our friend regarding this young woman's death we have thrown in the fire but we are passing the moral along for what it is worth. This may sound like a sermon but it is true to life. There are no doubt many people in Fredericton who may be able to guess the name of the young woman to whom we have referred. So far as we are concerned the information contained in the newspaper clipping is a closed book. The lesson we pass along for what it is worth.

DOUKHOBORS IN THE WEST MISUNDERSTAND AND ARE MISUNDERSTOOD, SAYS MRS. NELLIE MCCLUNG AT FAIR

DR. W. C. CROCKET PASSED AWAY HERE TODAY

Respected Physician Beloved By Many, Goes To His Reward

The death took place at his home on Church Street this morning of Dr. W. C. Crocket at the advanced age of seventy-seven years. Dr. Crocket passed away following a short illness. With the death of Dr. Crocket the city loses one of its best citizens and one who has for years taken an active part in the life of the community. His death will be sincerely regretted by a large circle of friends both here and elsewhere.

Dr. Crocket was a son of the late Dr. William Crocket, a former principal of the Provincial Normal School, and for a time Chief Superintendent of Education for this province. He came here from Chatham with other members of his family and entered the University of New Brunswick, from which he was graduated with honors in 1882. In 1884 he received his M. A. degree from the University. He graduated from McGill University, receiving his degree in medicine in 1886, and later took a post graduate course in London. He returned to TORONTO, Nov. 15—The plight of Doukhobors in British Columbia, misunderstanding and misunderstood by their fellow Canadians, was offered as an example of the need of interpreters of Canadians to Canadians by Nellie McClung, Canadian author, speaking at the Book Fair, King Edward Hotel, recently.

Of all the people in the world, said Mrs. McClung, Canadians should be "the most lighthearted, forgiving and generous." They were free from enemies; they lived in a rich young country, they had a peaceful history, and, as a country which blended man races, there were eighteen languages spoken on the streets of Winnipeg, there was great opportunity for Canadian writers, to interpret one group to another, she said.

Perhaps not twenty people in St. Thomas, Goderich, or Arnprior could direct you to the Castle of Malahide, Gairbraid or Kennel Lodge, respectively, although these three old pioneers settlers' homes were rich in history, said Katherine Hale who, in an address on "Color Writing in Canada," said there was a lack of appreciation in the smaller towns and villages of Ontario for the richness of history and tradition in their own districts.

Fredericton to practice and immediately began to take an active interest in civil affairs.

Elected Mayor In 1901 he was elected mayor of this city and held office for two terms. In 1917 Dr. Crocket was elected to represent York County in the Legislature. (Continued on Page Five)

Can Commission Eute Changes Or Just Advise

B. N. A. Act Was Based On Federal Constitution Of The United States

CIVIL WAR QUESTION LEGISLATION

Path Of Canadian Unity Has Been Stormy Since 1867

"MISS BIFOCAL OF 1937," OPTICIANS' DREAM GIRL

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—A great project came to light today—a magnificent gesture toward a down-trodden section of American womanhood—a beauty contest for girls who wear glasses, and out of it will emerge a "Miss Bifocal of 1937."

Some opticians are back of it, of course, and what they are trying to do is destroy the belief prevalent among the girls that Miss Dorothy Parker knew what she was talking about when she wrote that deathless, to-line poem:

"Men seldom make passes At girls who wear glasses."

(Special to The Daily Mail by Dean Wilson, Staff Correspondent)

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—One of the most important questions facing the Federal Government right now is how to change the Rowell Commission in order to remove the criticism which has been directed against this board of enquiry, whose duties entail a microscopic examination of the relationships between the Federal and the Provincial Governments of this Dominion with a view to amending the whole Constitution of the country. There is a general agreement amongst all the members of all political parties in the country that a revision of the Constitution is essential if this Dominion is to have social reform measures on a national scale, or if any other improvements are to be enacted for the advantage of the Canadian people as a whole. In other words, there is no longer any doubt about the absolute need of a change in the Constitution, and

(Continued on Page Four)

Canadians And United States Delegates Oppose Suggestion Of Italian Delegate

Claim it is up to Japan to Now Make Further Suggestion

BRUSSELS, Nov. 15—The declaration by the powers attending the conference that Japan is a treaty breaker by her activities in the Sino-Japanese conflict was formerly signed and agreed to today. The suggestion was made by Count Aldrovandi-Marescotti, Italian delegate, and only opposition to the declaration that a new approach be made to Japan which might be conducive to peace in eastern Asia.

The Italian delegate referred to a sentence in the Japanese reply that declined an invitation to attend the conference, in which Japan said she would be glad if the powers "could make their contribution to stability in eastern Asia in conformity with the real situation."

Count Aldrovandi-Marescotti suggested that in accordance with this sentence a new approach might be made to Japan.

Raoul Dandurand, Canadian delegate, with Norman Davis, United States ambassador at large, and Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary opposed the Italian submission.

"It means reversing the roles," Senator Dandurand said. "We have been asking Japan to contribute by joining in conversations with the conference, or with a small group of delegates. Japan has consistently refused. It is Japan which invaded China with 300,000 troops. We are trying to get Japan to accept an armistice. Now Japan asks us what we suggest. We can suggest that Japan accept the invitation to negotiate. We shall be glad of any contribution Japan can make to the conference."

"Did the Italian delegate really believe," asked W. J. Jordan, New Zealand, "that Japan is really desirous of opening conversations with the conference?"

TWO CLERGY ARE BANNED FROM RADIO TEMPORARILY

Mr. Eden rejected the plea that the conflict was a matter for Japan and China alone. In respect for international law and the pledged word lay the only hope for peace. "By these means, and by these means alone," he said, can the world escape a further ordeal such as it passed through 20 years ago."

Britain could not accept the view that "dislike, however deep-seated, or abhorrence, however sincerely felt, for the form of government or the political institutions of one nation justifies another in interfering by force in its internal affairs," he said in apparent reference to Japan's ostentatious declaration she intervened in China to prevent Communism and anti-Japanese feeling from gripping the country.

Mr. Davis declared that the question of whether international relations shall be determined by arbitrary force or by law and respect for international treaties was the greatest issue that faced the world today "and is one of the most momentous problems that mankind has been called upon to solve."

Similar positions were stated by France and Russia.

C. P. R. OFFICIALS TO SPEAK

Among other speakers at the annual banquet of the Fredericton Board of Trade to be held at the Waverly Hotel tomorrow evening, will be two officials of the Canadian Pacific Railways, Knowlton Elliot, divisional freight agent, Saint John, and Robert McKillop, superintendent of the Brownville Division.

IN THE NEWS

HON. FRED C. SQUIRES, Leader of the Provincial Opposition, who was 56 years old on Saturday.

TRIPARTITE BLOC THREATENS OTHER COUNTRIES

ROME, Nov. 15 There are nearly 200,000,000 people in the Fascist front established by Italian adherence to the Japanese-German anti-Comintern pact, and there is room for more.

This tone, amplified by reactions from Germany and Japan, was marked in the Italian press throughout the week as it commented on the latest extension of Italian influence throughout the world. The pact is the "granite base on which the world can find its equilibrium," according to "Il Piccolo." It is the cornerstone of peace and justice for the universe directed against no other nations, other papers find.

Some indication of the next stones to be set on these foundations are offered by lists of states on all continents credited with Fascist leanings, which may be regarded as possible candidates for admission.

In South America efforts are concentrated on Brazil for which country Italy is constructing submarines which will soon be ready to cross the Atlantic. Premier Benito Mussolini personally received the commanders of these vessels Wednesday and according to an official communique "expressed his sympathy for their country."

Thus the three Fascist powers are trying to build up a system which while ostensibly directed against the Third Internationale, has the effect of making a clear cleavage not between the Bolsheviks and non-Bolsheviks but between the Fascist and democratic powers.

Fr. Lanphier, Rev. Morris Zeidman, of Toronto, Off The Air

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—Major Gladstone Murray, General Manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, announced tonight temporary suspension from the air of Rev. Chas. Lanphier of the Radio League of St. Michael's and Rev. Morris Zeidman, Director of the Protestant Radio League.

Major Murray said both clergymen who live in Toronto, had been denied broadcasting privileges pending a meeting here next week of the corporation's Board of Governors, at which their case will be discussed.

"As long as Father Lanphier is off the air at the same time, I am quite satisfied," said Rev. Mr. Zeidman, commenting on Mr. Murray's action. He had been notified of the situation by letter, he said.

"All I ask is a fair deal and the same treatment that is accorded Fr. Lanphier."

"Do you know why you were suspended?" he was asked. "I don't know. The Roman Catholics have complained about my speeches. They seem to be under the impression that nothing should be spoken on the radio that is not approved by the Roman Catholic hierarchy," he said. Father Lanphier was not available for comment at press-time.